BRUTAL OUTRAGE

Two Elderly Ladies Seriously Assaulted by Negroes in Auburndale Home

One of the most brutal assaults ever committed in this city took place late Monday night, when two colored men entered the house of Miss Helen M. Crane on Maple street, Auburndale, and beat Miss Crane and her companion, Miss Hannah M. Farrington until they were unconscious.

The men entered the house thru the back door some time after ten o'clock and Miss Farrington who was reading to Miss Crane, who was ill in bed, went into the hall when she heard them about. She was attacked by the men, beaten, bound and gagged, and Miss Crane was treated in a similar manner. The men told Miss Farrington they wanted money and took the gag out of her mouth so she could tell them where to find $75 which was in the house. In addition the men ransacked the house from top to bottom, taking away jewelry, furs, silverware and clothing valued at about $1000.

After recovering consciousness Miss Farrington managed to get to a window and attract the attention of Mrs. A. B. Joy, a neighbor, who immediately responded and did what she could to help them. Mrs. Joy had to return to her own house in order to telephone the police as the men had cut the telephone wire at the Crane house.

Immediate steps were taken by the police to notify surrounding police departments, and Patrolman Connors who was watching the Massachusetts station of the Elevated subway noticed two negroes carrying a suitcase. He followed them for a short distance and on obtaining help from a passing police patrol wagon attempted to arrest them. The men ran away but were both captured after a hard run.

BOARD OF TRADE

Indications point to the most successful and enjoyable of occasions on Monday evening, March 13th, when the members of the Newton Board of Trade will hold their third annual banquet and ladies' night at Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale.

The guests of the evening will be Hon. Channing H. Cox, speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives and His Honor, Mayor Edwin O. Childs.

A very attractive entertainment has been arranged and several new features are planned in the hope of making the evening one long to be remembered.

The Board of Trade is entering upon a most important year and with its large membership, numbering 300, should prove to be one of the strongest organizations for the advancement of the city's welfare.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Webster have been appointed superintendent and matron of the Club succeeding Mr. and Mrs. Wedlock on March 1st.

The Entertainment Committee has arranged for a musicale to be held next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, followed by tea. The artists will be Miss Florence M. Jepperson, contralto, Mr. Albert Stoessel, violin and Miss Edna Stoessel, pianist.

—A little girl in this village some years ago named Marian was very much interested in the exercises at school, Feb. 12th. She came home and told her mother about it and said it was "Tinkham's birthday." Mr. Tinkham was the station carriage driver, and she probably thought it was a very suitable thing to celebrate his birthday just as important as Lincoln of course.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION

Mrs. J. Q. A. Whittemore Entertains Many Friends at the Somerset

The most notable society event of the season was the reception and dance given by Mr. and Mrs. John Q. A. Whittemore of Newton, on Tuesday evening in Boston. The ball room at Hotel Somerset was transformed into a veritable floral bower for the occasion, and decorated most elaborately and artistically by Hoffman. A scheme of pink and green was carried out to perfection in the decorations. Palms were arranged along the corridors, and the stair cases leading to the ball room and reception rooms, were festooned with southern smilax and large masses of pink carnations. Festoons of greenery were twined along the walls of the entire ball-room and from the chandeliers on the sides and in the centre, huge baskets of pink carnations were suspended. The electric lights were shaded with pink paper flowers.

Handley's Orchestra of Newton furnished the music. The musicians were placed on a small balcony well nigh hidden behind a mass of southern smilax and pink carnations, and the popular selections were encored repeatedly. The pink shaded lights shed a soft radiance on the flowers, which was most effective, and the music lent additional pleasure and enchantment to the scene, the gay dancers seeming almost to be in fairyland, or in the realms of Oriental romance. The ball-room scene was marvelously beautiful, and could be fittingly described only by one endowed with the genius of both artist and poet. A profusion of pink azaleas and pink carnations were used in a charming arrangement in the reception room. Mrs. Whittemore received her guests from 8 until 10, and was exquisitely gowned in pink chiffon velvet and applique, with silver lace and diamond ornaments, and carried a large bouquet of pink Killarney roses. She was assisted by Miss Cecelia Bradford, who wore a beautiful gown of pink satin with overdress of pink tulle embroidered in silver and blue, and carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. A buffet supper was served in the green cafe, and in the library of the hotel, and the decorations of Killarney roses, in shades of pale pink and deep pink were superb.

On the table there was an attractive centre-piece about three feet high, around which masses of Killarney roses were arranged with wondrously beautiful effect. Included among the two hundred guests of social prominence who were present, were Mr. and Mrs. Perley Flint, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Blake, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Garcelon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Dexter, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. A. Whittemore, and many others. (Continued on Page 4.)

Mayor's Budget For 1916 Not Much Larger Than 1915

Mayor Childs has submitted the 1916 budget to the city government, by filing it with the City Clerk last Tuesday. The mayor recommends a total appropriation of $1,565,067.34 which is comparable with the total expenses of 1915, of $1,552,746.29. The mayor's figures are $42,500 less than the appropriations requested by the various departments, the reduction made by the mayor being largely in the Street Dept.

The figures for the Police department include 5 new patrolmen and those for the Fire Dept., include 2 new permanent men.

An interesting feature of the budget is the recommendation of Comptroller Daboll that his own salary be reduced $200 and that the salaries paid his three assistants be increased by a total of $250.

Schools, $404,509.41, Street, $304,401.33, Police, $107,515.94, Fire $98,335.72, Forestry, $70,833.83.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our neighbors and friends who assisted us in any way during the illness and death of our loved one. Especially would we thank Rev. Thomas Roy; the lady who sang, and the ones that sent the beautiful flowers.

TRUST DEPARTMENT TALKS

NO. 2 PERMANENCY

Have you thought that the individual whom you may nominate to be the executor and trustee of your estate may not live to complete the work? And who will be his successor? Someone who may gain the confidence of your wife or children, but whom you in your better judgment would never choose for them.

The Trust Companies of Massachusetts were especially intended under the general laws of the Commonwealth to handle trust business of this character and they are clothed with every necessary power.

The Newton Trust Company has a perpetual charter. It is always at its office, never out of town, sick or otherwise unable to attend to the business of the estate when and as it should be, regardless of the duration of the trust.

The Newton Trust Company as your executor and trustee means continuous as well as responsible and interested service in behalf of your beneficiaries as long as you may desire. Wills may be drawn at our offices and filed in our vaults without charge.

Our officers cordially invite conference by appointment.

Proving a Great Factor in Our Automobile Prize Contest

The expiration of the first coupon, published in The Newton Graphic Automobile contest, is cause for some greatly increased vote-totals in the list as published today. From the numbers that were brought to the office, to be affixed to those already published for the various candidates, one is led to believe that nearly every reader of the paper is interested and voting for some one of the aspirants for the Maxwell car.

More than 40000 votes, which were created by the coupon route, were dumped into the vote-hopper and in consequence many totals are perceptibly increased. This shows the right spirit as it costs the subscriber nothing extra to vote these coupons and may mean the winning of the grand prize by some one of the workers so favored.

The bonus vote offer which was offered for reports on subscriptions to the value of $15.00 also paved the way for some extra votes. Several of the earnest workers took advantage of the special prize offering of a two-dollar-and-a-half gold piece which was given for the report of $30.00 in subscriptions.

For the period ending with Thursday night, March 9th, another bonus vote offer will be honored altho', as previously stated, it is considerably smaller than the one of last week.

EXTRA VOTE CERTIFICATE

TO EACH CANDIDATE REPORTING $15.00 IN SUBSCRIPTIONS BY THURSDAY NIGHT, MARCH 9TH, WILL BE GIVEN AN EXTRA VOTE CERTIFICATE FOR 30,000 VOTES. A CANDIDATE MAY SECURE AS MANY OF THESE EXTRA VOTE CERTIFICATES AS THEY MAY CHOOSE.

Gold Pieces to Hustlers
Each candidate who reports $30.00 in subscriptions for the same period will be given a $2.50 Gold Piece. No restrictions on the number of these special prizes any one candidate may secure.

By the offer of the bonus vote certificate and the special prizes, which will be given to the proven hustlers, it should, and no doubt will, furnish the incentive to some, who have not as yet shown their strength, to come from under cover and mingle with the select few who are farther up in the standings as published each week. It should be borne in mind by each of those who are striving to be a winner that it is not at all necessary to hold out subscriptions in order to hold back votes. Extra votes which may be secured as a result of extra effort may be held until the last of the balloting if the candidate so desires.

The remaining weeks of the campaign are going to prove eventful ones and while much effort has been expended during the past few days the hustling candidates and their friends are certain to make the accumulation of the needed votes much more spirited. The competition comes to a close on Monday night, April 3rd, and while this should prove sufficient time to get the counters, no opportunities should be overlooked to add to the number now possessed.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Taxation matters held first place this week at the State House where the committee on Taxation were hearing the opponents to the income tax measure proposed by the recent Commission on Taxation. Those favoring the bill had been heard the previous week. Mr. Charles A. Andrews of Waban, former deputy Tax Commissioner for the Commonwealth being the principal speaker for the bill. This week the country assessors were out in force to oppose the bill, on the ground that financial results from it were so uncertain that it should not be adopted. In other words these assessors would rather stay in the frying pan of the present unjust and unreasonable tax laws than jump into what they believed was the fire of a new and untried method. If this attitude is accepted by the Legislature we might as well say "good night" to all plans looking for improvement, not only in methods of taxation but in every other line of effort. All new plans must be largely experimental, and when the experiment suggested in this state has been working in a satisfactory manner in several other states, there seems to be every reason to make some attempt to obtain better conditions in our tax situation. The bill under consideration by the committee imposes a tax of 6 per cent on the income of what is usually known as intangibles, meaning stocks and bonds of corporations and business outside of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and on income from monies at interest. There is also a tax of 1 1/2 per cent on incomes from business or professions, salaries, etc., above $2000 for a single man or $2500 for a married man. Newton now taxes about $24,000,000 in intangibles, with a tax revenue of approximately $450,000. In order to produce this same revenue under the new bill our Assessors must increase our personal property valuations to about $120,000,000. The bill requires every person to file a sworn statement with the Assessors of all his or her property, and is one of the principal features of the measure. The amount of personal property, not now assessed, which will be disclosed by the compulsory return is problematical, but from figures made from inventories of estates filed in the Probate Court, it is estimated that fully 80 per cent of the amount of personal property is not now being taxed. If these figures are correct, and that is the case, the bill can be disclosed by the compulsory return, the net result of the new law will be satisfactory, not only from a revenue standpoint but from a moral point of view. The opponents of the bill favor a ten per cent tax, or practically one half of the present average rate paid on what personal property is now being taxed. It is feared that this rate is too high and will drive most of the intangible out of the state. The exact rate can only be found through actual trial and it would seem as if it would be better to run the risk of a slight loss of revenue for one or two years, than to make a rate so high that little or no benefit is possible. Real estate now pays nearly, if not quite 90 per cent of the total taxes of the state, and real estate owners have about everything to gain and but little to lose in making a trial of the new plan.

There is little of direct interest to Newton before the Legislature at present. City Solicitor Bishop was before Ways and Means last Friday to oppose the 48 hour week labor bill, which will cost our Water Dept. at least $1600 if adopted, besides an unknown amount to other city departments. There is but little hope, however, of defeating a "professional" labor measure like this.

Mr. Allen has been somewhat in the limelight this week by persuading the House to adopt his proposal on the bill to punish reckless automobilists. Mr. Allen's bill provides a minimum penalty of $20 fine for persons who operate recklessly while under the influence of liquor, with a jail sentence of 30 days to 2 years for a second offense.

Both Mr. Weston and Mr. Jarvis were opposed and Mr. Allen was absent when the vote was taken Tuesday on City Treasurer Newhall's bill to ascertain the addresses of grantees, mortgagees, etc., was acted upon. Mr. Newhall is endeavoring to have some official record of the addresses of these persons in order that tax bills can be sent to the right people, as it is now almost impossible to find the address of a woman owner of real estate in some of the larger cities.

The city of Worcester sprung a surprise this week on the Municipal Finance committee when it asked for legislation to restrict the borrowing capacity of that city to an amount equal to the annual appropriation for the sinking funds. As the present law prohibits the further issue of any sinking fund debts, the future sinking funds, must grow less and less. The proposed bill will only authorize the issue of serial bonds each year to the amount of the sinking fund appropriation for that year and will automatically reduce the authority of the city to borrow on serial bonds, until no serial bonds can be issued whatever. At first glance, this legislation appears to impose pretty severe restrictions on future city governments of Worcester and it is possible to foresee a situation where this restriction might be a serious injury to the city.

—There was a good attendance at the hearing yesterday before Mercantile Affairs on the bill of the city of Newton to prohibit liquor dealers from delivering liquors in No license communities except by regularly licensed expressmen. The bill was similar to that vetoed last year by Governor Walsh but slightly changed to meet the objections raised by him. Mayor Childs, City Solicitor Bishop and Representative Jarvis were among the speakers in favor of the bill and it was opposed by Hon. S. L. Powers in behalf of the S. S. Pierce Co. and by a representative of the associated brewers.

The committee on Mercantile Affairs with four dissenters has reported adversely on the bill introduced by the writer to prohibit liquor advertising on billboards in No license communities.

—Waban residents listened to a lecture by their fellow citizen Mr. Winfield Thompson of Avalon road last Saturday evening. The lecture was given in Knollwood hall under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Parish of the Good Shepherd and the subject was "Boston Harbor—the port of the Puritans." Mr. Thompson began with the conditions of Boston Harbor in the time of the first settlers and told interesting stories of the first settlements on the islands of the harbor and with ninety-nine lantern slides of great human interest, showed the place the harbor has had in the pleasures and lives of the people. Mr. Thompson's lecture showed the result of the experiences of an old sailor, who for thirty years has learned every feature of interest in the history of Boston Harbor, and was thoroughly enjoyed by his Waban audience. Following the lecture

Increased enthusiasm is certain to be manifest from this time on and it is now a certain fact that "Home Pride" is going to be a potent factor in the final award. Each district, which is represented by the different parts of Newton, will want their candidates to win and are expected to manifest their old-time fighting spirit, and work as a unit for the ultimate success of its representatives over its rivals.

The section which puts up the best fight for its candidate is surely going to win. Town rivalry will do much toward determining the winners. This is the right spirit as it is a time like this when friends should be up and doing. It does not cost any thing extra to assist a worker in the effort to win some of the valuable prizes. Are you boosting your home candidate? Have you given any support to any of the workers? If you have not you are liable to be judged by your neighbors as somewhat lacking in local pride and loyalty.

To be sure the Maxwell car is the prize that each one of the workers have set their mind on winning but it should not be forgotten that there are other worthy offerings which will also be given. Fifty dollars in Gold for one's efforts, during the short time allotted, is surely some return for the spare time used and then the beacon light (The Maxwell car) to hustle for makes an opportunity seldom if ever presented.

During the next contest period, which ends Thursday night, March 9th, much effort should be apparent and thousands of votes procured as it will be the ones who take advantage of the special offers who will be found at the top of the list when the grand finale comes.

Why not win a few extra vote certificates this week.

And, mayhap, a Gold Piece, or more. The vote restriction, mentioned at the start of the contest, has been withdrawn, and only a moderate limitation will be enforced from this time.

AUCTION BRIDGE

A social event of special note was the bridge party on Thursday afternoon, given by Mrs. Edwin Mitchell Richards and Mrs. James L. Richards at the latter's residence on Kirkstall road, Newtonville.

Twenty-five tables were arranged in the reception rooms, drawing room and library, and the game was auctioned bridge, with a souvenir at each table.

The dining room was attractively decorated with jonquils, a large basket of the golden spring blossoms being arranged with pleasing effect as a centre-piece on the table.

The ladies who poured were Mrs. William H. Lucas and Mrs. E. Earle Hopkins, and several of the young lady friends of Mrs. Edwin Richards acted as servers.

Guests of social prominence numbering one hundred, were present from Boston, Brookline and the Newtons.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

FI-FI OF THE TOY SHOP

Be sure to see FI-FI of the Toy Shop if you wish to have an evening of fun, nonsense, songs, beautiful dancing and spectacular scenes.

The production will be given at Playhouse Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings, March 3 and 4, and on Saturday afternoon, March 11, under the auspices of the Woman's Association of Central Church, Newtonville.

Mr. H. E. Munsey of New York who has had much experience in putting on this and similar productions, will stage the performances.

The following is the story of the fantasy. It gives opportunity to introduce the cast and many groups of dancers from the villages of Newton. "Bonnie," the daughter of "Jack Hammer," the old toy maker wandering in the woods at the close of the day is overtaken by the Sandman who casts her into a magic sleep.

She dreams wonderful dreams of the toy shop—of Aurelia, a retired fairy who with magic salts provides the means of bringing to life the dolls, animals, jumpingjacks and other inmates of the Shop. She dreams of Lieut. Tin Heart and of Prince Lolly Pop and of their rivalry for the hand of the fickle FI-FI, the finest French doll in the shop. She dreams of the man-in-the-moon, of the sailor doll, Capt. Barnacle, and his devoted rag doll, Looey; of "Ink Spot," the black doll; of the Laughing Doll's Head, the Japanese Doll, the Talking Doll, the Whistling Doll; of Bo-Peep, the singing doll and of all the wonderful creatures of bisque and tin and wood and rag which give life to wonderful things in the Milky Way and in Fairy Land until the light of day scatters the charm and awakens "Bonnie" from her magic sleep.

CITY of NEWTON MASSACHUSETTS

Notice To Contractors

Sealed proposals for constructing new coal tar concrete sidewalks, curbs, and gutters and for repairs to existing coal tar sidewalks, crossings and gutters in Newton, Massachusetts, will be received at the office of the Street Commissioner, City Hall, West Newton, Mass., until 10 A. M., Wednesday, March 8th, 1916.

All proposals must be upon blank forms furnished by the Commissioner accompanied by a certified check on a national bank or trust company authorized to do business in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Such check shall be in the sum of five hundred dollars and shall be payable to and shall become the property of the City of Newton if the proposal which it accompanies is accepted and the bidder neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of the proposal.

Form of contract setting forth the specifications and form of bond to be signed by a surety company authorized to do business in Massachusetts can be obtained at the office of the Commissioner.

It is the purpose of the Commissioner not to award the contract to any bidder who does not furnish evidence satisfactory to the Commissioner that he has ability and experience in the class of work called for and that he has sufficient capital and plant to enable him to prosecute the same successfully, and to complete it within the time named in the contract.

If any price appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price.

The Commissioner reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals and to award the contract as he may deem to be for the best interests of the City of Newton.

GEORGE E. STUART,
Street Commissioner.

AUTO SHOW

In another week the Boston Automobile Show will be on. From an exhibition standpoint it will be the greatest show in the history of the industry as it will show more models and different makes than have ever been displayed at any show in this country. The decorations for the show will be worthy of the colossal exhibition. Manager Campbell gives it as his opinion that it will be the most dazzling spectacle that he has provided in the fourteen years of conducting the Boston Auto Show.

Although the show doesn't open until Saturday afternoon, March 4, for months artists have been busy preparing the scenic effects. Several hundred thousand crystal pendants will be used. These will be illuminated by vari-colored electric lamps.

E. W. Campbell, the artistic architect, who has designed the decorations, states that the illuminated arches of crystal that will greet the eye of the visitors as they enter Exhibition Hall will be a scene that they will long remember.

The renaissance brought down to modern times is the motif of the decorations. The promenade in exhibition hall will be arched over in crystal and illuminated by electric lights. Vertical panels of black and white will cover the columns and from post to post will extend elliptical arches in dark foliage with the soffits edged with electric bulbs.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—William Hodge's latest vehicle, "Fixing Sister," which starts its fourth week of a pronounced success at the Majestic on Monday night next, March 6th, is the seventh notable portrayal of native American character roles that this popular favorite has presented to the American stage. In "Fixing Sister," as in his previous successes, "The Road to Happiness" and "The Man from Home," Hodge has achieved a triumph seldom experienced by actors who have made one decided hit. His signal success, "The Man from Home," which brought to Mr. Hodge such fame and fortune, was followed with another hit equally as delightful and brilliant, "The Road to Happiness," and now his portrayal of John Otis, the "Man from Missouri," who "has to be shown," is filling the Majestic with capacity audiences, who are enjoying both him and his "comedy of cheerfulness" with uproarious laughter and enthusiastic applause. "Fixing Sister," from the unparalleled reception it has received during the short time it has been seen in Boston, bids fair to equal if not surpass the successes that Mr. Hodge has achieved in "The Man from Home" and "The Road to Happiness."

WILBUR THEATRE—It is generally conceded that Roy Copern Megrue and Walter Hackett's farce, "It Pays to Advertise," beginning its last week at Wilbur Theatre next Monday, March 6th, is one of the best plays seen on the American stage in many seasons. As a matter of fact, "It Pays to Advertise" is one of those plays that provoke real hearty mirth. The sort that makes you throw your head back until it rests on the back of your chair and laugh to your heart's content. It is a rarely amusing, well-written and well-acted play, and like all the best pieces of its kind, it is founded on an original idea, which we will not disclose for fear of spoiling the enjoyment of prospective patrons. It is enough to say that if you see "It Pays to Advertise" and don't laugh heartier than you have for years, there's an obstruction in your disposition that the family doctor ought to know about.

PERKINS' PLAYERS TO PRESENT "THE TAMING OF THE SHREW"

The play-going public is promised two treats when the pupils of the Perkins Institution present Shakespeare's comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew." The play is to be given in the Elizabethan manner, all parts, including those of women, being taken by the boys. It is now being rehearsed under the direction of Miss Jessica L. Langworthy, one of the members of the faculty. The boys themselves take charge of the business end of the play, and they are hard at work, striving to make this the best play they have yet given. This is no easy task, since the plays have been very successful in the past.

Not only are the young men trying to excel past performances from the financial standpoint, but from the dramatic point of view as well. Their Shakespeare plays have acquired a reputation; many of their patrons come from long distances to enjoy these performances which have been given for the past five consecutive years. These young persons are able to impersonate their special parts in a manner not excelled by amateurs of their age and experience.

The proceeds of the play are to be added to the Howe Beneficiary Fund, established by the Howe Memorial Club, one of the student organizations of the school. By means of the fund, the club gives financial aid to worthy blind people in order that on leaving school they may buy tools and equipment needed to carry on their chosen occupation. Small sums are lent at a very low rate of interest, and in the thirteen years during which the fund has been in existence, it has been of material value to many deserving blind people.

At present the fund amounts to about $1600, and its ability to be of benefit is very limited. Much good could be done if the fund were larger, and this year the "Perkins' Players" hope to add a large sum to it.

The two performances will be in the Perkins Institution Hall, Watertown, Thursday evening, March 3rd, at eight o'clock, and Friday afternoon, March 4th, at two-fifteen. Tickets, which sell at thirty-five and fifty cents each, may be had by addressing—The Play Committee, Perkins Institution, Watertown, Mass.

CO. C NOTES

There was a large and enthusiastic drill at the armory Monday evening, Feb. 28, only five men being absent; most of the work taken up was in connection with the coming Reception and Ball on Friday night. Each of the men being assigned to some part to help make the affair a success.

Since the Company has advanced in efficiency the new Company's spirit is greatly noticed.

Company F. of Waltham has challenged Company C to an indoor tournament: Rifle practice, indoor baseball and Bowling and Pool and Company C. could not accept quick enough; so from now on there will be great times while the different men are "trying for the teams."

Recruits are coming in fast there being more applications than vacancies and only the best are being taken. With the spirit in the ranks and with the interest being shown by the prominent citizens of Newton, Company C is straining to be the best Infantry Company in the Commonwealth.

PENNY BAZAAR

The "Penny Bazaar" of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Immanuel Church last Tuesday was a decided success, the only regret being that the wares on sale were too soon exhausted. Long before the time of opening, prospective purchasers, both young and old, had arrived and finally the hearts of the young people who had worked so conscientiously preparing the affair, were made glad for everything went "like hot cakes." Indeed they did, and before the afternoon session was spent nearly every article had completely sold out.

Again in the evening there was another large attendance and many were the compliments for the business like appearance of the festival and also the courteous treatment and efficiency of the "sales-ladies." There were several booths, fancy work, cakes and cookies, refreshments of various kinds, confectionery, pop corn, assorted nuts and many others including a fortune telling booth which proved very popular. The young people who took part and their respective assignments were as follows: Fortunes, (in Camp Fire costumes), Gertrude Brady and Doris Moore; Pastry, Eleanor Reid, Eleanor Leacy and Blanche Leacy; Peanuts, Madeline Josselyn, Lilla Ritchey; Popcorn, Annie Clarke, Louise Feola and Frances Lucas; Lemonade, Inez Russell, Margaret Reid; Grabs, Russell Hamilton, John Sawyer; Fancy Articles, Elizabeth Ritchey, Helen Achorn, Vivian Young, Charlie Chaplins, Gladys Leacy, Dexter Dimock; and Walnut Candy, Rolin Parquhar, John Farquhar, Harry W. Farquhar.

Others assisting were Gracie Gullian, Alden Somerby, Russell McCassey and Madeline Somerby. The Committee in charge comprised, Miss Helene Moore, Supt. of the Society as Chairman, Gertrude Cutler, Eleanor Reid, Margaret Reid, and Louise Moore. They were assisted by Mrs. H. G. Reid, Mrs. L. E. Moore, Miss Bertha Moore and Mrs. W. S. Cormack.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—With the evidences of undiminished success that have marked the Boston engagement of "Daddy Long Legs" from the beginning, this tremendously popular comedy with Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton in the principal roles, continues its merry way at the Hollis Street Theatre. The attraction is now in its sixth week and has established a record for box office receipts which it is exceedingly doubtful whether it will be duplicated in Boston again this season. No comedy produced in recent years possesses the sweetness, the wholesomeness and the general fascination which are embodied in "Daddy Long Legs." It has been observed by one of the best known critics that here is a play for everybody. Looking over an audience at the Hollis seems to prove this contention. While no definite date for a change of attraction at the Hollis has been announced the engagement of "Daddy Long Legs" is necessarily a limited one. Matinee days are Wednesday and Saturday.

MY GARDEN

I have a quiet garden
 All full of hollyhocks
 And columbine and foxglove
 And white and scarlet phlox.

And dainty sweet allium,
 Where hover swarms of bees;
 And swaying graceful poppies,
 And fragrant, shy sweet peas.

The hummingbirds, like jewels,
 Flash gleaming to and fro
 O'er beds of modest pansies
 And daisies in a row.

Ah! youth may love the city,
 The chase for wealth and fame,
 But give old age the garden.
 Each quiet day the same.

SHUBERT THEATRE—Lou Tellegen, America's most famous young romantic actor, who recently married Geraldine Farrar, the operatic star, will appear at the Shubert Theatre next Monday, March 6th, for a limited engagement in a new play by J. and L. DuRocher MacPherson, called "A King of Nowhere." The new play represents Mr. Tellegen's return to the stage in the type of romantic vehicle in which he has unfailingly made his greatest successes, and in which he first came to this country with Sarah Bernhardt, whose leading man he was for three seasons in Paris and New York. Playing opposite Mr. Tellegen is Miss Olive Tell, a graduate of the famous Morosco organizations, and said to be one of the most beautiful blondes on the American dramatic stage. The play is produced by the Garrick Company of which Miss Jessie Bonstelle is the brilliant and widely known director. The cast is composed of names well known both along Broadway and throughout the country as those of leading artists in the dramatic profession.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The run of "Between the Lines" has been extended for another week, which will positively be the last at the Castle Square. This latest Harvard Prize Play has won the most cordial recognition from all classes of theatre-goers, and everybody who has not seen it should seize this final opportunity. The cast will remain unchanged, with John Craig and Mary Young in the leading roles, and performances will be given twice daily.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

Much has been written in regard to the "Back to the land movement" of recent years, and many are found who are making the experiment. Some of these men, and sometimes women, are well equipped for the work they are about to undertake, and then again they are woefully lacking in their knowledge of the land, in their acquaintance with chemistry, and in their love for the farm life and animals. Whether they succeed or not is mere guesswork. A few of those who have considered themselves successful have recorded their activities in book form. There is Three Acres and Liberty, by Bolton Hall (RG.1140); New Lives for Old, by William Carleton, pseud. (RG.110); A self-supporting home, by Mrs. Kate V. St. Maur (RK.814); De Woosie's The bend in the road and how a man of the city found it (RG.151); A living without a boss (RG.178); and many others.

Some books on general vegetable raising are as follows: The principles of vegetable gardening, by Bailey (RIA.115 pr); The vegetable garden, by Ida Bennett (RIA.143 v); Garden farming, by Corbett (RIA.131); The book of vegetables and garden herbs by French (RIA.F88); How to make a vegetable garden, by Fullerton (RIA.F95); Productive vegetable growing, by Lloyd (RIA.L77); Truck farming at the south, a guide to the raising of vegetables for northern markets by Oemler (RIA.O88); Success in market gardening, by Rawson, a new vegetable growing manual (RIA.119); The home garden, by Rexford (RI.132h); Home vegetable gardening by Rockwell (RIA.R59); Everyman's garden by Selden, (RI.S46); The gardener and the cook by Yates (RV.Y27); Farm and garden rule-book by Bailey (RI.B151); Forcing-book by Bailey (RIA.B150); The Biggie garden book (RI.B48); The back yard farmer by Bolte (RI.B83); The farmer's garden, health, happiness and money, by Howard (RIA.H35); The garden of the city, by Howard (RIA.H35); The commutuer's garden by Hayward (RI.H335); Commercial gardening by Weathers (RI.W37).

Those desirous of making a study of agriculture might be guided in this by the following titles: The farmer of tomorrow by Anderson (RG.A54); The training of farmers by Bailey (RG.A15); Cyclopaedia of American agriculture, edited by Liberty Hyde Bailey (RG.5B); Agriculture, a text for the school and the farm by Benson and Betts (RG.B44); The teaching of agriculture in the high school by Bricker (IPCR.B76); Agriculture for beginners by Burkett and others (RG.B91); Chapters in rural progress by Butterfield (RG.B98); A laboratory manual of agriculture for secondary schools by Call and Schafer (RG.C13); Farm management, including business accounts, by Card (RG.C17); The new agriculture by Collins (RG.C69); Soils and plant life as related to agriculture by Cunningham and Lancelot (RG.C81); Education for efficiency by Davenport (IK.D37); The farmers' cyclopaedia in 7 volumes (RG.5F22); The first book of farming by Goodrich (RG.G62); Soil fertility laboratory manual by Hopkins and Pettit (RG.H77); Practical lessons in agriculture by Ivine and Merrill (RG.I95); The business of farming by Smith (RG.B56); Elements of agriculture by Warren (RG.W25); and Dry farming by Whitson (RG.W63).

The farmer must feed the soil if he would have the soil continue to feed him. The problem of the fertility of the soil is one of the greatest importance. The following books treat especially upon fertilizers: Fertilizers and manures by Hall (RG.114); Fertility of the land by Roberts (RG.R84); How to grow one acre worth of bushels of corn per acre on worn soils, by Smith (RH.1566); Farm manures by Thorne (RG.H739); Fertilizers and crops by Van Slyke (RG.V36); First principles of soil fertility by Vivian (RG.V83); Fertilizers by Voorhees (RG.V89); and Manures and fertilizers by Wheeler (RG.W56).

"ALL-OF-A-SUDDEN PEGGY"

"All-of-a-Sudden Peggy," a comedy in three acts, was very successfully presented on Saturday evening in Stanley Hall at the Hunnewell Club, Newton, under the auspices of the Young People's Christian Association of Eliot Church. The first act represented a drawing-room scene at "Hawthurst," and the second, a scene in "Jimmie's flat in London, a week later; and the third was a return to the drawing-room scene. The cast included Miss Helen P. Morton, as "Lady Crackenthorpe," Miss Millicent Perkins, as "Millicent Keppel," her daughter; Mr. Emerson Hayward as "Major Archie Phillips," her brother; Mr. Clarence Manning as Anthony, Lord Crackenthorpe, her oldest son; Mr. Walter G. Barrows, as "Jimmie Keppel," his brother; Miss Mary Ganse, as "Mrs. O'Mara," Miss Dorothy Perkins as "Peggy," her daughter; Mr. William Ward, as "Jack Menzies"; Miss Louise Pinkham, as Mrs. Henshaw; Mr. Spencer, as "Lucas," the valet at Jimmie's flat; and Mr. Dunn as Parker, the footman at "Hawthurst."

The various characters were excellently portrayed, and Mr. Clarence Manning and Miss Dorothy Perkins, in the opinion of many, were considered the "star performers" of the production.

The play was well coached under the direction of Miss Florence Bacon and the stage settings and scenery were in charge of the officers of the Association, including Mr. J. Sherman Irving, president; Mr. Alfred W. Stone, adviser; Miss Helen Morton, vice-president; Miss Millicent Perkins, secretary and Mr. Philip Horne, treasurer.

The ushers were the Misses Helen Forsyth, Martha Boothby, Laura Murray and Pauline Dunne. There was a large attendance and after the performance a splendid program of music for dancing was furnished by Knight's Orchestra of Newtonville.

RECEPTION

A reception to the hostesses of the recent boys' conference will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building on Monday afternoon, March 6, from 3 to 5 o'clock. All members of the Woman's Auxiliary are invited to attend.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The annual Boys' Triangular League Debate will be held this evening. The contest in the school assembly hall will be between the Brookline affirmative team and the Newton negative team. At the same time the Newton affirmative team will be holding a debate with the Somerville negative team at the Somerville High School. The subject of both debates will be the following: "Resolved: that military training should be adopted by the high schools."

This afternoon at three o'clock a dance, with Spalding's Orchestra by furnishing the music, will be held in the Gymnasium.

Miss Ethel Bragg will tell stories at the regular meeting of the English Club which will be held in the hall today at the close of school. This meeting should be well attended, as Miss Bragg has become very popular as a story-teller.

The usual Assembly of the upper classes was held in the hall Wednesday morning. Almy of the Senior Class urged the pupils to support the debating team tonight, expressing the hope that enough would agree to accompany the affirmative team to Somerville so that a special car might be engaged for the trip.

A Carnival given by the History Department of this school was held in the Gymnasium last Friday afternoon. The program was a varied and interesting one, consisting of music and dancing. A rather unusual feature was the presence of Mrs. Washington and Uncle Sam, in full costume. The music was furnished by Spalding's Orchestra. Refreshments were served, including tea poured by Mrs. Washington. A very large number of tickets were sold by the members of the History Department, and the affair proved to be one of the most successful entertainments ever given by the school. The proceeds will be used to purchase new and more complete books of reference for the History Library.

The unexpected victory scored by the hockey team over Arlington last Friday night, followed by the defeat at the hands of Melrose Monday afternoon, leaves the team in a peculiar position. Up to last Friday night, Newton and Arlington had led the league together. Monday's upset was the orange and black's first interscholastic League defeat of the season. At present, Newton still leads the others by a scant margin. Melrose and Arlington meet at the Boston Arena tonight, however, and no matter which wins, that team will be tied for first with Newton. The Melrose game was the last on the Newton schedule, but an extra contest will now be necessary to break the tie.

DEATH OF MR. RATCLIFFE

William Lee Ratcliffe, president of the Thomas G. Plant Shoe Company of Jamaica Plain, died at his home, 284 Franklin street, Newton, Friday afternoon. He had been ill for six months.

He was born in Rochester, N. Y., and attended the public schools of that city. When fourteen years of age he began his business career with the Western Union Telegraph Company. After several years he entered the shoe business with the firm of Turnbull Bros. at Elmira. A few years later he started in the retail shoe business. While managing his store in Elmira, he met Thomas G. Plant, who was travelling for his firm. Mr. Plant persuaded Mr. Ratcliffe to take a place as superintendent of sales, so that Mr. Plant could return and look after his factory.

When the Thomas G. Plant Company was incorporated, in 1893, Mr. Ratcliffe was elected vice-president. In 1901 he was made treasurer of the corporation. On the retirement of the founder of the concern, in 1911, he succeeded to the presidency.

Mr. Ratcliffe was president of the Boston Boot and Shoe Club, vice-president of the New England Shoe and Leather Association, a member of the executive committee of the National Shoe Manufacturers' Association, a director of the National Rockland Bank of Roxbury, a member of the Eliot Club of Jamaica Plain and of St. John's Episcopal Church.

He married Miss Helen S. Larkin at Elmira, N. Y., in 1894. She and three daughters, the Misses Helen, Marion and Alice Ratcliffe, survive him.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from his late home, 284 Franklin street, Newton. Rev. Thomas C. Campbell of St. John's Episcopal Church, Jamaica Plain, conducted the services, which were attended by delegations from the Plant factory, from the Boston Boot and Shoe Club, of which he was president; the New England Shoe and Leather Association, and the National Rockland Bank of Roxbury, of which he was a member of the board of directors.

HIS 15TH BIRTHDAY

Mr. William B. H. Dowse, president of the Home Market Club of Boston, and one of the most prominent men in this city, observed his 15th birthday Tuesday evening by giving a reception at his Boston home on Beacon street. Mr. Dowse was born Feb. 29th, 1852, and has lived 64 years with but 15 birthdays. Over 200 relatives and friends attended the reception including many of his West Newton neighbors. Following the dinner a musical program was given by Albert E. Brown, baritone, Arthur Hackett, tenor and E. W. Harrison, pianist.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURR, Editor.

The citizens of Melrose are to be congratulated upon the possession of one beautiful auditorium, which has been erected as a memorial to the soldiers and sailors who lost their lives during the Civil War. Such a form of memorial, which serves the living in a useful way, seems much more worthwhile than the ordinary run of monument of the soldier with a gun over his shoulder, suggesting as it does that there may be other ways of showing patriotism besides the bearing of arms. The building is of stone with an auditorium on the ground floor having a seating capacity of over 1100. And this, they say, is filled every Sunday night for their Forum meetings. The stage is large and commodious suited to all sorts of dramatic entertainments, while by means of curtains it may be shut off, so that it does not appear barren and desolate when there is but a single speaker. The stage furnishings are all in good taste and among other accessories there is a rear drop, which is remarkably beautiful. This is used only on state occasions and it was the good fortune of the delegates to the meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs last Friday to view it in all its possibilities. The scene depicted is in the Canadian Rockies, huge peaks covered with snow, and by means of an intricate system of colored lights it is possible to bring out all sorts of effects from early dawn, through the many changes of brilliant sunshine to the fading light of day and the soft, pale moonlight. Exclamations were audible all over the hall as change followed change bringing out the wonderfully natural effects. Fortunately indeed is the club which can offer such a meeting place for the Federation. Plenty of room and to spare is almost unprecedented for a midwinter meeting.

Attention is called to the program arranged by the Newton Centre Woman's Club for the observance of Baby Week on the south side of the city.

Baby Week

The following program has been arranged by the Newton Centre Woman's Club: Monday, March 6, at 3 o'clock, at Mason School, Dr. Arthur Howard of the Floating Hospital, will speak on "Keeping the Baby Well"; Tuesday, March 7, at 7.45, at the Bowen School, Dr. Gerardo Belboni will speak in Italian on "Taking Care of the Babies"; Wednesday, March 8, at 11 A. M., at Mason School Dr. James Torbert will speak on "Methods for Relief of Pain in Childbirth"; Thursday, March 9, at 11 A. M., at Mason School Hall, Miss T. I. Richmond of the Newton Hospital, will speak to the Big Sisters on "How to Take Care of the Little Sisters and Brothers"; Friday, March 10, at 10.30, at Mason School, Dr. Arthur B. Emmons, 2nd, from the Committee of the Municipal League on Prenatal and Obstetric Care, will speak on "The Advantages to all Mothers of Prenatal Care."

Every mother of a baby under six months old who will bring her full name and address, with age and name of baby in writing, may obtain a copy of Dr. Holt's book on the Care of Children and the new pamphlet, "The Baby and You."

State Federation

On Friday, March 10, at 3 P. M., will occur the second in the course of "Talks to Homemakers" at Perkins Hall, 264 Boylston street, Boston. "Household Management" and "Menus" will be the topics of discussion. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Newton Federation

The Midwinter meeting of the Newton Federation will be held at the Technical High School hall on Thursday, March 9, at 3 o'clock. The program arranged promises to be one which no club woman can afford to miss, especially if she be a mother. As has been already announced this will be the public observance by the club woman of the worldwide Baby Week. A chorus of girls from the Vocational school will sing, there will be a solo by Miss Alice Foley, a student of the West Newton Music school, and the address by Rev. Florence Buck on "Is it well with the Child?"

Local Announcements

Local Happenings

The West Newton Women's Educational Club is meeting this afternoon, the regular one having been postponed from last week on account of the meeting of the State Federation.

Mrs. W. E. Moore was in the chair at the meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club last Saturday afternoon for the first time since her illness. Mrs. E. J. Smith was the hostess and Miss Marion White was in charge of the study of the third act of Midsummer Night's Dream. This play is different from all the others in that its being a dream it cannot be dissected and the characters cannot be analyzed, since they change with each new portion administered. It can merely be read for the enjoyment it affords.

The study of the work of Thomas Hardy was continued by the members of the Newton Highlands Monday Club at its meeting this week at the home of Mrs. H. W. Osgood. Mrs. C. H. Keeler characterized each of the Wessex Novels and read portions from "Far from the Madding Crowd." Mrs. H. W. Kimball spoke of his wonderful gift for description and read several selected from various of his writings. She also outlined his novel, "Tess."

On Monday afternoon the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands met at the home of Mrs. Philip S. Sweetser of Chester street, when Miss Marion Dorr was in charge of the program, the subject being "The Poetry of John Massfield." Miss Dorr traced the growth of his genius from The Salt Water Ballads to his four long epics. She read from his Sixty Sonnets and from his dramatic work, Good Friday.

The Social Science Club held its regular monthly business meeting on Wednesday morning when there were reports from many of the standing committees. The attractive new rest room at the Bigelow school was described by Mrs. Edmund I. Leeds, chairman of the Education committee. Mrs. Franklin Smith gave an account of the State Federation meeting at Melrose. The topics for next year's study were presented by the program committee for consideration of the members. Reports of recent Conservation meetings were given by Miss Ethel Gilman and Mrs. L. D. Gibbs. Mrs. H. H. Powers presented a tribute to the memory of Mrs. J. G. Bridge, who had passed away since the last meeting. The various bills endorsed at the meeting of the State Federation were presented for consideration and a large number of them were endorsed by the club.

In the absence of the essayist of the afternoon, Mrs. Titus read the paper prepared by Mrs. J. K. Hemphill on the Sandwich Islands for the meeting of the Pierian Club on Wednesday. The early history of the islands was taken up, Hawaii as Uncle Sam's possession was considered, and then Honolulu and other of the individual islands of the group were described.

The Newton Woman's Club held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon, February twenty-fourth at the home of Mrs. Wallace Baker on Gay street, Newtonville. The Reverend Edward Evans gave a lecture on "An Englishman's First Impressions of America" which was very humorous and interesting. Music was furnished by Mrs. Edward Wheeler, after which a social hour followed and refreshments were served.

Marie Mayer, the beautiful Oberammergau girl who won the happiness of her life by playing the role of the devoted and repentant Mary Magdalene in the Passion Play of 1910, spoke to the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 29. She told of her early days in the Bavarian mountain village, and of the parts the actors played in daily life, often removed from the parts they played in the great religious drama about which all their aspirations and ambitions centered. Lantern slides illustrated the village life, its picturesque setting and scenes from the most impressive of all plays. Fraulein Mayer's exalted yet simple spirit spoke as well as her sweet toned voice, to the largest audience which ever filled the Congregational Chapel at any club meeting. Many guests were present among them twenty-five children from the 7th and 8th grades.

After the lecture tea was served. Previously several important matters were discussed at the business meeting. Mrs. W. W. Heesman read an able report of a Conference of the State Department of Literature, at the same time making a plea for a Literature Department in the club. Mrs.

Dawson for the hospital committee, spoke of tickets for sale for the vaudeville and dance to be given at the Woodland Park Hotel on Saturday evening, Mar. 4, to start a fund for a new operating room at the Newton Hospital. The Civics Committee announced a conference to be held on Thursday, Mar. 9, at 2.30 P. M. in the Burr School Hall between Auburndale club women and the Mayor of Newton, our three aldermen and our representative on the School Board, to discuss problems relating to the betterment of our town. All were cordially invited, and requested to bring questions, either to ask in person or to be handed to the gentlemen present, as to what the club can do to assist in civic improvement, co-operating with the city.

West Newton

The Elmwood Club will give a dance next Monday evening in I. O. O. F. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Eddy of Bigelow road have gone on a trip to Pinehurst, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Dodd of Prince street are in New York City for a short stay.

Mr. Thomas F. Baxter of Bristol road has returned from a business trip to the Pacific Coast.

Miss Bertha Eddy of Cherry street is leaving this week for a month's sojourn in the South.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Wing and family of Otis street left Saturday for a month's stay at Pinehurst, North Carolina.

Miss Elizabeth Layton entertained a number of little friends at a Washington's Birthday party on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Shaw street, the occasion being a celebration of her eleventh birthday.

MID-WINTER PARTY

On Monday evening, Feb. 28th, the Annual Mid-winter Party of the Every Saturday Club was held in the New Church parlors on Highland avenue, Newtonville. About sixty members and old members with their guests assembled at 7.30 and enjoyed a most witty Burlesque on an ordinary evening of the Club. Sir Thomas Moore became "Thomas Morse" and many were the jokes and humorous "bits" at all the members which had occurred through out the year brought out as only true Saturday Club members could accomplish.

The rooms were patriotically decorated with American flags and red pinks. After the literary programme was completed around the open fire stories and refreshments brought the 46th re-union to a happy close.

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it cost; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

—The Men's Club of St. John's Church will hold a meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the hall at the Newton Club. Mr. Joe Mitchell Chaplin, editor of the National Magazine, will be the speaker. His subject will be, "Flashlights of Famous People," and as no one in this country is better acquainted with prominent men than Mr. Chapple, a very interesting evening is anticipated. Mr. Chapple's engagements are so numerous, that it is only thru the personal influence of one of the members, that the Men's Club has been able to secure him, and an invitation is extended to the members of St. John's parish and their families, to be present.

—A large number of residents of this village were present Monday evening at City Hall at a hearing given by the Public Works committee on a petition for the removal from its present location, of the Sarah Hull Memorial on Walnut street, opposite Clyde street. Mr. A. M. Lyon headed those in favor of removal and gave the history of the movement and read the letter from Mayor Hatfield authorizing the Memorial to be placed in its present position some two years ago. Mr. Percy M. Blake followed with a statement showing that the land was given to the city with the provision that its use should be controlled by vote of the board of aldermen, vote of the trustees of the Library and approval by the Mayor. Mr. Blake believed that the Memorial was illegally located and should be removed at once. He suggested that it be placed in a new location on the knoll just south of the Technical High school building.

Messrs. F. C. Perry, C. F. Cheney, L. S. Ross, R. H. Pierce, G. W. Bishop and H. D. Cabot also spoke in favor of the petition. The petition was opposed by Mr. F. E. Smith in behalf of the Sarah Hull Chapter D. R., and Mrs. F. E. Smith and Mr. C. S. Ensign also favored the present location. The matter was taken under advisement.

OLDEST RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Nathaniel H. Bryant, one of the oldest residents of the city, died Monday night at his home on Walker street, Newtonville. Mr. Bryant was 92 years of age having been born Aug. 18, 1823, at the corner of School street and City Hall avenue, Boston, and what is today a busy thoroughfare was in those days not much more than a path. He attended the Public Latin School which was located almost adjacent to Mr. Bryant's home and was the oldest graduate of that school. He entered the coal business early in life and for fully fifty years was located in Water street though his identification with the coal business covered a longer period. In his younger days Mr. Bryant was interested in athletics and gained a reputation as an oarsman and he was invited to join one of the first rowing crews organized at the Union Boat Club which successfully rowed against Harvard.

Mr. Bryant is survived by a widow, who was Lucy M. Parsons of Worcester; and four children, Miss Alice M. Bryant and Miss Marion A. Bryant of Newtonville; and Messrs. Nathaniel F. Bryant of Boston and Arthur P. Bryant of Watertown.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at his late residence, Rev. A. J. Muste, pastor of Central Congregational Church conducted an impressive service at half past two and was assisted by Rev. John Goddard, pastor of the Church of the New Jerusalem, who was an intimate friend of Mr. Bryant.

There was a large attendance of former business associates and friends from Boston present at the service. The floral tributes were many and very beautiful. The interment was at the Newton Cemetery.

NEWTON COUNCIL NO. 167, K. OF C.

Fr. George, C.P., Retreat Director, Blessed Gabriel's Monastery at Brighton is to give an illustrated lecture on "The Retreat Movement in New England," at Dennison Hall, on Tuesday evening, March 7, at 8 o'clock.

Local members attached to the Laymen's Guild are anxious to make everything in connection with the retreat movement perfectly plain to every one. They are disposed to answer these questions and all others that may be requested to the entire satisfaction of whoever may be interested. To this end the lecture which is to be held at Dennison Hall on Tuesday evening, March 7, has been arranged. It will be free to every one irrespective of creed and besides, a cordial invitation is extended to all men whether attached to the Catholic Church or not.

COLONIAL THEATRE—Boston has been the theatrical Mecca of this country for musical comedy productions during the past decade, but it is questionable if the theatre-goers of that city have ever welcomed as enthusiastically any of these popular entertainments as Klaw & Erlanger's superb production, "Around the Map," upon which the highest eulogiums of lavish praise has been bestowed by the capacity audiences attending the Colonial Theatre, and the entire Boston press. With its magnificent organization of notable artists, its incomparable beauties of production, its rollicking speed and the continuous spirit of gaiety and sparkling music pervades the entire performance, "Around the Map" easily established a new standard for musical plays and is in a class wholly by itself.

Harry Lutz of Channing Church. The interment was at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis Howe, the widow of the late William W. Howe, died last Sunday at her home on Durant street after an illness of several years. Mrs. Howe was 76 years of age and is survived by three sons, Messrs. Francis and Herbert H. Howe of Brookline, and one daughter, Mrs. Alice Chiddell of this city. Funeral services were held at her late home on Wednesday morning in charge of Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure of Grace Church and the interment was at Brookfield, Mass.

OLD SCHOOLMASTER DEAD

Mr. William Coe Collar, formerly master and later headmaster of the Roxbury Latin School for fifty years and a resident of Windsor road, Waban, died on Sunday at an advanced age in the Newton Hospital after a short illness. He retired in 1907 from active duties and devoted himself to study and research. He was the author of many textbooks. He was born on Sept. 11, 1833, in Ashford, Conn., and was the son of Charles and Mary Ann Collar. He was graduated from Harvard in 1859 with the degree of B. A. He was given the degree of M. A. by Harvard many years ago, and that of L. H. D. by Amherst. Mr. Collar had been a member of the Boston school committee and for many years was on the examining board at Harvard University. He was twice married and leaves a widow, three married daughters, and a son, Herbert C. Collar, a librarian, in Buffalo.

Funeral services took place yesterday afternoon at his late home, 63 Windsor road, Waban. The services were conducted by Rev. James De Normandie, pastor of the John Eliot Church, Roxbury, assisted by Rev. Charles H. Cutler, pastor of the Union Church. Several favorite selections of Mr. Collar from Beethoven's "Sonatas" were rendered on the piano by Miss Helen Clark. The interment followed in Forest Hills Cemetery.

MR. COPELAND DEAD

Mr. Ira Copeland, for nearly forty years a resident of Brockton, died on Sunday at his home, 22 Erie street, Newton Highlands, in his eighty-fourth year. It was in Brockton that he became known as a public-spirited citizen. He was the supervisor of the first electric railway in New England, a pioneer in the movement to abolish grade crossings in Brockton and was the inventor of several patented appliances. He also suggested the name of Brockton for the city, which at one time was known as North Bridge-water. He and Mrs. Copeland, two years his junior, were married in Abington, Dec. 1, 1853, and it was immediately after their marriage that they took up their residence in Brockton. He leaves one brother, David Copeland of Brockton, and two daughters.

Funeral services were held from his late home on Erie avenue on Thursday in charge of Rev. John Goddard, pastor of the New Church at Newtonville, and the interment was at Mt. Vernon Cemetery, Abington.

BRIDGE PARTY

Miss Anna M. Whiting entertained 75 guests at a bridge party on Wednesday afternoon at her residence on Washington street, Newton.

There were seventeen tables arranged and the rooms were decorated with yellow jonquills. In the dining-room where refreshments were served, jonquils were arranged as a centerpiece on the table.

The pouters were Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Blakemore, Mrs. Frank P. Scofield and Mrs. Henry P. Curtiss. It was a very pleasant social affair and was given for the benefit of the fund which the Unitarian and Congregational Churches are raising to purchase Star Island.

MR. ADAMS DEAD

John P. Adams, for thirty-seven years a resident of Auburndale, passed away Wednesday, February 23. The funeral services were held at his late residence, 191 Grove street, on Friday afternoon, and were conducted by the Rev. W. C. Gordon, pastor of the Auburndale Congregational Church. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The interment was at Ipswich, Mass. on Saturday. Mr. Adams was a dealer in watches and diamonds and had been in business on State Street, Boston, for nearly forty years.

He was born in Ipswich, Mass., in 1874 and came of old English ancestry, being a direct descendant of Robert Adams who settled in Newbury in 1640. He learned watchmaking in Newburyport with the eminent N. C. Greenough, and early in life established himself in business in Boston. He numbered among his friends and patrons many of the leading men of Boston, and was considered one of the few expert watchmakers in this country. He perfected the circular dial thermometer, and was one of the first men in America to adjust watches to temperature and position. He was connected with the E. Howard Company and adjusted their watches for five years.

Mr. Adams has traveled abroad, and spent his leisure in the enjoyment of literature and music. He was an accomplished violinist, and left a library of carefully selected books, and rare autographs.

His personal character and strict business integrity commanded the love and respect of all who knew him. Mr. Adams is survived by a widow who was Helen Todd of Newbury; three sons, John L. Adams of Auburndale, George Royal Adams of New York, and Harold W. Adams, who will continue his father's business; and two daughters, Miss Jennie H. Adams and Miss Grace K. Adams, a teacher in the Burr School, Auburndale.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

The track team made a rather poor showing last Saturday at the B. A. A. meet in Mechanics Building, winning but 3 1-2 points, third place in the 40-yard dash and high jump and the remaining 1 1-2 points for time in the relay races. Hayes won third place in the dash, and Roberts third in the high jump. The relay team was beaten by St. John's Prep, but its time of 3 min. 30 4-5ths was good enough to earn a point and a half. This was the best race of the afternoon. Gilbert McNamara for Newton bettered his rival, Butler of St. John's Prep, by a few yards, but Allen of St. John's overtook Mr. H. Garrity of Newton, and they ran neck and neck for 1 1-2 laps. Garrity fell on the last corner, leaving the Newton team a 30-yard lead, but Paul O'Brien of Newton reduced the lead to 15 yards on Goggin of St. John's. The final relay brought out William Hayes of St. John's and Ray Adams of Newton. Adams cut down Hayes' lead and the boys ran neck and neck, but Adams was unable to pass. Both made a final spurt and Hayes won by inches, so that the times of both teams were recorded exactly the same.

McNamara and Hayes both won places in the trial heats of the 40 yard dash. Hayes winning third in the final. Roberts won a place in the trials and semi-finals of the hurdles but was unable to get into the finish.

NARROWLY ESCAPED DROWNING

Edward D. Tuttle, a former resident of Newton, narrowly escaped drowning last Tuesday as he and a young lady companion were walking on the ice in Hingham Harbor. The ice suddenly gave way and both were thrown into the icy water, which was about ten feet deep. Luckily Mr. Tuttle is an expert swimmer and, keeping his head and using every ounce of strength, he managed to save his companion and himself. The young couple were cared for at the Tuttle residence, which is only a short distance from where the accident happened and except for the awful shock resulting from the intense cold water are apparently none the worse for their midwinter swim.

STEARNS SENIOR PLAY

The fourth annual entertainment of the Stearns Senior Athletic Association for the benefit of the Stearns Playground, will be held on Monday evening, March the sixth, in the Stearns School Hall.

This year the three-act comedy "Between The Acts" will be presented, and it is doubtful if the demand for tickets can be filled. There will be a matinee on Saturday afternoon, March the fourth, for the children.

The members of the cast need no introduction as the applause accorded them in past performances is indicative of the people's appreciation of their versatility and clever acting. William T. Dalton, John W. Blakeney, William J. Doherty, John E. Mahan, and the Misses Myrtle Weldon, May Fisher, and Julia Quigley, comprise the cast which will represent the association this year.

The success of the boys' first three productions has been due to the highly efficient coaching of Mr. Lester M. Lane, and with Mr. Lane again acting in the capacity of coach this year, it is needless to say that the play will be given in a manner befitting professionals.

The ever-increasing needs of the playground have been recognized by the Senior boys, and they are contributing their services in an effort to increase the apparatus which the young people use.

All those wishing to attend are advised to secure their tickets as soon as possible, as there are no reserved seats; and from present indications the seating capacity of the hall will be inadequate to the seating of those in attendance.

MR. SPEARE BURIED

The funeral of Mr. Lewis R. Speare was held last Friday afternoon at his late home, 6 Summer street, Newton Centre. The house was thronged with people, including delegations from various organizations in which Mr. Speare was interested.

The services, of a simple nature, were conducted by Dean L. J. Birney of the Boston University School of Theology. There was no music.

The bearers were Messrs. George W. McNear, president of the Bay State Automobile Association; James Fortescue, secretary of the Massachusetts State Automobile Association; George F. Richardson of Newton Centre; Albert P. Carter of Newtonville; W. M. Flanders of Newton Centre; George C. Miller of Franklin, Penn., vice-president of the Galena Signal Oil Company; W. D. Stockbridge, vice-president of Alden Speare's Sons & Co.; and Nestor W. Davis of Winchester, a former secretary to Mr. Speare. Interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

McKenney & Waterbury Co., Franklin street, corner Congress, Boston, are showing the newest ideas in Lighting Fixtures for Electric and Gas. The new Semi-Indirect Fixture in Evenlite glass is the talk of the country. All lighted to give the desired effect.

PROTEST PROPOSED GARAGE

Aldermen Want To Know What Authority They Have In The Matter

An interesting debate on the powers of the aldermen in the matter of erection of garages was the principal feature of the meeting of the city government on Monday evening. The matter came up on a petition of residents of Pearl street, protesting against the erection of a series of individual garages by Mr. H. H. Hawkins on Pearl street, about opposite Peabody street. The petitioners asked for a hearing and for the revocation of the permit to build which had already been granted. The debate showed that the matter had been gone into exhaustively by the Buildings Commissioner, the City Solicitor and the Fire Prevention Commissioner of the Commonwealth and that the plan called for a series of ten individual garages with no communication with each other, with a second story over four of them, to be used by Mr. Hawkins in his business as a carpenter and builder. The question arose over what constituted a public garage and City Solicitor Bishop ruled that a garage of this type was not a public garage, for which the aldermen had the authority to issue permits to keep and sell gasoline. After a long debate it was decided to refer the matter to the committee on Rules for further investigation.

President Blanchard was in the chair and all the members were present except Aldermen Bentley and Malcolm. Hearings were held on petitions of the Telephone Co. for locations on Bowen street and of the Telephone and Edison companies for joint locations on Linwood avenue and Albemarle road and of the Texas Co. to locate tanks for kerosene and gasoline on railroad land near the Newton Hospital, at which no one appeared. On the hearing for the widening of River street near Cherry street Mr. Benson appeared for the Lindsay estate but entered no serious objections. Alderman Hollis then drew the following names to serve as jurors at the Lowell Superior Court on March 13: John J. Francis of Austin street and George Walker of Montvale road. Mayor Childs submitted the name of James A. Waters as a Registrar of Voters for 3 years in place of Henry H. Fanning and the re-appointment of Dr. C. A. Boutelle as Inspector of Animals for one year. The mayor also sent in the annual budget which is given in more detail in another column.

City Engineer Rogers sent in a long list of sewer assessments and charges which were referred to the Committee on Public Works. The School Committee invited the city government to inspect the work of the Technical and Vocational High schools and to take lunch at the school building and the invitation was accepted. The Newton Y. M. C. A.'s invitation to attend the annual gymnastic demonstration on March 31st was also accepted.

Petitions of the Boston Elevated Co. for extension of time to November 1, 1917, on the work of constructing a loop at the Lake street terminal were granted. Betterment assessments of Daniel J. Daley and Walter Connor on Adams street were authorized.

Other petitions were received from Joseph Lavina for pool tables on Watertown street, of the Edison Co. to remove 3 poles from Beacon street and for attachments on Cedar street, of Adams et al for laying out of Waban hill road, north under the betterment act, of Philip Shriberg for a license as a junk collector, and of Hannan et al for sewer in Albemarle road. An interesting and sarcastic letter was read from C. M. Boyd complaining of the neglect to remove snow on Hunnewell hill and the "penny wise and pound foolish" method of handling the matter. Mr. Boyd offered to employ a man to do the work at his own expense, if necessary.

On recommendation of committees, H. A. Travis was granted a license for a barge, A. F. Crowley license for 6 bowling alleys in West Newton, the Telephone Co. was granted attachments on Newtonville avenue and Cotton street, the Edison Co. granted a pole location on Churchill street, license for an auto truck was refused Vincenzo Pinto, the City Engineer and City Solicitor were instructed to oppose a plank floor in the proposed alterations of the Beacon street railroad bridge at Waban; a hearing on March 20 was assigned on sewer in William street, betterment assessments were levied on account of the construction of Harrington street, Elmore street extension and Morseland avenue, $2500 additional authorized for Snow and Ice, grants made for the Law and Accounting Depts., a betterment assessment on James Ford estate, on account of Commonwealth avenue was abated, and corrections authorized in grant orders passed at a previous meeting. Land was also taken and a sewer ordered constructed in Pennsylvania avenue.

Alderman Murphy introduced an amendment to the Building Code to require fire proof construction in apartment houses of three stories or containing more than six apartments, the present ordinance requiring such construction only in houses of four stories in height. Mr. Murphy stated that on account of plan now filed with the Building Commissioner it was advisable to act at once, and the ordinance was adopted.

THE 1916 BUDGET

Some of the Detail of the Cost of City Government

As stated last week, the annual budget for 1916 as submitted by Mayor Childs carries a total of $1,565,067.34, which is some $42,000 less than the estimates of the departments, and about $12,500 more than was actually expended last year. The large item for resurfacing of streets, however, has not been recommended by the Mayor and will be left for a supplementary budget, so that a comparison with the 1915 figures is hardly fair.

The item of General expenses is increased from $3,250 to $4,823, the care of the new city garage being responsible for the excess. The Executive department expense drops from $16,344.45 for 1915 to $15,589.66 for 1916, the expense of the Bureau of Public Markets being eliminated and there being some slight increases in Power House expenses and for Miscellaneous items. The Accounting Dept. cost increases from $14,214.66 to $15,180.70, largely due to increases in the various forms of pensions under the charge of the Comptroller. It is interesting to note that Mr. Daboll recommends a decrease in his own salary from $3200 to $3000 and that the Mayor recommends the higher figure.

There are substantial savings made in the Treasury Dept., where the sinking funds drop from $49,900 to $46,100, the interest charges from $150,720 to $138,312 and the interest on temporary debt from $17,036 to $15,000. Serial bonds increase slightly from $66,000 to $67,000, the total expense of the department dropping from $294,411 in 1915 to $278,051 in 1916.

The Assessing Dept. shows a slight increase from $15,038 to $15,764, the Law Dept., indicating less expense on account of eliminating the amount paid in 1915 for settlement of claims. The salary of city solicitor is increased from $3,000 to $3,250. In the City Clerk Dept. the salary of the City Clerk is increased from $2200 to $2300, election expenses increasing from $4538 to $5484 on account of the extra presidential primary in April, and there being an increase in Workmen's Compensation from $2928 to $4400 including $200 for salary of an agent. The total for the department is $21,787 as against $18,659 last year.

The salary of the city messenger is increased $150 to $1350 and the total from $1557 to $2000.

The Engineering Dept. jumps from $12,434.62 to $13,650, the mayor making an increase of $200 in the salary of the Senior assistant as well as approving the request of the city engineer for $200 increase for himself.

The request of the Buildings Commissioner for a salary of $2500 and for a salary of $2000 for the Plumbing Inspector are both approved by the

OLD FOLKES CONCERT

Annual Affair at West Newton a Great Success

The banner event of the past week was the Old Folks' Concert on Thursday evening in the Lincoln Park Baptist Church. It was the great musical event given by "Ye Bigge Towne Choire in Ye Lincoln Park Baptist-Sheepfold, which faceth onto ye towne pump in the borough called West Newton."

In spite of the inclement weather, a large number assembled in the church and were fully repaid by an evening's entertainment of genuine mirth and song. "Ancient tunes and psalms" with some "Wordly tunes," were played and sung by three score men and women who were assisted by "Ye Bigge Fiddle, Little Fiddles and Toot Horns." Tobadonijah William Travis, "beat ye tyme," and the drum used by Mr. Travis in "The Spirit of '76," is over one hundred years old, having been used by four generations of his family; his grandfather, who used it in 1812, his father and he and his son all being drummers. "Sister Priscilla Saxodtha Sprague's" role was to strike the new-fangled Spinnet, and "Adonijah Peltiah Pitman" played fine on "ye bigge Seraphine," and it was up to "Obejoyful Balmaglead Lucas," to lead "ye fiddles and toot horns," and how the country folks in the audience did clap their hands, but were forbidden on the program to stamp their feet, lest they raise a dust which might choke the singers. But they did applaud vociferously, and never in the annals of the good old town of Newton, was a meeting-house filled with such an enthusiastic audience.

When the audience was seated, the musicians struck up a lively march, and the singers marched around so that their neighbors and friends could "behold their good clothes."

MILITARY BALL

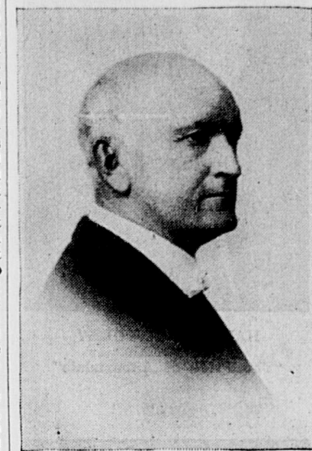

Brilliant Reception at State Armory in Honor of Governor McCall

Governor Samuel W. McCall and Lieutenant Governor Calvin Coolidge were the guests of honor last Friday evening at a grand Military ball at the State Armory, West Newton. The affair was a complete social success with nearly one thousand of our best citizens present to pay their respect to His Excellency the Governor. The armory was elaborately decorated with flags and streamers of bunting and a beautiful flashing sign of the national flag attracted much attention. Mr. McCall and Mr. Coolidge were assisted in receiving by Captain H. D. Cormerais of Co. C, 5th Regiment and Mayor Edwin O. Childs. The receiving party stood in an arbor formed by a trellis decorated with vines and backed by palms and potted plants. The handsomely gowned patronesses were seated in a reserved space at the left of the receiving party, while the guests were ushered around the hall, the centre of which was guarded by details from Co. C.

The presence of many military guests in full uniform and the handsome gowns of the ladies made a brilliant scene.

Members of Co. C were greeted with hearty applause as they filed past the receiving party and the cheering which followed was lead by Mr. Louis D. Gibbs.

The reception lasted until ten o'clock and was followed by dancing until one o'clock.

The success of the affair is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. William F. Garcelon, who several months ago agreed to assist Capt. Cormerais in staging a big military ball for the benefit of Co. C known years ago as the "Claffin Guards."

The Committee in charge comprised Mr. William F. Garcelon, chairman of the executive committee; Gen. James G. White, chairman of the reception committee; Col. Morton E. Cobb, chief usher; Mr. Harry L. Ayer, floor manager; Mr. Louis D. Gibbs, chairman of the publicity committee; Mr. Howard Emerson, chairman of the printing committee; Mr. Alfred H. Wing, chairman of the refreshment committee; ticket committee Mr. Edwin M. Rich-

Have you thought that the individual whom you may nominate to be the executor and trustee of your estate may not live to complete the work? And who will be his successor? Someone who may gain the confidence of your wife or children, but whom you in your better judgment would never choose for them.

The Trust Companies of Massachusetts were especially intended under the general laws of the Commonwealth to handle trust business of this character and they are clothed with every necessary power.

The Newton Trust Company has a perpetual charter. It is always at its office, never out of town, sick or otherwise unable to attend to the business of the estate when and as it should be, regardless of the duration of the trust.

The Newton Trust Company as your executor and trustee means continuous as well as responsible and interested service in behalf of your beneficiaries as long as you may desire. Wills may be drawn at our offices and filed in our vaults without charge.

Our officers cordially invite conference by appointment.

EDITORIAL

The announcement of the mayor's budget for the year does not carry near as much weight under present conditions as in years past, because it does not include all the expenses of the city as formerly. As a matter of fact the city government has already appropriated many thousands of dollars, which must be added to the total of the budget if the true financial condition of the city is to be learned. The budget is discussed in detail in our news columns.

The mayor's appointment of Mr. James A. Waters as one of the Democratic representatives on the board of registrars of voters, displaces Mr. Henry H. Fanning, whose old fashioned Democracy is evidently questioned by the present day and generation. Mr. Waters' participation in the Republican representative contest last September probably does not affect his standing as a party man. But aside from the political aspect, which as a Republican, we can only discuss from a half facetious standpoint, Mr. Waters should make an excellent city official. A man of fine character, Newton born and bred, and a lawyer by profession, the Mayor has exercised good judgment in making this nomination.

SERBIAN DISTRESS FUND

The distress of Serbia is much greater than was at first supposed, according to a report received by the Serbian Distress Fund in Boston yesterday from Dr. Edward Stuart, who has traveled through the invaded country where he found that multitudes of women and children are starving. One thousand cars of flour are needed to keep the people alive until the next harvest, he says, and the want of clothing is no less serious.

The Serbian Distress Fund at 555 Boylston street, Boston, is sending an average of eleven cases of clothing through the War Relief Clearing House in Paris each week. The French Line steamships carry the goods without charge and they are distributed through relief agencies in France to Serbians in the refugee camps. The American relief organizations have shipped a trainload of flour, salt and clothing into Serbia, and the Roumanian government will contribute 100 cars of flour, but Dr. Stuart reports that much larger shipments are immediately needed.

Less than one per cent. of the money contributed to the Serbian Distress Fund is consumed by overhead charges. All the goods are packed for shipment by volunteer workers. The urgent need of socks caused the Distress Fund to secure the agency for a knitting machine which they sell to persons willing to aid the Serbians at cost. A demonstrator teaches them to use the machine, and yarn is furnished at a reduced price. Many charitable women who have taken up the work are turning out large numbers of socks and caps for the needy of the devastated Balkan country.

TWENTY DAYS TO HUSTLE

Victor Victrola To Be Given As A Special Prize This Week.
New Bonus Vote Offered

The more than "77" varieties of weather which has been handed out during the past week did not in the least dampen the ardour of the hustlers in The Newton Graphic Automobile contest. The largest increase in the vote as published is to be seen today which shows that much effort is being directed toward securing the counters while the vote inducements are more valuable.

Win By Extended Votes

A careful perusal of the subscriptions secured by the various contestants may show that some who have subscribed earlier in the contest may now feel that they would be willing to make another payment. In order to allow the hustlers full value for this effort "Extended Subscriptions" will be honored with the same vote as though the full payment was made at MAJESTIC THEATRE—That always delightful favorite, William Hodge, in his new play success, "Fixing Sister" is now well launched in what seems to be one of his most prosperous engagements at the Majestic Theatre in Boston. This comedy drama of American types has proven one of the truly inviting novelties of Boston's current season and it bids fair to be as popular as was Mr. Hodge's "Man from Home" and "The Road to Happiness" in which two plays he starred successfully for ten years. His present play is one of New York life. All of its four acts are laid amid luxurious, fashionable scenes in metropolitan high society and one of its most crowded, picturesque tableaux presents a smart bridge party in progress. In this scene over thirty persons take part. The character portrayed by Mr. Hodge is that of an up-to-date American business man, equally at home in high finance or smart society, and yet with the thorough Americanism, the essential honesty, humor and shrewdness which made his Daniel Vorhees Pike in "The Man from Home" and his Jim Whitman in "The Road to Happiness" such supreme examples of the native type. As John Otis in "Fixing Sister," the unique Hodge impersonates a humorous, witty, but masterful American—the kind of gentleman that we are all proud of.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of William C. Collar late of Newton in said County, deceased:

WHEREAS a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Robert H. Gardiner, Mary Evelyn Cornwall Collar and Alice Averill Davis who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-seventh day of March A. D. 1916, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

MASSACHUSETTS NAUTICAL SCHOOL

American shipping is now entering upon a new and prosperous era, and the long-looked-for revival of our merchant marine is at hand. Never before in its history has the American merchant marine presented to the lad with an inclination for a seafaring life such unparalleled opportunities for advancement and achievement. More ships are being built in this country than ever before, there being under construction 230 vessels, aggregating 901,371 gross tons. Not only is every one of the old established yards of the country a hive of industry, with more orders than it can handle, but the incessant demand for new tonnage has led to the establishment of half a dozen new ship-building plants.

A recent decision of the Board of Supervising Inspectors, Steamboat-Inspection Service, makes it possible for an American boy to obtain a position as third officer at nineteen years of age; heretofore this was impossible for anyone under twenty-one years of age. The salary of a third officer is $80 per month, with subsistence.

In view of the remarkable opportunities afforded by the enlarged merchant marine, Massachusetts is very fortunate in being one of the two states that has in operation at the present time a well-equipped and successful nautical school. In the Massachusetts Nautical School, located at Boston, and now in its twenty-fourth year, the state has provided for the young man who desires to obtain a thorough practical and theoretical knowledge of seamanship, navigation, marine engineering and electricity. The school prepares boys of good character, good physique and ability for positions as officers in the merchant marine. The course of study occupies two years, and includes two summer cruises of about five months each.

An examination of candidates for admission to the school will be held on board the Ranger, Boston, on Saturday, March 25, 1916. An illustrated catalogue can be obtained by addressing the Commissioners of Massachusetts Nautical School, 2A Park street, Boston, Mass.

CENTRE APARTMENTS ARE NOW READY

The Newton Building Trust announces that its apartments in the block at the corner of Union street and Langley road, at the Centre, are now ready for occupancy.

The block covers the Goodwin building and the Scott building, the former on Langley road, and the other on Union street. The Goodwin building contains four suites while the Scott building contains six suites. Those in the first building have five rooms and bath, and those in the Scott building consist of four rooms, bath and large reception hall, which can be used as a den.

The two buildings have been completely rebuilt, and the outside is stucco with a Spanish tile roof effect. The halls throughout both houses are fireproof and have white tile floors and base, and are prettily papered with a burlap dado and leather paper above it. The halls are light and airy. All the bath-rooms have tiled floors, new modern up-to-date bath-room fixtures, and the walls are finished in white.

The rooms throughout the buildings are high studded, and unusually large. The reception halls and dining rooms have a plate shelf, and are finished in oak.

All the kitchens contain soapstone set tubs, white enamel refrigerator, a gas stove with white enamel trimmings, and a kitchen cabinet.

All the floors are well laid and smooth, and finished hardwood floors. No expense has been spared in the electrical fixtures and the papering of these houses in order to secure an attractive effect.

There is a stucco piazza for each suite, which piazza adjoins the dining-room and is reached through a door from said room.

There is ample closet room, these being not only in the chambers, but in various other parts of the buildings.

SHUBERT THEATRE—All the world loves the hero of daring deeds, of ready wit, of skill with a rapier, especially when he fights in the cause of true love. And as the embodiment of all these qualities of romance which have been too long lost to the stage since Sothern and Hackett ceased playing them, the brilliant young actor, Lou Tellegen, is, without question, the ideal. It is he who has brought back to us the good old days of the dashing, sparkling, romantic drama, and he has been accorded a warm welcome at the Shubert Theatre where he appeared the past week in "A King of Nowhere." But if we are indebted to Mr. Tellegen for these promised delights, we are no less indebted to Miss Jessie Bonstelle who discovered this sparkling play of the time of Henry VIII, who gave it its captivating and happy title, and who brought together, in support of the star, one of the best casts seen here in many a long day. "A King of Nowhere" is the work of J. and L. du Rocher Macpherson, and is presented by the Garrick Company of which Miss Bonstelle is the managing director.

LENTEN MEETINGS

The Woman's Interdenominational Committee of Newton of which Mrs. H. H. Powers is chairman, has arranged for a series of meetings on Wednesday afternoons at 3 o'clock during Lent on the theme "Influences of America." Miss Miriam L. Woodberry speaking at the Newtonville Methodist Church on March 22, "Upon the Native Stock," Miss Lucy Sturges at the First Church, Newton Centre on March 29, "Upon the Women of the Orient," Rev. Abraham Ribbany at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, on April 5, "Upon the Aliens" and Rev. G. Sherwood Eddy at Channing Church, Newton on April 12, "Upon Student Life in China." A social hour with tea will follow the addresses.

PARISH REUNION

The annual parish reunion of the Church of the Sacred Heart at Newton Centre is always one of the social events on the south side of the city and that held at Bray Hall on Thursday evening of last week proved no exception to the rule, fully a thousand persons attending the affair and enjoying the program of music, whist and dancing under the general direction of the pastor, Rev. Daniel C. Rioran and his assistant Rev. James F. Langan.

Whist was enjoyed by more than 200 people during the evening, after which an entertainment consisting of several musical acts was given. The grand march was led by Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Mrs. D. J. Callaghan, being followed by Daniel J. Callaghan, floor marshal, and Miss Alice Leary. There were more than 250 couples in line.

The whist winners were Miss Minnie Graham, first; Miss Catherine Nicholson, second; Miss W. Ahern, third; Mrs. Hunter, fourth; Miss C. Fader, fifth; Miss Jennie Chisholm, sixth; Miss Nora Mahoney, seventh, and Miss Ethel Tierney, eighth. The men's prizes were won by Wesley Pease, J. Bozame, M. Barr, C. Walsh, R. Comick, J. Hutton, G. Henrikus and L. Caruso.

Joseph Degnan was awarded the $25 in gold, Miss Ellen Coppinger the $10 gold piece and Miss Catherine Sullivan the $5 gold piece. The five-pound box of chocolates was won by Miss Florence Higgins.

The general committee comprised Daniel J. Callaghan, chairman; Anna Fitzgerald, Alfreda Dean, Mrs. Patrick Hurley, Josephine Ireland, Eileen O'Kane, Jennie Degnan, Laura Daily, Margaret Waters, Elvira Dean, Ella Condon, John Dwyer, Elizabeth Fitzgerald, Mary White, Cecelia Hooley, Martha Kincaire, Alice O'Kane, Margaret O'Neil, James Waters, Mrs. Hugh Burns, Mrs. D. J. McDonald, Mrs. J. P. Barry, Francis Higgins, William Waters, Paul Waters, Francis Mullen, Edward Linehan, Mrs. T. D. Sullivan, Mrs. O'Brien, Margaret Sullivan and Mrs. J. Flaherty.

The dance committee comprised Daniel J. Callaghan, floor marshal; John M. Fitzgerald, assistant floor marshal; Edward Linehan, floor director, and the following aids: Joseph Degnan, Denis J. Foley, John W. Foley, Winthrop Hammond, Daniel H. Hannigan, Joseph J. Hurley, John T. Hennrikus, John W. Hoar, Thomas J. King, Sr., Hugh Burns, William F. Klockner, Francis E. P. Levi, Jacob McGrath, Paul Waters, Henry Burke, James Waters, F. Moriarty, William W. Woner, Joseph Reynolds, Arthur Pearson, Thomas Holden, Joseph Vase, Henry Ann, Joseph Gallagher, Amory W. Moriarty, Walter A. O'Brien, F. Justin O'Kane, Thomas F. Reynolds, Herbert Simpkins, Robert A. Vachon, Lawrence M. Barry, Philip Kincaire, Dr. Marshall, Cornelius Ahenigan, William Waters, Alfred Howley, Bartholomew Kelley.

Miss Josephine Ireland headed the canny committee, assisted by a large corps of helpers and Mrs. Patrick Hurley and Mrs. John Kneeland, assisted by a large committee, were in charge of the refreshments.

LETTER FROM THE FRONT

The following letter received by Mr. G. M. Angier of Waban from a former soldier, gives some interesting glimpses of actual life at the front in the great European war:

Friday, January 28th, 1916.

I am keeping quite well and fit. Am just spending a few days in the firing line to pass the time away. It is fairly quiet here but a few miles away they are going it thick. The guns sound like a continuous roaring of thunder. Heaven only knows what it must be like there, the sound is bad enough.

We had a little excitement last night. Gas was reported on our right and of course we had to stand to with our gas helmets on, however, we had no effects of it am glad to say.

We have not had any serious work since Xmas as you supposed unless, of course, you mean our usual tour of the trenches, which we take quite as a matter of course.

Opinion favors a decisive battle within the next few months but of course we do not know what will happen.

The papers do not give much news as to the movements on this front, but I do not believe there is a lot to give. There is a lot of discussion in the papers about the new German "Fokker" aeroplanes. You may be sure I have seen one or two; they are beautiful machines, too, I must say. I remember seeing two of them being chased by one of ours several weeks ago and although they did not show any signs of fighting our "plane" had no chance of catching them. I don't think I have ever seen an aeroplane go so fast as these "Fokkers" went. They are a peculiar shaped machine entirely different from all others.

Perhaps you may be interested to know that this battery has the record for having the least number of casualties in the B. G. F. and we have been in action now for nearly six months. Who says "unlucky 13"?

The trenches are getting quite good again, it is not at all necessary to wear high boots now. We have a new dug out which is nearly completed. I don't think an aerial torpedo would get through the roof when it is finished.

Kindest regards,

Remain,

Very sincerely yours,

FLACK.

EL-FI OF THE TOY SHOP

Gorgeous costumes and many novel and elaborate scenic effects characterized the production of "El-Fi" of the Toy Shop, a spectacular musical farce, which was presented last evening in Players' Hall, West Newton, by Mr. John B. Rogers, under the auspices of the Women's Association of Central Church, Newtonville.

It was in three acts and each act was replete with good dancing, music and brilliant comedy, brimful of sparkling humor and rich in jest and song and story.

The first scene represented a woods near the "Toy Shop" and Mrs. Fred A. Mann, as "Bonnie" the girl who kept the toys was something of a scenic attraction herself, clever and versatile and has a difficult part which she sustained well, thru the entire performance.

The Toy Shop scene was one of the most entertaining features of the show. Mr. Donald Hill as "Tack Hammer," the Toy maker, played the part exceedingly well. Mrs. H. Belden Sly as "El-Fi" the "Parisian Doll," had the "star" role, and was altogether charming in a dainty costume of white with broad pink sash, and possessing a soprano voice of rare sweetness. She sang beautifully with Mr. Stewart Hill, who took the part of Lieut. Tinheart, the soldier doll. In the 2nd act, she and Mr. Ballard, "The Man in the Moon," made a decided impression on the audience. In the 3rd act, "When the Sun Goes Down in the Golden West," and also in the scene on the Milky Way where they sing a duet seated on the half moon amid the stars, and they were encored most enthusiastically.

Miss Ernestine Hunt as "Loosey" the rag doll, was a "cream." She wore a neat little blue gingham frock, with white bonnet, and in her loose-jointed efforts to remain standing, was so hilariously funny that the audience was kept in a continual state of merriment. She also did some clever singing and dancing in the sextette, "Nursery Rhymes" in the second act.

Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd, as "Ink Spot," a black doll was another of the fun makers and her dialect was excellent. Her "make up" perfect, and she was responsible for many of the laughs. Mrs. H. J. Nichols, a "laughing doll," Head, perched up in a box on the stage, was indescribably funny and when she laughed it was so contagious that every one else wanted to laugh with her.

Mrs. A. D. Salinger scored a great success in the role of a Fairy, and Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, as "the Witch," wonderfully clever and made up to perfection.

Mrs. Leland Powers was attractive in the role of a Japanese Doll, and Miss Margaret Strong was equally attractive as a Talking Doll. Mrs. Frank T. Wingate as "Peep," a "singing doll" did some very fine acting and singing.

Mr. Thomas Cotton was very clever in the role of Sandman, and made a hit in the opening number "The Slumber Boy" and in "The Sandman's Lullaby" in the last act. Mr. Frederick Corson, made a splendid Prince Lollypop, a gentleman doll, and Mr. A. O. Clark as Captain Barnacle, the sailor doll, was immensely comical and contributed greatly to the entertainment.

Mr. Chauncey W. Waldron and Mr. Robert Boyden as the clowns did their full share of funny "stunts."

The Jumping Jacks were Roger Salinger, Gerald Lackey, Stanley Kent, Kenneth Keppner, Emerson Hunt, Philip Hooper, Clifton Robinson, Winfield Robinson, Alfred Stafford, Raymond Leonard, Edwin Kidder.

Chaperones—Mrs. Frederick Hopkins, Mrs. John W. Byers.

Joan's Ark Animals also came to life in the toy shop when the fairy worked her magic wand and they included the following, who looked and acted the parts well: Belden Sly, Joel Loete, Robert Hopkins, Harrison Fairfield, Stanley Lyon, Perry Allen, Chaperone Mrs. H. H. Fairfield.

The China Dolls were the following eight attractive little girls all of whom sang and danced beautifully: Dorothy Hooper, Catherine Park, Catherine Tucker, Olive Kenny, Muriel Crain, Eleanor Lyon, Helen Shurl, Marjorie Putnam, Chaperone, Mrs. Albert M. Lyon.

The Paper Dolls were seven young ladies who wore variously colored costumes and were also very graceful dancers; they included the Misses Elizabeth Van Tassel, Eleanor Edwards, Helen Shumway, Gladys Keeler, Pauline Chellis, Ruth Pierce, Mabel Mason, Chaperone, Mrs. E. D. Van Tassel.

The live letter Blocks were, Constance Vose, Catherine Hanbury, Beatrice Smythe, Lavinia Smythe, Catherine Baker, Marjorie Tucker, and Jeanette Martin, with Miss Florence Crain as Chaperone, and they were excellently trained and scored a triumph when they marched before the footlights and by means of the lettered blocks, spelled word for word.

"There is so much good in the worst of us and so much bad in the best of us that it isn't wise for any of us to talk about the rest of us."

The bridesmaids were among the attractive features and included the Misses Dorothy Eaves, Evelyn Hegman, Elizabeth Gansse, Marjorie Holmes, Elinor La Bonte, Mabelle Whitney, Bertha Whitney, Dorothy Puffer, Elinor Putnam, Esther Wing, Ethel Wilson, Miss Dorothy Eaves, the soloist, sang beautifully and the chaperone was Mrs. W. H. Eaves.

Very pleasing to the audience was the dance of the Christmas Fairies composed of 44 charming little maidens of various ages dressed in snow white costumes, and they sang and danced so well that they were encored repeatedly. They included, Ruth Baker, Ruth Williams, Eileen Keith, Philippa Patey, Marion Johnson, Martha King, Marion Trowbridge, Virginia Farnum, Chelice Cook, Dorothy Allen, Martha Wilson, Francesca Barker, Marjorie Nichols, Betty Brown, Lucy Allen, Elizabeth Allen, Hazel McManis, Hazel Poore, Betty Lewis, Elizabeth Bennett, Marjorie Carr, Helen Eaves, Marion Sumner, Mary Elizabeth Edmonds, Barbara Zeigler, Betty Richardson, Frances Eddy, Jeanette Parker, Muriel Bassett, Gladys Kidder, Esther Stiles, Elsie Haase, Harriette Patey, Lucy Bloom, Dorothy Williams, Barbara Marvin, Marjorie Weir, Anna

Schipper, Barbara Baker, Katherine Auryansen, Virginia Gardiner, Dorothy Emery, Eleanor Daboll, Constance Lynde, Lotta Crowell.

Chaperones—Mrs. Chas. Davidson, Mrs. W. N. Shelton, Mrs. H. J. Nichols, Mrs. James D. Bennett, Mrs. C. A. Richardson, Mrs. Mervin Allen, Miss Mary Rolfe, Miss Isabel Blake.

The musical director was Mr. John V. Spaulding and the orchestral selections for the dancing and singing and during the intermissions was excellent.

The committee in charge of the entertainment, to whose efforts its success was in a great measure due included Mrs. Alfred E. Vose, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins, Mrs. W. H. Allen, Mrs. W. C. Boyden, Mrs. E. E. Wakefield, Jr., Mrs. Walter Kelley, Mrs. George A. Edmonds, Mrs. Horton S. Allen.

The ushers were Mr. William H. Carey, Mr. Edwin C. Vose, Mr. Mervin Allen, Mr. Lewis Puffer, Mr. Shepard Crain, Mr. Elsworth Snow.

The performance will be repeated this evening at 8.15 and tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2.15, so that all may have a chance to see this entertaining extravaganza.

Mayor and the total of $53,689 compares favorably with the 1915 expense of $63,000, the difference largely due to the item for Special repairs, which was over $54,000 last year and for which only $45,000 is requested this year.

The Police Dept. shows a substantial increase from $102,500 in 1915 to $107,515 in 1916, five men being requested by the Chief and approved by the Mayor. The Chief's salary is also increased to $2500.

The Fire Dept. figures a total of $98,835 as against a cost of $95,807 last year. Two new permanent men are requested and $8500 for new motor apparatus.

The sewer of weights has an increase of $200 in salary and a total appropriation of $1,845 as compared with $1,516 last year.

The Forestry Dept. jumps from $63,951 last year to $70,833, the cause of the increase not being quite clear.

The Health Dept. increases from $43,402 to $45,127, mostly due to the item for care of disease.

In the Street Dept. the Mayor leaves out the item of $43,000 for resurfacing streets, making a total of $304,401 comparable with the sum of $281,694 in 1915. The Street Commissioner is given a salary of $3500, one foreman raised to $1500, the superintendent of sewers raised to $1400. The maintenance of sewers is fixed at $12,000 and of maintenance of drains at $13,000, both being an increase of about $1000. Street Maintenance is placed at $55,000 about $6000 increase over last year, the collection of ashes jumps from $25,800 to $28,500. Street sprinkling costs $32,000, street lighting jumps from $58,571 to $63,000 and $14,303 is requested for equipment. It also costs $4350 to allow the summer half holiday on Saturday and to give the city laborers time to vote at elections and primaries.

In the Charity Dept. the city physician's salary is increased from $1000 to $1500. Outside Aid increases from $6481 to $9600, a Ford truck is approved and the total expense figured at $46,488 as compared with $43,966 in 1915.

The school department expense is $404,509 as against $392,328 last year. In the Library Dept. the total is $33,100 as compared with $31,471, about $900 being in the salary item.

There is a large increase in the Playground Dept. where $27,315 is asked as against $19,445 expended last year. $1700 more is wanted for supervision, $600 more for skating, and over $5000 for construction purposes.

Water Dept. items total $65,335 as compared with $92,890 in 1915 altho last year's figures include the sum of $25,828 expended for new mains for which there is no similar item the current year. Even with this item eliminated the department asks for $1700 less than the cost for 1915 and the 1916 figures include the sum of $1300 for the purchase of a truck.

The budget has been referred to the Finance committee and will probably be reported in about a month.

petition of the Texas Co. to locate tanks of 17,500 gallons each on land near the Hospital had been considered quite carefully by his committee and the plans had also been made satisfactory to the Hospital authorities and the permit was then granted. The board adjourned at 9:22 P. M.

BODY FOUND

The body of Ex-Mayor Thomas F. Kearns of Waltham was found in the Charles River, wedged in among the rocks near the dam in the rear of L. C. Chase's factory, about one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A workman in the employ of the Chase Co. while looking from the window saw what looked like the form of a man lying in the rocks and called the attention of other employees to it, with the result that the police were notified and Chief John Gilman of the Metropolitan Park Commission and a squad of officers went to the spot.

The rescuers had their work cut out for them but after a half hour's work proved successful and the remains were pulled ashore by means of a rope. It was then taken in charge by Medical Examiner G. O. West, who was early on the scene.

Cuff links marked "J. F. K." and a key which was found in one of the pockets, the key to the Ex-Mayor's private office in the Waltham City Hall, helped make the identification without a doubt.

Chief Gilman stated that he believed that the body was wedged under the dam at the rear of the Chase mill when the first search was made and that the unusual amount of water which resulted from the breaking up of the ice above the dam forced the body from its position.

It is believed that Mr. Kearns walked or fell into the river while in a delirium. He was ill with the grippe on the day of his disappearance, with a temperature above the 100 mark. He persisted in remaining at work.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

It is expected that 200 members and guests will be present at the Third Annual Banquet and Ladies' Night of the Newton Board of Trade at the Woodland Park Hotel next Monday evening.

President William J. Cozens will preside and the guests of the evening will be Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Hon. Channing H. Cox, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

A most interesting program has been arranged by the entertainment committee of which Mr. John W. Byers is chairman, and the affair promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the Board.

RECEPTION TO HOSTESSES

Nearly 200 ladies from the various Newtons and Watertown were present at the reception given by the Woman's Auxiliary to the Newton Y. M. C. A. to those who were hostesses of the delegates to the recent Boys' Conference, last Monday afternoon in the Association parlors.

In the receiving line were Mrs. I. U. Townsend, president of the Auxiliary who was assisted by Mrs. C. D. Kepner, Mrs. F. W. Ganse, and the chairmen of the various committees of the different churches. Mrs. William C. Gordon and Mrs. Laurens MacLure poured.

A pleasing entertainment consisting of selections by the Mandolin Club of the Eliot Guild, solos by James Townsend and piano selections by Miss Emily Blaisdell were well received.

The committee in charge comprised Mrs. W. L. Sampson, chairman, Mrs. W. B. Wolcott, Mrs. Edgar Horne, Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell, Miss Helen Partridge, Mrs. F. H. Franklin, Mrs. J. W. Cone, Mrs. Walter R. Forbush and many others.

LADIES' NIGHT

The ninth annual Ladies Night of the Immanuel Associates of the Immanuel Church was held last Thursday evening in the Church Parlors, a goodly number of the members and their friends being present.

Following the banquet, which was served to "the King's taste," a most pleasing entertainment, consisting of readings by Miss Myrta O. Bosworth and piano selections by Mr. Hopper, was enjoyed by all present.

Among those present were Theodore H. Morton, Miss Florenza L. Chamberlain, Samuel A. Gardner, Miss Georgia M. Winslow, Harold Moore, William D. Ward, Miss Louise F. MacCallum, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cady, Miss Ruth T. Chubbuck, Harry B. Ward, Miss Annie Youatt, Edgar E. Libby, Miss Marjorie Steward, William C. Deuschle, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Johnson, Miss Henrietta Damon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Messrs. Henry Collins, John I. Van Buskirk and C. H. Graves of the Men's League waited on tables as has been their custom for nearly every such occasion.

BETWEEN THE ACTS

A capacity house witnessed the Fourth Annual Play given by the Stearns Senior Athletic Association last Monday evening in the Stearns School Hall.

"Between The Acts," a comedy in three acts, was presented in a manner befitting professionals, and the clever acting of the "would be's," coupled with the many extremely funny and peculiar situations which were constantly arising, were quick to be appreciated by the large audience.

That the evening needed the efficient coaching of Mr. Lester M. Lane.

The cast included William T. Dalton, May Fisher, William J. Doherty, John W. Blakeney, John E. Mahar, Myrtle S. Weldon, and Julia F. Quigley.

The Entertainment Committee comprised George Bradley, Chairman; John Berquist, Stage Manager; Paul Champagne, Jr., Stage Properties and Costumes; Louis Fried, Advertising Manager.

The ushers were Francis Murphy, Head Usher; Harold Doherty, Edward Hanlon, Dennis Shea, Carl Burns, William Marchant, Samuel Shelman, Albert Lacroix, Francis Gilligan.

The program was printed by L. Fried and S. Shelman. A Lacroix was the electrician.

During the evening a pleasing program was given by Quinan's Union Orchestra, W. J. Quinan, Director, which also played for the dancing which followed until midnight.

The play will be given each Tuesday evening until April 4, inclusive.

Carman's Specialty Shoe Shop of 162 Tremont street, Boston, are to open another ladies' shoe shop at 126 Tremont street. Mr. Carman will continue to do business at his present location where he has served his customers for the past seven years. Owing to the large increase and steadily growing business at 162 Tremont street, Mr. Carman was obliged to open another store and he will be pleased to serve his customers as he has done in the past.

Mr. Carman will add the famous La France shoes, which need no introduction as to its style, service and quality.

THE LAYMEN'S RETREAT

The men of Newton Council K. of C. were given a splendid opportunity to learn in detail about the week-end retreats which of late have become so popular among the men of New England. An illustrated lecture was given by Fr. George, C. P., Retreat Director of the Blessed Gabriel's Monastery, Brighton, Mass., at Dennison Hall, Newtonville, Tuesday evening. The hall was well filled with men eager to be enlightened regarding one of the greatest movements in the Catholic Church in New England.

The Pope of Retreats

The first picture thrown on the screen was that of St. Paul of the Cross, the founder of the Passionist Order. Fr. George eulogized this Saint and declared that he was one of the greatest saints of modern times, a great lover of men; the Church sings of him: "O Hunter of Souls." Even during his lifetime the order numbered several foundations. The speaker said that all the Passionist monasteries are open to men who wish to withdraw for a time from the cares of the world and spend a few days in the quiet and solitude of monastic surroundings. However, at Blessed Gabriel's the retreats are conducted systematically and on a larger scale.

The picture of Pope Pius X. was shown and Fr. George told of the great works done by this saintly Pontiff for the welfare of the Church. Among the many movements blessed and fathered by His Holiness, whose motto was "To Restore All Things in Christ" the retreat movement received many blessings and much encouragement; in fact, repeatedly did he give his blessing to this apostolic work, so much so that on one occasion he said with great feeling: "I wish to be the Pope of Retreats."

The Cardinal of Retreats

"Whilst indeed" said Fr. George, "we look upon the Pope of happy memory, Pius X. as the 'Pope of Retreats' we are happy in justly calling our own beloved Cardinal, 'The Cardinal of Retreats.' Cardinal O'Connell is the founder of retreats in New England. His constant interest in the retreat work ever since its inception in Boston and his repeated visits to the men while on retreat are more evidences of this untiring interest in the men of his jurisdiction."

Necessity of Retreats

The priest told how in the United States a generous response had been given to the retreat movement, and many houses had been opened during the past decade of years. The principal reason for the success of these retreats he said is their very necessity. "In the fever and agitation of modern life, the need of meditation and spiritual repose impresses itself on the Christian mind." As His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, said on the evening of the dedication of the Monastery of Blessed Gabriel, "The world is always at war. Men are in the heat of conquest for money and gain and honor. Commerce, trade, barters, even when controlled by civil law are sure to write hard lines and deep furrows on the countenance, but colder and crueler masks are the hearts within, unless a higher law prevails, unless the wonderful words of Christ reach the ear: 'What will it profit a man if he gain the whole world and suffer the loss of his own soul?' Men will grow hard-hearted and selfish and semi-barbarous unless above their eyes a higher standard is erected. The modern world needs a new Knight, a secret of repose, quiet thoughtfulness and peaceful retirement. In the Middle Ages, when the older civilization of paganism had run its course and failed, the Monastery was a beacon light that blazed from the hill tops of Europe and summoned men to lay down their arms for a while and soften their hearts to the sentiments which created Christian civilization. Within the quiet walls of these spiritual fortresses, another and far greater battle was fought out—the conquest of man by himself—and a new Knight, the Christian Knighthood, arose, not to give battle but to bring peace."

In the hole solitude of the monastery the layman tastes that peace that surpasses all understanding. Away from the distractions of the world he kneels in the presence of God and realizes the great purpose of life and resolves on the means of attaining his eternal destiny.

Apostles of Catholicity

The world today needs men of sturdy character, men who live up to their convictions. The lecturer told of the old days in New England when there were but a few Catholics here and the sterling character of the men and women who preserved the Catholic Faith and handed it down to their children. He told of the privations and hardships they endured and their splendid Christian spirit which was a credit to them and an example for the men and women of today to remember and follow. It is through these retreats that the Catholic laymen become more and more enlightened in matters of his religion and by knowing his religion he appreciates it more and influences for good the conduct of all who came in contact with him. Fr. George said that our age is an age demanding much apostolate work among the laity and the retreats are conducive in making of all who take part in them Apostles of Catholicity.

Fr. George explained in detail the various exercises of the retreat: Confessions, Prayer, attendance at Holy Mass, Recreation, Walks, Reading, etc., which go to make up the round of pleasant and interesting duties performed by the retreatants from Friday night till Monday morning. He declared that all the men who have experienced a retreat are unanimous in declaring it the healthiest and happiest experience of their lives.

In conclusion Fr. George extended a cordial invitation to all to go to the Monastery and taste of the benefits and blessings of a spiritual retreat.

The Chairman of the evening was Maj. Patrick F. O'Keefe, President of the Laymen's Retreat Guild.

At the Showroom of McKenney & Waterbury Co., Franklin street, corner Congress, Boston, there is on exhibition the grandest display of Electric and Gas Lighting Fixtures, shown in parlors, all lighted to give desired effect to meet any requirements for homes and public buildings. You are welcome at the exhibition.

BY WALTER C. WARDWELL,
AUCTIONEER,
Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge,
MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Patrick H. Haggerty to Daniel L. Hunt, dated January 22, 1915, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Book 3943 Page 78, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold in accordance with the terms of said mortgage deed, at public auction in Boston (said sale will be held at 18 Tremont Street, Room No. 914) on Monday the third day of April, 1916, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in that part of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, called Newtonville, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the Northwest corner of the same on Lowell Street, (now Lowell Avenue) at land now of W. H. Eaves, or late heirs of J. W. Carleton, thence Southeasterly (described in said mortgage "Southwesterly") on said "Eaves" land 122.80 feet to land now of L. Cooley, or late of one Haven, thence Northeasterly (described in said mortgage "Northwesterly") on said Cooley land 54.75 feet; thence Northeasterly on other land formerly of the grantor and now of E. H. Lowell, in a line parallel with the first named land 116.10 feet, more or less, to said Lowell Street, and thence Southwesterly on said Lowell Street, 54 feet to the point of beginning, containing 6919 square feet, more or less, according to a plan made by Smith and Sanborn, dated Sept. 4, 1875.

Said premises will be sold subject to mortgage of twenty-seven hundred dollars and accrued interest to the Whitman Savings Bank, to any and all unpaid taxes and other municipal assessments, if any; and to the restrictions referred to in said mortgage deed. $200.00 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; other terms at sale.

WILLIAM V. THOMPSON,
Assignee of said mortgage.

At the close of the entertainment the orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

SILVER WEDDING

The celebration of their silver wedding anniversary by Mr. and Mrs. William Cushing Bamburgh, at their home 117 Mt. Vernon street, was attended by a very large gathering of friends on Saturday, March fourth. The house was beautifully decorated with a profusion of palms and ferns and many gifts of roses and other flowers from friends far and near. Nearly two hundred friends made a beaten path to the house during the hours of the reception and testified to their regard for the couple who had spanned the quarter century in their family life. During the evening the rooms were crowded with guests, many young people being present and enjoying dancing from eight until eleven, an orchestra of violin, cello and piano rendering music which gave great pleasure to dancers and reception guests alike. Throughout the reception refreshments were served by the Misses Mary, Esther and Marguerite Bamburgh and Miss Billie Anderson.

The host and hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Charles Bamburgh and Master William Cushing Bamburgh, Jr. They were the recipients of a large number of handsome gifts, and telegrams and letters poured in throughout the day. Among the many who paid their respects to the couple were: Lieutenant and Mrs. Milton P. Roberts of Medford; Mr. and Mrs. Harrie C. Farnsworth of Hyde Park; Mrs. Warner Marshall, Mr. Hubert G. Ripley; Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Nagle; Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Lyon; Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Schipper; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Byers; Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Mann; Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Wiekie; Dr. and Mrs. C. NEWTON CENTRE BIRD CLUB

The activities of the Newton Centre Bird Club are well under way and just as soon as the weather permits, a series of bird walks will be inaugurated. The annual meeting of the Newton Centre Bird Club was recently held and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. C. B. Wilbur; vice-president, Mrs. Sidney Porter; secretary, Mrs. Waldo L. Peavey, 70 Chase street, Newton Centre; treasurer, Mrs. George C. Ewing; directors, Mrs. Frank Edmunds, Mrs. G. A. Holmes, Miss Emily Young, Mrs. W. T. May, Mrs. L. C. Smith, Mrs. Morton E. Cobb.

One of the fields of activity of the Newton Centre Bird Club is in the way of giving lectures relating to bird life. One lecture of this nature was given February 17th at the Mason School Hall by Mr. John B. May, of Waban, who took for his subject "Our Neighbors the Birds." The lecture was well attended and was illustrated by means of large sketches and drawings of birds.

The next lecture under the auspices of the Newton Centre Bird Club will be a stereopticon lecture by Mr. Walter K. Putney at Bray Hall, March 15th at 4 P. M. Mr. Putney is a most interesting lecturer and it is hoped that a large attendance will be present. The committee having charge of the bird walks is arranging for a series of interesting walks, the dates of which will be announced later.

The Newton Centre Bird Club cordially invites into its membership any one interested in bird life. A children's department has been organized and special work is being planned for the children.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The Entertainment Committee added a new feature this month to the club calendar by providing a Sunday afternoon concert, the first being held last Sunday, with a large and appreciative audience. The artists were Mr. Albert Stoessel, violinist and Miss Florence Jepperson, contralto, and they were accompanied by Miss Edna Stoessel and Mrs. Minnie Longley.

A thoroughly enjoyable program was given and both artists were enthusiastically encored. Mr. Stoessel played some of his own compositions and closed with Beethoven's Minuet as an encore. Miss Jepperson has a rich full contralto voice which was greatly enjoyed.

After the program, tea was served in the dining room with Mrs. F. E. Stanley, Mrs. C. N. Young, Mrs. R. C. Emery and Mrs. L. B. Hall pouring. Another concert will be given on the afternoon of March 19th.

MR. McMULLEN DEAD

The funeral of Nicholas McMullen, a life long and well-known resident of Newton, whose death occurred last Thursday, after a few weeks' illness of blood poisoning, took place from his late residence, 108 Adams street, on Saturday afternoon at 2.30, funeral services being conducted by the Rev. Fr. James F. Kelly of the Church of Our Lady, Newton.

The deceased was a member of the Holy Name Society, M. C. O. F. No. 60, and Nonantum Aerie, F. O. E., delegations from these orders being present at the funeral.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Patrick Mullen, Edward Nally, Edward Murphy, Hugh Drew, Frank Travis and Daniel Quinn.

Mr. McMullen is survived by a widow, eight children, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Murnaghan.

Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

CITY HALL

The Board of Health has granted a permit to the Hood Milk Company to sell its products in this city from a certain number of approved dairy farms in western Massachusetts.

Street Commissioner Stuart opened bids Wednesday for the usual tar concrete and artificial stone work to be done during the year. There were two bidders for the tar work, Simpson Bros. Corporation and Hervey F. Armington, both of Boston, the Simpson bid being 64 cents per yard for new sidewalks and the Armington bid, 67 cents. The 1915 contract was on the basis of 58 cents. The contract has been awarded to Simpson Bros. There were four bidders on the artificial stone work, as follows, H. F. Armington, 14 1-2 cents for sidewalk, 60 cents for curbing, O. A. Theurer, 15 cents on sidewalk, 65 cents for curbing, Simpson Bros. Corp., 14 1-2 sidewalk, 69 cents curbing and Warren Bros. Co., 17 cents sidewalk, 86 cents curbing. The contract has been awarded to H. F. Armington.

CHANNING ALLIANCE

The women of the Newton churches are invited to a meeting of the Channing Alliance in the Channing Church parlors on Tuesday, March 14th at 2.30 P. M.

Professor Emily G. Balch, who is the head of the Economics' department of Wellesley College, will speak on "What is Peace and What Does it Cost?" Professor Balch is a member of the Boston City Planning Board and was a member of the International Conference of the Hague after which she with Miss Jane Adams, wrote, "The Women at the Hague."

Her broad training in Economics and her large problems in humanitarian problems make her eminently fitted to speak on peace from this unusual point of view.

EFFICIENCY EXPERT APPOINTED

In accordance with the vote passed at a recent meeting of the board of aldermen authorizing the employment of an efficiency expert to make a study of the various city departments with a view to showing wherein a saving in departmental expense might be made, Mayor Childs, on Tuesday engaged Edwin A. Cottrell of Wellesley for this work. Mr. Cottrell is very highly recommended for such a position and will begin his duties April 1st. The sum appropriated for the carrying on of this work was $1500, and it is thought that the result will be a saving of much money to the city.

N. H. S. HOCKEY

By virtue of its win over Arlington last Friday night, Melrose High is now tied with Newton for the championship of the Interscholastic League. The deciding game will be played at the Boston Arena tonight at eight o'clock. This contest, which marks the grand climax of the school season, should prove the best of the series. Melrose is a strong favorite for the championship, especially since the Newton team has just lost the services of Captain Burkhardt, who recently left this school. Nevertheless, the orange and black is certain to put up a great battle for the league honors.

NEW OFFICE OF HENRY W. SAVAGE, INC.

An attractive office has been opened in the Nonantum Building, Newton Corner, by the real estate firm of Henry W. Savage, Inc., who will conduct a general brokerage business in the Newtons, Watertown, and Belmont. This is the largest real estate firm in New England and has been established since 1840. The office is in charge of Mr. W. Spencer Caple.

A BENEFIT FOR WAR ORPHANS

The French classes of Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, will give Moliere's "Le Malade Imaginaire" at the school Wednesday, March 22, at 8 P. M. Proceeds for War Orphans. Any contributions to the cause may be sent to the Seminary in care of the French Department.

LITTLE YELLOW DAFFODIL

Sitting by the mill,
Watched the blue water flowing by.
When all at once what should she spy
But a pretty butterfly.

Butterfly, butterfly, come to me,
But he flew right by to a near-by tree,
She called again, but all in vain,
But the butterfly would not come back again.

Another came and sucked the dew
From out her little cup,
He drank his fill and then flew up
To a branch in the old apple tree,
She called "come back, come back to me,"
But he stayed on the branch on the old apple tree.

CREDITABLE WORK

The Newton Police force deserves considerable credit for its recent good work in rounding up a number of thieves and crooks who have been operating in this city for some time past. August Scharfe, known as Carl Dunkel and as "Butch Shafer" a well-known crook from New York was recently taken at the Woburn Police Court after he had been discharged by Judge Johnson for a theft in Winchester. The police claim that Scharfe is concerned in the recent robberies at the residence of Mr. Andrew Y. Sharpe on Bradford road, Newton Highlands, at the residence of Mrs. Abbie M. Guild on Woodward street, Newton Highlands and at the house of Prof. B. G. Wilder on Waban Hill road, Chestnut hill. All of these breaks showed that a peculiarly marked chisel had been used for the purpose of forcing the windows, and this chisel was found on Scharfe's accomplice in the Winchester case. He is now held under bond for appearance in the Police Court, where he will undoubtedly be held for the Grand Jury.

The police have also taken into custody Walter O. Bishop, whom they believe has done considerable porch climbing work in this city and elsewhere, during the past two years. They expect to prove that this man was concerned in the breaks at the homes of Mr. L. D. Towle, on Franklin street, Mrs. H. E. Cobb on Bellevue street, Mr. J. L. Richards on Kirkstall road, Mr. F. O. Stanley on Waverley avenue and Mr. W. C. Safford on Chestnut street, West Newton.

Inspector O'Halloran has just returned from Newark, N. J., bringing with him Frederick R. Denning, who is wanted for larceny of $1100 from two Nonantum women on a land deal.

MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN

A Granite Memorial Drinking Fountain is to be erected in Storrs Square, Braintree, Mass. by N. Eugene Hollis in memory of his wife, the late Annie Storrs Veazie Hollis.

While this fountain is for horses and dogs, it will be supplied with automatic fountains for adults and children, and in the center will be a bird bath. The main part of the work will be cut from one block of granite weighing 20 tons, which will be drilled and excavated so that it may be plumbed according to the latest approved methods.

Mrs. Hollis was always a devoted lover of dumb animals, and this will be a fitting tribute to her memory.

The contract for this work has been awarded to the Henry Murray Company, 21 Arlington street, Boston, by Mrs. Lucia Farrington, who is a daughter of N. Eugene Hollis, residing at Vista avenue, Auburndale. This Company has been established since 1870, and are well known throughout the country for their high grade of work. They recently erected a new plant at Brighton, opposite Faneuil Station, which is the best equipped plant of its kind in New England. With their increased facilities they will be able to give their customers every advantage, both in price and quality of workmanship.

WHIST AND DANCE

A successful Whist and Dance was held in Catholic Union Hall, Newton, on Monday evening by the Clafin Guard Veteran Corps when an enjoyable evening was spent. The winners at whist were, ladies' first, Miss Mary Moriarty; second, Mrs. Charles Barrows; third, Miss Mary Hanney; consolation, Miss Hanon. Gentlemen's first, Geo. Rogers; second, Benjamin Marchant; third, Arthur Wright; consolation, Mr. D. J. McNamara. The committee in charge were T. L. Dolan, A. H. Randall, J. Sullivan, D. F. Sullivan, D. McNamara. A committee from the Corps has completed arrangements for the installation of officers Saturday evening, March 11, at the Architectural Club, 16 Somerset street, Boston, at 7.30 P. M. The installation will be held jointly with the Cambridge City Guard Veteran Corps of Cambridge, the installing officers will be from the Cambridge Corps.

Mayor Childs of Newton and Mayor Rockwood of Cambridge, both members of the Corps are expected to be present, and an enjoyable evening is anticipated. Any past member of the Clafin Guard is invited to join the Corps.

Come and meet your old comrades.

SCHOOL DEBATORS LOSE

The debating teams of the Newton High School were defeated last Friday evening in the Interscholastic Triangular Debating League contests held at Brookline, Somerville and Newtonville on the subject "Resolved that compulsory military training should be adopted in the High Schools." The local team had the affirmative of the subject at Somerville with Charles C. Noble '16, Ralph Emery '16, and John S. Clapp '17, as principals, and Bartlett W. Boyden '16, as alternate, the home team being awarded the victory by the judges. At Newtonville, the local team, H. Stuart Daniels '16, Merrill J. Campbell '16, and Geoffrey Baker '16, took the negative side and Brookline was awarded the decision by the judges, Messrs. John H. Higgins, M. E. Fitzgerald and Edward N. Manning. The entertainment was furnished by the Brookline Chorus.

At Brookline, Somerville, taking the affirmative side was given the decision by the judges, one of whom was Alderman E. G. Hapgood of Newton Highlands.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The regular five weeks' reports were given out Tuesday at the close of school.

A dance was held in the gymnasium last Friday afternoon. Spalding's Orchestra furnished the music, and, despite the storm, the affair was well attended.

Wednesday morning, March 8, all the classes assembled in the hall. After the usual devotional exercises, Mr. Adams read aloud a letter recently written to him by one of the most prominent men of the city. This letter expressed the wish that the boys and girls of the high schools would try to conduct themselves in the electric cars in a manner less troublesome to the other passengers. Mr. Adams said that he believed that the annoyance was caused by a very few thoughtless pupils, and reminded the students that the thoughtless actions of a few very often reflect upon the school in general. At the close of the exercises Mr. Adams, upon request of the acting captain of the hockey team, urged the pupils to support the team in the final game at the Boston Arena tonight.

The proceeds of the History Carnival given in the Gymnasium two weeks ago, amounting to about seventy-five dollars, are being used for the benefit of the History Library.

The regular meeting of the English Club was held in the hall at the close of school Friday, March 3. A very popular program, consisting of story-telling, was presented by Miss Ethel Bragg.

The first call for baseball candidates has been issued. The battery officers are holding practice in the Gymnasium every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon from quarter of two until half past four. The first day about fifteen pitching candidates and a half dozen catchers reported for practice.

CLAFIN GUARD

There seems to be a disposition among a few in this city to ignore and drop the local name of our Newton Military Co., which was organized Oct. 10th, 1870, the local name being adopted in compliment to our late respected townsman, Gov. Clafin, who authorized the formation of the Company.

It has borne this name now, for Forty Six years and has performed its duty to the state, and the Federal Government whenever called upon. Notably, the great Boston fire in 1872, and its service in the Spanish war.

I realize that at times in the past, unfortunately the Company was not much of a credit to Newton or the name which it bore, but today, through the ability and persistent work of its present commander, Capt. Cormerais it is an honor to our city, and should be known locally, as the Clafin Guard, and encouraged by our citizens.

It is of course well known that neither the State nor Federal Government recognize any local names, and our Company here in Newton is known officially, as Co. C 5th Regiment Infantry M. V. M.

There are a number of companies in the Militia that adhere and are proud of their old local names, such as the Boston Light Infantry, The Charlestown Cadets, The Charlestown City Guard, The Boston Fusiliers, The Boston Lancers, The Roxbury Horse Guards and many others too numerous to mention. The same applies to other States, and also to foreign countries, the name Grenadier Guards and the Coldstream Guards of London, England are doubtless familiar to most of us.

The Clafin Guard Veteran Association, composed of past officers and men of our Newton Company are interested in the active Company and ready at all time to assist them in every way possible. They are proud of the name "Clafin Guard" and I feel sure they would unanimously endorse all I have said.

The Company will I suppose, celebrate in a fitting manner, four years from next October, their Fiftieth Anniversary, and let it be of the "Clafin Guard" and not Co. C 5th Regt., as the company was originally Co. L 1st Regt. and it would not be the fiftieth anniversary of Co. C 5th Regt.

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it cost; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

DEATH OF MR. MORGAN

Mr. Edward Eugene Morgan, a resident of Auburndale for the past 48 years, and secretary of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons for 40 years, died on Tuesday at his home on Central street, after an illness of ten weeks. Mr. Morgan was born at Sedgewick, Me., Jan. 19, 1844, and was over 72 years of age. He has been engaged in business in Boston as an accountant for about fifty years. He held a most unusual record for faithfulness and efficiency as secretary of Dalhousie Lodge, having been absent but three meetings during his service of forty years. He was also a member of Newton Royal Arch Chapter, Omar Grato and of the Eastern Star.

Mr. Morgan is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Fred E. Sargeant and Miss Ethel E. Morgan, both of Auburndale.

Funeral services will be held at Masonic Temple, Newtonville, tomorrow afternoon at 2.15 P. M.

Death to Snapdragons.

Though there is doubt if any dragons are living, snapdragons continue to die, especially if overwatered. One reader states she watered and tended her plants carefully, yet they turned yellow, died, and seemed to have no lateral roots when removed, coming out of the soil with little effort on the part of the puller. This clearly indicates what is known as stem rot, wholly due to too much water.

One day his Grandfather in paying the family a visit, saluted him after the manner of fond Grandpa by saying: "Well, Kenrick, are you the good boy you always are today?" "Yes, I am, Grandpa," came the reply emphatic and prompt. Then climbing up his chair and casting a furtive look around whispered in his Grandpa's good ear, "But nobody knows it down here!"

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Boytton Lodge No. 20, United Order of Independent Odd Ladies, celebrated the 26th Anniversary of its organization last week on Tuesday evening, in Dennison Hall, Newtonville.

A fine program was presented, which was preceded by a turkey supper served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Clarence Fogwill, assisted by a most efficient committee of lady members of the Lodge.

The tables were decorated attractively in pink, with a basket of pink roses as a centerpiece on each table, and a pink napkin ring, inscribed "Boytton, 1916", was placed at each cover.

Following the dinner a reception was tendered one of the members, Mrs. J. Q. A. Wetmore, who has reached next to the highest position an odd lady can hold; that of Right Worthy Lady Governor. She was assisted in receiving by the Senior Representative Mrs. Bertha Kent, and Noble Lady of the Lodge, Miss Florence Cary.

The hall was appropriately decorated with the national colors, and the receiving party stood under an illuminated arch twined with asparagus fern interwoven with red and white roses.

Mrs. Wetmore was presented with many beautiful gifts in recognition of the love and esteem in which she is held, among them being a huge bouquet of roses from Boytton Lodge.

The ushers were Sisters, Breck, Little, Preston, Sweet, Plaisted, Glendon, Rine, Smith, and Cory.

The reception and entertainment which followed were under the able direction of Mrs. Beardsley, of the M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company. The entertainment consisted of selections by the orchestra, assisted by members of the Concert Company.

The program included a cornet solo by Miss Swain, which was greatly enjoyed; a violin solo rendered beautifully by Mr. Paul Revere Knight, 1st violin, of Knickerbocker Orchestra; soprano solos and whistling solos by Helen Pratt Kelley, pianologues by the talented entertainer, Edna Knight, and excellent readings, by Bertha Everett Morgan, teacher of elocution at Mt. Ida School.

Many guests were present from adjoining towns among them being Mrs. Emily R. Osborne, Supreme Lady, of Roxbury, Mrs. J. J. Burroughs, Supreme Secretary of Charlestown; Mrs. Ellen Bart, Past Supreme Lady of Worcester, and nearly every Lodge in this jurisdiction was represented. The enjoyable affair closed with dancing.

POLITICAL NOTES

Mr. Philip M. Clark of Cambridge has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for district attorney for Middlesex County. Mr. Clark was the Progressive candidate for this office three years ago when the present Democratic incumbent, Mr. Corcoran was elected. Other Republican candidates in the field are former District Attorney John J. Higgins and Senator Nathan A. Tufts of Waltham.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—The date for closing the engagement of "Daddy Long Legs" at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, has been definitely fixed. The final performance will be given on Saturday night, March 25. At that time this fascinating comedy will have rounded out a conspicuously successful nine weeks' run in Boston and no attraction offered in the Hub in several years has been more enthusiastically or more substantially received. Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton in the principal roles of the comedy have in no small measure contributed to the wonderful vogue it has attained. Mr. Miller, always a delight in whatever role he undertakes, is ideal as Jervis Pendleton, the bachelor philanthropist, and Miss Chatterton, through her ingratiating portrayal of the orphan girl, has added Boston playgoers to the list of sincere admirers she has surrounded herself with in all parts of the country. The matinee days are Wednesday and Saturday.

YE OLD FOLKS' CONCERT

The program was in two parts, and included the opening chorus "Praise Ye Father" by the choir; "Blue Hill" and "Dearest Spot on Earth," by the choir, assisted by a "Counter Synger," "Dost Thou Love Me Sister Ruth," by "Mistress Sunlight Merry Twinkle," and "Master Williecome Curlylocks Fogwill," "Ye Yankee Sleigh Ride," by Lyfmaclus Cucurbita Whitney and Choir; "David's Lamentation" and "Ode on Science," by the choir; Recitations by Miss Penelope Ruth Garland, the noted reader from Boston; a 2 Part Tune (known in these days as a duet), by "Ye Parson and Drusilla Karenhappuch Burrisson; Ye "Spirit of '76" by Master Francis Washington, Uncle Hezekiah and Grand-sire Withum Travis; "Strike the Cymbal" by Sister Drusilla Burrisson and choir; a Worldly song, "Within a Mile of Edinboro Town," by the popular soprano, Miss Sapphira Melodious Jacobs, and the management found it necessary to warn the young gallants in the audience not to "wyneke at" the prima-donna, as she was liable to giggle. "The Trials and Tribulations of Peter," by the men and women singers, "Hurrah for Old New England," by Uncle Abel Zachaeus Burbank, Ye A. B. C. Lesson, by Obe-joyful Lucas and his little Cherubs, Two Proper Hymns, "New Jerusalem" and "New Durham," by the choir, Another pleasing selection by Miss Garland; "Cousin Jedediah," by Jehonadab Jacob Bacon, who wore his best clothes and the management requested the audience to refrain from laughing. "Ye Anvil Chorus" with the help of anvils, by the choir and last but not least, that soul stirring melody, "Auld Lang Syne," by the whole company of talented artists, and those in the audience, who were blessed with good lungs and religious training, were invited to "stand up" and "jine" in the chorus. During the intermission the musicians, fiddlers and toot horns, played a piece just to give the singers a chance to "re-obtaine their breath and the audience to do likewise.

Those who were unable to obtain seats were allowed to stand, but no extra charge was made, and no "telescopes" were allowed in the audience as many of the singers were "shame-faced and bashful." Zachariah Shes-burzer Langley was the door keeper, and those who felt that they had more entertainment than they paid for were permitted to hand him some extra pennies as they passed out.

The "Women Ushers" included Sobriety Innocence Sweet, Rachel Bathsheba Taylor, and Deborah Daphne Wilson. The Women Choir singers included Drusilla Karenhappuch Burrisson, Sapphira Melodious Jacobs, Charity Arathufa Snow, Aramantia Maria Linnell, Polly Miranda Bates, Patience Frary, Roxanna Frary, Melinda Eunice Woodward, Lydia Maria Rockefeller, Dorothea Dorcus Chesley, Lucinda Tirzah Barbour, Cecilia Thodocia Hunt, Tryposia Kimball, Rosemary Barnes, Ruth Elizabeth Putnam, Defre Dailey, Cynthia Ann DeMone, Delight Fogwill, Blisful Fogwill, Dafodil Chase, Helpful Felicity Sprague, Mehtable Keturah Morton, Hepfebah Deliverance Morton, Faithful Serephima Barbour, Hulda Hephzibah Burrisson, Bonnie Barbara Beardsley, Orpha Pamela Chase, Angelina Dewdrop Nicholli, Melissa Col-lagan, Abigail Sophronia Ware, Zillah Ifabeha Lucas, Miriam Leah Colby, Pollyanna Fairbanks.

The Men Choir singers were Darias Hopaniach Chesley, Phineas Shadrach Barnes, Elnathan Job Foster, Hodiljah Bilham Jacobs, Alham Azro Frary, Adoniram Young, Abimelech Jehophah Smith, Lyfmaclus Cucurbita Whitney, Sheejobub Lucas, Parson Theophilus Jabez Roy, Uno Balmagled Lucas, Reuben Nimfhi Barclay, Malachi Exemplar Burrisson, Cy Whitaker Burrisson, Abel Zachaeus Burbank, Jehonadab Jacob Bacon, Gamalliel Hodi-jale Rockefeller, Isaac Iram Green-leaf, Hezekiah Payne, Joshua Jephtha Snow, Ezekiel Benaiah Colburn, Asaph Tiddit Hambleton.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The usual Senior Assembly was held Friday morning, March 3. The program consisted of expositions by various members of the class on numerous subjects. Some of these were exceedingly interesting and instructive. Stuart Daniels explained the science of balancing the body in gymnastic exercises. The method of performing several sleight of hand tricks and other magical illusions was explained by Nash. Another notable theme showed the process in the manufacture of pottery.

The upper classes assembled in the hall Wednesday morning, March 8. State Forester Rane gave a brief but interesting and instructive discussion on the subject of Forest Fires.

A dance given by the Senior Class of the Technical High School was held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, on the evening of Friday, March 3.

AID THE HOSPITAL

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:

The campaign carried on throughout the city last November prior to Hospital Sunday was only partially successful. The contributions were largely increased, but proved to be $6,000 approximately short of the requirements of the Hospital for the year ending August 31st, 1915. When it is remembered that the entire deficit of the Hospital is occasioned by charity work, which, by the way, were not for the private patients cared for by the Hospital, would be very much greater, there is no excuse for the people of Newton if contributions are not raised throughout the year of sufficient amount to fully liquidate the Hospital's annual deficit. The Villages of the south side of the city have not apparently been raising as much proportionately as the villages on the other side. A Citizens Committee of approximately fifty men has been organized in Waban, Newton Highlands and Newton Centre for the purpose not only of giving two concerts in Bray Hall, one on March 7th, by the Highland Glee Club and the other April 29th, by the Amherst Glee Club, both concerts followed by dancing, but for the purpose of calling to the attention of every family of the south side of the city the fact that the Hospital is in need of assistance and should have the loyal support of every citizen. The Committee intends to sell 1,000 tickets for each concert. Every street of that part of the city is being covered and everyone will have an opportunity of doing at least some thing. "Charity begins at home," and the Newton Hospital is certainly the first charity which should receive the support of the people of Newton. The Committee appeal to the people of the city especially the south side for their cordial support.

THE CHRISTIAN FORUM

Preparedness Discussed by Rabbi Wise at Last Meeting of the Season

The last meeting of the Christian Forum of Newton for the present year was held at the Eliot Church on Sunday evening, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York City was the speaker of the evening, his topic being "Preparedness."

Rabbi Wise said that at the time arrangements were made for his address before the Forum, he gave the topic of "Americanism and Hyphenism," but reserved the right to change to some other theme which might be more vitally before the American public. He said: "I feel there is only one theme to consider today, one great outstanding question before the American people. The history of America for centuries to come is to be determined in the course of the next few weeks. This theme rises out of a situation we have in part created. It is the question of Preparedness. I want to say first that I believe that war will be ultimately conquerable. We are going to have it for a long time and this may not be the last of the wars of history nor even the greatest of wars. The end of war will never come to pass until you and I put out of our hearts that moral notion that man is a fighting animal. Man was a fighting animal and is, but he is not going to be a fighting animal to the end of time. He is going to leave the animal and fight both. You may say that man is a fighting animal and will never cease to be only when you look down on man's origin and past and omit to look up to man's destiny.

There are several things which must be done before we shall have the end of war. First we have got to do away with underground diplomacy. The moral law should not be any more plausible for the nations than for us individuals. The moral law is mightier than national necessity. And in place of secret diplomacy, we should have what John Hay called, "The golden rule diplomacy." And second, we are not going to have the beginning of the end of war until women have a share in the government. Women hear at first and last the heaviest cost of the war. Some of you forget that the time is fast going when women will continue to bear children so the nations may be supplied with war material. Nature did not put her here for that. Some day the mothers are going to rise in revolt against being used as human breeding machines. And we will not have the beginning of the end of war until you and I cease to believe that miserable lie, "if you desire peace, prepare for war." We as a nation have had 101 years of peace with Great Britain, and unless we suddenly go mad we are going to have 1001 years. And how have we managed it? Very simple. By being unprepared. That long border line between the United States and Canada has been unfortified by a gentlemen's agreement. Suppose we had had a fleet of battleships on the Great Lakes. We would have had war long ago if we had a navy there. I want you to understand, however, that I am not a pacifist. I am not a peace-at-any-price man, nor a war-at-any-price man. I believe in preparedness. I believe in an army and navy. But we are not talking preparedness today, we are in the midst of a preparedness panic, a preparedness hysteria. You have me frightened into a state of phobia. Moreover, if it be true that we have no army and no navy, such as some people would have us believe, then the men who have been in command of this function of the government the past few years and have had the expenditure of upwards of $100,000,000 should be court-martialed. I want to warn you against this preparedness hysteria. I think I know something of its origin. I believe not a little is due to the munition makers and as long as we are to allow the manufacture of munitions for private gain rather than for public use, we are going to have repetitions of the panic. We have got to choose between Militarism and Democracy. Even the leaders of the great universities of the country with few exceptions have been caught in the midst of this panic, men whom we should look up to for wise counsel and advice.

In conclusion, let me say that I do not think we should disarm, but should go on with our normal program. The end of this war will come and we as the greatest neutral power will have an important part in the peace negotiations, and if we embark on a militaristic program and then attempt to enter the negotiations and request the limitation of armaments, the other powers of the world will laugh at us. They will despise us if we go there with unclean hands.

MANDAMUS WANTED

To Compel Buildings Commissioner to Issue Building Permit

Joseph Levine of Roxbury, who has recently purchased the Scales property at the corner of Centre and Church streets, Newton and who has just been refused a building permit to erect an apartment house of 12 suites, has asked the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel Buildings Commissioner Walter R. Forbush to issue the same.

He filed an application with plans Feb. 28, and alleges the commissioner purposely held up the permit to allow the Board of Aldermen on March 6 to pass an amendment to the building ordinances, with which his plans did not conform. Petitioner alleges the commissioner acted in bad faith.

The matter is being heard today.

THE WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The Woman's Association of Eliot Church, held a largely attended meeting Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock in the church parlors.

Miss Miriam L. Woodberry of New York, gave a very interesting address on "The Mountain Whites." An excellent musical program was given by the Eliot Mandolin Club and the Glee Club of the Perkins Institute, a chorus of well trained singers with exceptionally fine voices.

The program included "Winter Lullaby" De Koven, and "Where My Caravan Has Rested" Loe, which were sung beautifully by Miss Mabel Parker, who possesses a contralto voice of rare purity of tone and volume; Miss Lovetta Noonan, a soprano soloist with a wonderfully sweet voice, sang, "An Open Secret," by Woodman, with very pleasing effect, and the numbers were encored enthusiastically.

Three selections by the Glee Club, "Mother Goose Medley," Sherwood; "Romance of the Cake Shop," Osborne, and "Barcarolle," Offenbach, were greatly enjoyed by the audience.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by the members of Eliot Guild.

The Norfolk Country Day School, Hillside road, Wellesley Farms, opens the spring term, Monday, April third. The school is readily accessible by train and electric car. There are three departments,—primary, intermediate and college preparatory, with playgrounds and supervised athletics. Special attention is given to the individual pupil. For further particulars address Perley L. Horne, Principal.

BRAE BURN CLUB

Many Social Activities at this West Newton Club House

An interesting social event on Tuesday evening was the dinner dance at the Club, the affair being the last in a series closing with the Lenten season. Brae Burn has been one of the popular social centres this season, and Club affairs both of a formal and informal nature, have been thoroughly enjoyed by the members of the dancing set.

About 150 guests were in attendance, and dinner was served at small tables arranged in the new Tea Room, and sun parlors. The decorations were yellow, a vase of yellow jonquills centering each table.

Russell's Orchestra of 10 pieces rendered a delightful musical program during the evening. Among those who were present were Mr. Harry L. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Peters of West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dana Priest of Auburndale; Mr. and Mrs. George B. H. Macomber, Mrs. Henry A. Young, Miss Irene Tolman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lynde and Mrs. Walter Lovell of Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cheney Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Warren, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Morse, Mr. H. B. Delano of Newton; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. David P. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Russ of Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Seward W. Jones of Newton Highlands; Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Dexter, of Cambridge, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Hartshorne, Mr. and Mrs. E. Francis Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Duane of Brookline; and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Crossett of Boston.

Another delightful society event at Brae Burn, was the subscription dinner-dance on Saturday evening which attracted nearly half a hundred guests from the various Newtons.

The new Tea Room was attractively decorated for the occasion, and Russell's Orchestra furnished the music. Included among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowman Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Mr. and Mrs. James Gardiner White, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus T. Beatey, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Crampton, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron H. Rand, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William B. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. George Napier Towle, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Flanagan and Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Cutler of Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Warren, and Miss Lucy Cobb of Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dana Priest of Auburndale, and Mr. and Mrs. Ayers, and Dr. and Mrs. Edward Hartshorne of Brookline.

LADIES' NIGHT

Newton Board of Trade Gives Banquet at Woodland Park Hotel

The annual ladies' night of the Newton Board of Trade was observed Monday evening with a reception and banquet at the Woodland Park Hotel. The guest of honor was Hon. Channing Cox, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and addresses were also made by Representatives J. Weston Allen and Henry W. Jarvis, and Mayor Edwin O. Childs. President William J. Cozens acted as toastmaster. Seated at the head table with the president and speakers were Hon. George H. Ellis, Rev. Dr. George S. Butters, Mrs. W. J. Cozens, Miss A. Winnifred Cozens, Mrs. Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Byers and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Orr.

Fancy paper caps were provided for everyone present and added greatly to the interest of the occasion.

During the evening an entertainment was given by Miss Ruth Fielding, reader, Mr. W. Anthony Towle, reader, "Newton," ledgermain, and Master Leonard Shanks, soloist. King's Orchestra, George King, leader, rendered instrumental music during the evening.

Representative Henry W. Jarvis the first speaker of the evening, spoke a few words on the liquor transportation question. This bill is to keep liquor dealers from delivering into non-licensed cities and towns. He said "The liquor dealers are today sending their liquor into the non-licensed cities and towns absolutely unhampered, and we have no check upon them. They are today sending their advertising carts through these cities and towns asking us to buy our liquor of them and it will be delivered to us free of charge. We do not ask to keep liquor out of non-licensed cities and towns, what we ask is that the liquor dealers send their liquor into these cities and towns through dealers who are licensed. We want to know, and we have a right to know that the liquor is being sent to a legitimate user of it. We want to know that liquor orders are not being solicited by the man who is making the delivery. We want to be able to and we have a right to revoke the license of the man who is soliciting orders. What we want is fair play and home rule. Now this bill that is being presented is the essence of fair play. It is the essence of home rule. It should be and I believe it will be passed by the House, the Senate, and receive the signature of the Governor."

The next speaker was Representative J. Weston Allen. He gave a few examples of some of the humorous bills that have come up for reading in the house, and also the following bill which came up for a reading this week, which provides, and it was hoped for the sake of the ladies that it would not go through, "that scrub-women who are employed within the confines of this Commonwealth shall be paid not less than 50c an hour for all the time they work. If that goes through all our wives here will have to pay for 8 hours' work, $4.00, and if they do not they are to be fined $50.00 for every hour that the scrub-woman worked for less than 50c per hour." He then passed to the bill which was passed allowing public markets in Newton. He said, "I was somewhat surprised when our garden was picked out as one of the particular cities where the sale of garden truck was to be experimented with, and I know that the attitude of many of the men in this organization is not entirely favorable to that bill, and to the establishment of a public market, without any rent charged for those who come to sell their goods. Whatever the future is, however, for legislation of that kind, I think we are going to have public markets, and our problem is going to be not to stop public markets, but to control them." He finished his address by saying:—"This is likely to be a problem which will stay with us and I think that we have got to meet the situation because the tendency of the time is more and more to bring the agricultural interests of the State forward and as far as possible to give them opportunity for development."

A hearty welcome was next extended to Hon. Edwin O. Childs. "My part is a very simple but a very pleasant one. I am here to extend the greeting of this City to this organization and our distinguished guests and to the friends of The Newton Board of Trade who honor us with their presence tonight. I am especially glad to welcome to this city and to this place Speaker Cox and to extend to him on behalf of all of you the right hand of fellowship. A trusted leader, a wise counsellor, he has won a place in the esteem and in the hearts of not only this community, but of the Commonwealth. He has won the respect of those who differ from him politically. My friends, I want to venture a bit of prophecy. The man you are entertaining tonight as a distinguished guest, will some day be the Governor of this Commonwealth. We have met here tonight an organization composed of men who have many things in common. The Newton Board of Trade was organized that there might be a closer relationship among the business men of this City. This organization has a two-fold mission, to benefit ourselves and to benefit the trading public. What helps our people helps us, for we are dependent upon the people of this City for our livelihood, and they in turn are dependent upon us for their happiness, their health and largely for their existence. This city has much to be proud of and there is no bigger asset in the community than our business men. The Newton Board of Trade is composed of men of the right sort, of the right calibre. It is a common saying, and you have heard it many times, that you cannot mix business with religion and you cannot practise the Golden Rule in trade. I am not sure that this is true. Business is giving us much for an equal value, it is refined barter and we use money as a convenient medium of exchange. Character is at the bottom of a successful business, and it is character that counts with the business man, because they measure up to the standard. No engine no matter how powerful it is will run without a constant supply of power and just so it is necessary to pump steam into a business, and that is what a board of trade is organized to do and what this Board of Trade is doing."

Hon. Channing H. Cox, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives (Continued on page 4)

While the city will undoubtedly receive full value from the money paid for the proposed investigation of municipal departments, too much emphasis should not be given a report made by a young college professor, seeking a reputation along these lines. As a rule our city departments suffer at present from the application of academic and theoretical ideas of some members of the city government and groups of citizens who sometimes influence them. City departments, hampered with restrictive labor legislation, cannot attain true business efficiency. It is true that some improvements are probably possible, but it would be far better to engage experts to examine each department, rather than to have one man attempt to reform matters of which he cannot possibly have any practical knowledge. A man like former Street Commissioner Bourke of Boston could give valuable advice in the Street Department, for he knows all the conditions surrounding municipal work of that nature, and undoubtedly similar men could be found in other branches of municipal activities.

The parents of Newton should give their hearty encouragement to the efforts of some of our young ladies to provide a show of the better class of moving pictures at the Newton Opera House. The management now gives a special show on Thursday afternoons and if the children who are allowed to attend the movies could be limited to this particular date each week or to such other dates as the ladies interested might select and announce, part of the problems presented by the moving pictures might be solved. It is certain that unless the Thursday afternoon performances prove to be a financial success, that they will be discontinued in the near future.

BOY SCOUTS

Troop No. 1 met at its headquarters Tuesday, March 14th, with 54 members and 4 officers present. After drill the troop adjourned to Masonic Temple where they expounded scout work before the Coptic Council.

Scout Master W. N. Dudley presided and gave a very interesting description of scout work from its origin to the present time.

The Scouts showed their work of bandages, knot tying, signaling, and bugling which won the applause of the council.

A prize of a gold first class badge, given by the council, was won by Scout Blair for fire making without matches.

Mass sounded and all adjourned to the banquet hall where refreshments were served. Deft. Scout Comm. J. C. Irwin "father of the troop" as he is known, was introduced; and spoke on the condition and growth of the troop. The troop is certainly a credit to Newtonville.

ANOTHER SHOWER OF GOLD

Only Two Weeks More to Hustle for the Graphic Automobile

With little more than two weeks of The Newton Graphic Automobile Contest, increased voting seemed to be the general order. All of the "Big Five," as the five most active candidates have been christened, made great gains and each one went over the three hundred thousand mark in the standing and all going like the proverbial "house afire." Votes are sure to fly in great shape during the next few days and the vast number that are procured will only be known when the final showing is made.

Special Prize Award
The Victor Victrola which was offered as a special prize for the period which ended Thursday night, March 16th, to the one candidate reporting the greatest amount of subscription business was won by Auburndale's hustling candidate, Harry S. Cowdrey. Several of the workers made a very hard fight for this prize and will have in consequence a large number of votes to be added to their grand totals when it suits their convenience.

HARRY S. COWDREY
Who Wins the Victrola Prize in our Auto Contest.

SHOWERS OF GOLD
For the period ending with Thursday night, March 23rd, a Shower of Gold will be offered. Each candidate will be given a $2.50 Gold Piece for each report of $30.00 in subscriptions. There will be no limit on the number of these Gold Pieces which any one Candidate may get. It all depends on the Hustle.

Inasmuch as both old and new subscriptions count in this special prize offer which is called "A Shower of Gold" it should be the aim of all the workers to realize handsomely on this exceptional opportunity. The votes so secured may be just the ones that will bring the prize you most want. And the money will come in very handy. It will certainly pay to work during this period. An Automobile or $50 in Gold depends on your work during the next few days.

The last coupon which will be published during the contest is printed today. This coupon will have to be returned to the counting room by Thursday night, March 30th, in order to be of any value in the extending of the vote exhibit. No coupons will be counted the last night, nothing but the subscription votes. The interest in The Newton Graphic Automobile competition is just beginning to reach what might be termed fever-heat. More persons are becoming interested in the ultimate result each day and the profifers of substantial assistance are freely given to the hustling aspirants. Many thousand extra votes are being gathered each week and these votes will come in most opportunely in the last grand showing.

This is the right spirit and proves that friends of the contesting candidates fully realize the value of the offering.

Who would not like to win a prize as desirable as the Maxwell Touring Car which is the banner prize in this event. The cash prizes are of sufficient value to cause much effort to acquire them. But the time is getting shorter each day and soon the workers who have secured the greatest

N. H. S.

The girls' Newton High School basketball team won their first game last Friday afternoon with the Cambridge Latin School. The score was 36 to 12. In the gymnasium were two hundred enthusiastic "on lookers" and cheers and songs rang through the building. As their season has just started we hope they will continue such good work.

The Inter-Class games were played off Tuesday afternoon in the High School gymnasium. The Seniors beat the Junior team, and after a long struggle between the Sophomore and Freshmen the latter won out. Now the Freshmen and Seniors will play their game off next Tuesday.

The Newton High School hockey team has unanimously elected Alphonse LaCroix captain of the 1917 team. He is a former Canadian schoolboy, and since he has been identified with the Newton High School seven his work has been high class. His ability to play goal gave him that position on the All-Intercholastend, is a great admirer of LaCroix, and predicts a bright future for him.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The Entertainment committee announces that the artists at the Sunday afternoon Musicales next Sunday at four o'clock will be Miss Rosamond Young, a dramatic soprano and Mr. Guy Maier, an unusually talented young pianist. Tea will be served at the close of the program.

number of votes will have the happy realization of securing a valuable prize for spare time spent in vote getting during the contest period. Subscribers who have not as yet renewed their subscriptions should do so during the next few days as the contest closes Monday, April 3rd. The complete plans for the closing of the contest will be given next week.

"EXTRA VOTE CERTIFICATE"

The Extra Vote Certificate given for each report of $15.00, for the contest week which terminates on Thursday evening, March 23rd, will be good for 20,000 VOTES. Candidates will do well to make extra effort for the next special period and realize upon as many of these "Extra Vote Certificates" as possible, as no better offer of Vote-values will be given.

The management has been informed that The Newton Graphic Automobile will be delivered in Newton the first of next week. It is the plan to have the Maxwell "Wonder Car" on exhibition at some central place, so that the contenders may have the opportunity to view the very car that is to be awarded.

Notice of the arrival will be sent to each one of those who are active in the campaign and it will be their privilege to learn anything relative to the merits of the grand prize which it may be their good fortune to win.

Much time and attention should be given during the little more than two weeks given in which to work in securing the many payments which may have been promised during the earlier part of the contest. Many are the promises that can be realized upon now that the end is so near if the hustlers will just get after them.

The size of the final vote is causing much speculation and that some real surprises are in store when the last vote exhibit is given, the one that will make the winners known, is certain.

It is well known that the vote exhibit as given from week to week does not represent the real standing of the hustling contestants. Many are the thousands of reserve votes which several of the earnest workers have in readiness to be cast at the last moment. The accumulation of vast numbers has been made possible through the bonus vote offers and the final vote is sure to be a whooper.

Candidates can be urged and offered inducements to make their reports in order to benefit by the extra vote values, but no candidate can be forced to cast their votes until it suits their pleasure, hence, an avalanche of votes is sure to descend upon the judges who will make the final count on the closing date.

Extra effort is the watch-word. Fourteen more days to hustle.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. R.

The March meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton was held at the Newton Club house on Monday afternoon, March 13th, the regent Mrs. Fessenden presiding. The hostesses were Mrs. Geo. W. Newhall, Mrs. Francis Newhall, Mrs. Isaac F. Osgood and Miss Ella Rice.

The meeting was called to order at three o'clock. The report of the secretary was read and approved. Mrs. Osgood gave a report of the meeting the Advisory Committee on patriotic work held at Hotel Westminster on March 6th. It was a very interesting meeting. Several other matters of interest were brought to the attention of the Chapter by the regent.

The music was in charge of Mrs. David Baker. Mr. Richard Loring of Newtonville played two cello solos very acceptably. On account of illness the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. Edgar Yates of Boston, was unable to be present and Mrs. H. O. Stearns of Framingham gave a very delightful paper entitled "The Headgear of our Grandmothers." Before commencing her paper Mrs. Stearns said she wished to state that all of the bonnets that she would display were genuine old ones with two exceptions. Among her collection were bonnets of all kinds and descriptions from huge ones which entirely concealed the face and head of the wearer to tiny ones just resting on the top of the head. At the conclusion of her paper a rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Stearns. After singing America the usual social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

INSTALL OFFICERS

A joint installation of the Clafin Guard Veteran Corps and the Cambridge City Guard Veteran Corps was held at the Architectural Club, Boston, Saturday evening, March 11. The officers of the Clafin Guard Veteran Corps installed were Commander A. L. Moriarty, Senior Vice Commander T. L. Dolan, Junior Vice Commander F. C. Hyde, Adjutant A. H. Randall, Quartermaster D. P. Sullivan, Chaplain Walter Carley.

The installing officers were Ex-Mayor Walter C. Wardwell and Junior Vice Commander Lewis J. Hewitt of the Cambridge Corps. After a very solemn (?) installation refreshments were served. The remainder of the evening was spent very pleasantly in speeches, singing and music were enjoyed. Music was furnished by the Scotch Highlanders band of twelve pieces.

A number of new members joined the Corps. Among those present were Captain H. D. Cornerais and Lieut. Everson of the active company of Newton. Capt. Thomas Brown, Sergt. Robert, Sergt. Cogswell, Corp. Speare, Private Berg of Co. A Eighth Regt., W. I. Getchell, W. Savin, Edward Grant, W. E. Sigston, Geo. Cashman, T. Prentice of Cambridge, W. W. Fogwell of Newton. Commander Patrick McNamara was toastmaster for the evening.

The Clafin Guard Veteran Corps are looking forward to a number of good times at some future dates.

Any man having served in the Clafin Guards and having an honorable discharge is eligible to the Corps. Applications may be had by sending a postal card to A. H. Randall, Adjutant, 665 Washington St., Newtonville.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Virginia Remington, the charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Augustus Remington of Newtonville, celebrated her sixth birthday on Saturday afternoon at her home on Otis street.

A merry company of little boys and girls were delightfully entertained during the afternoon with vocal and instrumental music, games, recitations and dancing.

Among the pleasant features were the recitations by Joe Smith of Newton Centre, and Dorothy Sweet of Newton Highlands, which were greatly enjoyed by those present, and a piano solo, played beautifully by Marion Blake, of Somerville.

A collation was served in the dining-room and the table was decorated attractively in a color scheme of blue. A large birthday cake surrounded with candles centered the table, and the favors for the little girls were pretty baskets filled with candy and tied with blue ribbon bows, and little flags for the boys.

The little hostess was showered with gifts, flowers and congratulations, and for her, as well as her friends, the occasion was most happy. Among those who were present were Dorothy Sweet, Arline Keith, Marion Blake, Elizabeth Drown, Gladys Barnes, Joe Smith, Anna Richardson, William Richardson, Preston Sweetser, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and their daughter, Vivian Gordon, of West Medford.

AFTER-THOUGHTS

Invest a little money in bonds—of friendship.
When business gets bad, go hunting—new business.
Don't fire the office boy for whistling—learn to whistle.
Be kind to the dumb—not dumb to the kind.
Forget your troubles—by remembering your blessings.
Smile with every one—and never at any one.

ANNUAL DEMONSTRATION

The big local event of the year is near at hand and if class attendance and enthusiasm counts for anything, there surely will be something doing at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on March 30 and Apr. 1. With previous exhibitions up to scratch, the members have a fine working model to go by, but it is the aim of those in charge to break all records and make this season's demonstration a landmark in the Association's history.

The main idea of this affair is to give the friends of the Association and the public as well a chance to observe for themselves just what a gymnasium class looks like and find out what constitutes class work.

All class work is planned along safe and sane lines and it sure will be a treat to see what the Y. M. C. A. is doing for the boys and men of this community.

The program will be announced later but all remember the time, place, and date.

Remember that exercise and play combine to produce health and happiness.

Our slogan is "Everybody a Boaster."

DEATH OF MRS. EMERY

Mrs. Ann M. Emery, the widow of the late Caleb J. Emery, for many years a paymaster in the United States Navy, and who formerly resided at the corner of Jewett and Pearl streets, died last Sunday at her home on Jewett street at the age of 90 years. Mrs. Emery was at one time an active member of Channing Church. She is survived by one son, Mr. Henry L. Emery of this city.

Funeral services were held from her late home on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Harry Lutz officiating and the interment was at Nashua, N. H.

—This Friday evening at 7.45 at the Congregational Church a special series of Lenten services will begin with an address on "The Power Side of Christianity" by Miss Edith M. Talbot of the Old South Church, Boston, and on Friday evening, March 24th, Rev. Chas. H. Cutler, D.D. of Waban will speak.

—Stove Leg Fastener.

In moving or lifting stoves, the legs often work out, or become loose. This can be prevented by bending a strip of heavy tin over the top of the leg to fill the space between the top of the leg and the stove and fastening the opposite end to some projection on the body of the stove.—World's Advance.

LIGHTEN LABOR

by installing electricity and making its many conveniences slaves to you. For instance, the electric curling iron for Millady is always hot and never gets sooty; the electric fan, with sea shore breeze; the electric iron, which can be used all day and never grows cold, and a hundred other conveniences which, when once used, will never be given up, for their cost is extremely low.

PROBLEM OF JELLY MAKING

Something Which Interests Every Housewife and Yet Seems Not to Be Perfectly Understood.

Although there are many housewives who can make the finest kind of jellies it is probably true that the majority cannot tell just why jelly "jells."

Jelly-making as practiced in the home is an art founded upon scientific principles and consists in so controlling conditions with sugar and boiling that the whole mixture sets.

Jelly "jells" because of the presence of a substance called pectin, which may not be present in the fruit juice but becomes present after boiling.

These pectin bodies can utilize just so much sugar and if it is increased beyond a certain limit continued boiling will produce only a gummy mass. The correct amount of juice to sugar varies from 3:1 to 1:1 by volume. Currants and partially ripened grapes should have 1:1 and raspberries, apples and cranberries should have 3:1. Those juices which require the most sugar need to be boiled only from eight to ten minutes, the others from twenty to thirty minutes.

The much reported statement that jelly cannot be made from "beet-sugar" is groundless. Both "beet-sugar" and "cane-sugar" often come from the same bin, the coarse crystals being labeled the former and the fine crystals the latter.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To remove ink spots from marble, mix well equal parts of spirits of vitriol and lemon juice, wet the spots and in a few minutes rub with a soft cloth and then wash.

To clean dingy glass, wash it with warm water and sal soda. Dry and then brighten with salt water.

To clean nickel silver ornaments, dip a piece of flannel in ammonia and rub the article.

To clean raincoats, sponge with a mixture of alcohol and ether, to which is added a tablespoonful of ammonia to a pint of the liquid.

To clean black silk, sponge with household ammonia and press while damp on the wrong side of the goods.

For Young Housekeepers.

If your white enamel furniture becomes soiled or discolored it may be quickly and satisfactorily cleaned and restored thus: Melt one tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda in one quart of boiling water; when cool, wash the furniture with the solution, using an old flannel cloth for the purpose.

When reed or cane seats sag, wash them on both sides with warm soap-suds. Make the under side quite wet; dry in the air and sun.

Burnt coffee will free the house from cooking odors. So will smoldering string. A handful of lavender flowers in a bowl with lemon or orange peel and covered with boiling water imparts a gentle fragrance to an entire apartment.

To prevent white clothing or materials from becoming yellow, wrap each piece carefully in blue paper or old muslin well covered with household laundry blue.

Sponge Fingers.

Measure the weight of three eggs in butter, sugar and flour. Beat the eggs and sugar together for 15 minutes. Melt the butter and add alternately with the flour to the other ingredients, stirring gently all the time. Then add half teaspoonful baking powder and a few drops of vanilla or other flavoring. Bake in a well greased tin for 10 or 15 minutes. Turn out and allow to cool. Then split in half and spread with jam, jelly or lemon curd. Coat the top with white, pink or chocolate icing and cut into fingers. In the summer fresh raspberries or strawberries are delicious used as a filling. Tinned pineapple, pear or other fruit can be used satisfactorily.

Chilling Your Fudge.

You will never again make fudge and similar candies in the old way—taking from the fire and beating till cold—if you try this way once. Take the candy from the fire when the soft ball stage is reached, place the pot in a large one containing cold water, then stir till firm. It will be creamier, and less granular, than you ever had. A chemist tells me that is because the contact of the pot with the cold water immediately arrests crystallization. It may also be that the motion of stirring, rather than beating, tends to prevent granulating. At all events, chill your candy in the cold water.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Banana Croquette Salad.

A dainty way to serve the nutritious banana is to peel and cut in halves across the fruit. Take a fork and dip the bananas in mayonnaise dressing, then in equal parts of chopped walnuts and pecan nuts. Serve on lettuce leaves, with a few of the nuts for garnish. Three-quarters of a cupful of chopped nuts will bread three bananas.

Drop Biscuit.

Mix two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder with two cups of flour and half a teaspoonful of lard. Stir in enough milk to make a stiff batter and drop from the end of the spoon on a buttered pan about an inch and a half apart. Bake ten minutes.

Baked Pork Chops.

Take as many thick slices as are needed for the meal, place in a pan with a little water, lay a thin slice of onion on each, season with salt and pepper and bake till done.

—Trail of a Giant Meteor.

The most remarkable photograph of a meteor trail that has yet been taken, was reproduced in L'Astronomie. The meteor was seen from many points in South Africa about 5 p. m. on June 2, 1912, in broad daylight, and the trail that it left behind remained visible until some time after sunset, becoming more and more conspicuous as the daylight faded. The photograph, which shows the trail as an immense, serpentine ribbon in the western sky, was taken at Tempe, Orange Free State, about an hour after the passage of the meteor with a "coudé" train.

Not a Nation of Singers.

In this country, though we have produced many fine voices, we have never become a nation of singers. There are, it is true, in most of the leading cities, choral societies, but the singing of large groups of people is comparatively uncommon among us. Here is a matter for regret for among all large bodies of singers where there has been more or less training the effect is beautiful and inspiring. In fact, there are few things in music more impressive than the singing of hundreds of voices.

Men and women, we are going to be responsible for the continuance of war. It lies within our power to stop this terrible murder and fratricide.

I take religion seriously and I believe that Jesus meant just what he said, when he declared, "Blessed are the peace makers." He did not say, "Blessed are the peace breakers nor the war makers." He said, "Blessed are the peace makers." I want that blessing for America, for my country. I want America to be the country upon which shall rest this blessing. I want America to be the peace maker of the world.

QUESTIONS.

Suppose we refuse to prepare and Germany attacks us?

I think that before the end of the war Germany, like all the other belligerent powers will be tired of attacking nations. I do not believe that Germany will have the power to attack us and hope for Germany's sake she does not. Even if she should I think our navy could defend us admirably.

What is the solution of the Mexican situation?

I think the solution is the dissolution of Villa.

Do you consider an army of one-half of one per cent of the population an indication of militarism?

An army of 500,000 is too large for our needs and would certainly be in the direction of militarism.

Who is to guarantee the existence of small nations if America is not in a position to do so?

No one nation can guarantee the existence of another. Little nations owe their existence to the good-will of the world.

I do believe in a League to enforce peace among nations and to deal severely with any nation which attempts to break the pact of peace.

Do you believe in equal suffrage?

Not entirely, for I am not sure that men are fit to vote.

Why has President Wilson changed his mind regarding this question of preparedness?

President Wilson alone knows. At least, I believe he thinks he knows. It is one of the things which he has as yet failed to give us reasons for although we ought to know what they are. Sometimes Presidents change their minds as a matter of political expediency.

IMPORTANT

How many realize that there is imminent danger of a moving picture theatre being established in Newtonville?

When the question came up in Newton Centre the Mayor said that he should not grant licenses for moving picture shows contrary to the wishes of the people. He considered the motion picture against the movies carried by the Newton Centre meeting conclusive proof of the wishes of the people. In regard to the Newtonville question, however, he is still unconvinced, although the meeting called in Newtonville voted practically unanimously against any commercial moving picture show in Newtonville. Those desirous of having the theatre established had the same opportunity as those opposed to appear at this meeting. Besides this meeting several petitions have been sent to the Mayor to voice the protest of the signers, to say nothing of the protest of the Federation of Women's Clubs and the individual opposition of prominent citizens. It seems to be very difficult to convince the Mayor that the wishes of the people and the welfare of the High School pupils are of more consequence than the property interest back of a small strip of land in Newtonville square. This is not simply a Newtonville question. It is a question of vital importance to the whole city because the show would be at the High School center. Any who doubt the resultant detriment to the High School pupils need only talk to the teachers to be convinced. The serious minded people of Newton, whether of Newtonville or other sections equally interested, are urged to make clear their position to the Mayor by letter, personal call, or petition, so that he may at last be convinced that there are more people in Newton interested in the welfare of the next generation than in petty commercialism.

GARDEN CITY YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH

A Silver Medal Contest will be held under the auspices of the Garden City Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U., on Friday, March 24th at 8 P. M., in the Sunday School Rooms of the Newtonville Methodist Church. The contestants are all young men from both Newton and Boston. Songs and orchestral selections will intersperse a most enjoyable program. Three judges of unquestionable neutrality have been selected to determine the successful candidate.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—But one week remains of the engagement of "Daddy Long Legs" at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston. This attraction, which has proved one of the big, substantial successes of the current season, will leave the Hollis on Saturday night, March 25, after having established a record for nine weeks of capacity business. If it were not for advance bookings which make it impossible to prolong the engagement, "Daddy Long Legs" undoubtedly could remain in Boston well into hot weather so emphatic is the success registered by this whimsical comedy. Outside of the engaging qualities of the play itself perhaps the most appealing features of "Daddy Long Legs" are the stars, Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton. A greater combination could scarcely have been worked out. Miss Chatterton as the orphan girl and Mr. Miller as the bachelor philanthropist are both ideal. Playgoers of Boston will regret the departure of "Daddy Long Legs." This has proved about the most popular attraction of the year.

tatives, and the guest of the evening, was next introduced, with a great deal of hand clapping, by the President of the Board, William J. Cozens. He spoke as follows: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, I consider it a great honor to be privileged to come here before such a splendid gathering as this tonight, and I am sure that I like the reception which has been accorded me, and I like the kind words with which your President has introduced me because they vary somewhat from those recently spoken, where I was the only speaker at a gathering of a men's club in one of our great churches near by, and we had a supper such as only the ladies of the church can bring, baked beans, all the cold meats, pies, cakes, etc. Then we had some music, and to my surprise the cigars were passed, and then the President, after a great deal of delay, with apparently the greatest reluctance arose and said, "Shall we continue the good time a little longer or shall we proceed to the formal exercises of the evening?" And so I feel very glad to think that your President has been so kind to me. When the invitation was first extended to me and I was told the kind of gathering, I think my reply was immediate and almost in the same terms of the answer made by a man on receiving a letter from the Black Hand Society as follows:

"Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock you must deposit in the hollow of the old oak tree, $5000 or you will never see your wife again."

He pondered the situation a while and then he wrote:—"I have never seen the sum of $5000, but your proposition certainly appeals to me."

And the proposition to come here tonight and meet with you good ladies and gentlemen of Newton appeals to me most strongly, because I like organizations of this sort, which are formed not only to promote the good of their own members, but to build up the city, and that is the sort of an organization we ought to encourage. I am glad to meet here with men and women who are interested in their city and I want to express my great appreciation of the kindness of your chief executive who has said many things, perhaps unnecessary that he should have said them, but I want to thank him for the kindness of his remarks.

This city has sent us men of the right sort to make the laws for all the people of Massachusetts and we hope you will continue to send to the Legislature, men of the sort you have sent and men of the sort who are there now, who act for the interests of the whole State of Massachusetts. Since I have been here two things have come to me, that is, that today we need more support for our government and we need better support for the leaders in public life. As always I am sure that there is a pretty general feeling among some men and women that their legislature is deteriorating, their City Government isn't what it used to be, and what it ought to be, and that the men in office are not there for a good purpose. Let me remind you that on the day after George Washington retired, after his second term as president, a paper came out saying that there ought to be thanksgiving throughout the land that a tyrant had retired from this country. That was the contemptuous criticism of Washington whose words we read now and hold nearly as sacred as the words of Holy Writ. Two days before Lincoln was nominated a paper of the United States wrote, "We are about to inaugurate a simple Susan." He was made the subject of ridicule and his personal honesty questioned. In England the great painter and the greatest defender and defender and defender of the most scurrilous life. All criticism of Mr. Lincoln stopped when he died. Tonight a man, not of my own political party, is sorely tried, and I say to you, Mr. President, there are men among us here who are whispering things about the President of this Country, that they wouldn't dare say and put their names to in the papers. It is a fact we criticize men for their principles and policies and acts, but let us try to honor men who are rendering good public service while they live, while they can appreciate it, and while they need our support.

Are we as Americans today, all that we ought to be? We like to think that our ancestors fought for independence, we like to think that our fathers stood ready to give their all to preserve the Union. Are we looking toward the future? Most of you are business men and while there are more than one man to make up the United States, are these privileged to go about their duties, are they profiting tremendously by the results of their business transactions? A great part of the world is drenched in blood and there is starving and privation abroad, and are we looking ahead to see what will happen to us in the near future. We ought to look ahead because the future business of this Country depends upon the future position which the United States shall play in the world's work, and the future of the United States depends upon what the individuals will do to be. After all the public sentiment is made up by the sentiment of individuals. Are we willing to stand by the things our fathers stood for?

I like to look back at Lafayette and think of him coming from the shores of France to fight for the freedom of America, and I like to think of Karl Shurtz coming from Germany and bringing his ideas, and I like to think of Sheridan coming here to fight for the preservation of the Union, and of the splendid line of Irishmen who have come to this Country, and of Garibaldi who came from the shores of Italy to fight for the preservation of this Republic and then go back to the shores of Italy and free his people and lead them from a despot's hands. We did have German-Americans, French-Americans, Irish-Americans, and Italian-Americans, but tonight the time has come when there can no longer be any hyphenated Americans, we are all plain simple Americans. There has gone out unfortunately to the people of this Country, a false note trying to indicate to the world that there exists here a spirit that we are too proud to fight. I do not subscribe to that sentiment. I would rather the school boys read in their history, "He who attempts to haul down the American Flag, shoot him on the spot," and "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." Let us as representatives of America, living in a City blessed beyond most others in this Commonwealth and Country, let us earnestly try to get a little more of patriotism in our veins, and realize some of the problems which lie before us, and resolve that this Republic is worthy the saving, let us resolve that those splendid privileges that have been won for us by those who have gone before are worthy the saving to perpetuate them for those who are to come, and that wherever an American citizen is to go; in Mexico, on the high seas, or the farthest corner of the world, he shall be followed by the American Flag, guaranteeing him protection, no matter if it takes the last drop of blood left in America, and that wherever an American shall go he shall be followed by your flag and my flag.

The banquet committee comprised John W. Byers, chairman, C. G. Carley, M. H. Haase, Fred A. Moore, B. W. Polley, Burt M. Rich, H. S. Rogers, and A. G. Seavey. Alderman Arthur W. CHANNING ALLIANCE

The regular meeting of the Channing Alliance was held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon, March 14th.

After the business meeting there were selections by the Alliance choir and an address by Professor Emily Balch of Wellesley College on "Peace and Good Will." Professor Balch spoke of peace, not as the drooping type, but as having more substance, with forces running in conjunction. She pointed out that determining things is spiritual in character, that if force be used, it must not be to the detriment of the moral state.

She emphasized the necessity of universal good will. Although many people feel it ignoble to hate an individual, they consider it righteous to hate a whole nation. There is a vast difference, however, between condemning crime and hating the individual or people who commit that crime. It is not necessary to give way to national and race prejudices.

Referring to the present war, Professor Balch said that Europe must get a new mind and that we must get new machinery through which internationalism can express itself.

It has been demonstrated that unsupported international law will not hold against war. Predatory diplomacy has led to predatory war. Professor Balch thinks that these influences will be overgrown just as cannibalism or slavery have been overgrown. At present the nations are too powerful to make tolerant war.

At the close there was the usual social hour in charge of Mrs. Wendte.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

One feature of every library usually excels all others. There is no exception to this in the Newton Library, for the trust funds that the library has makes it possible to develop to a great degree the art side of the library. This development has been gradual, but effective, and many comments are heard as to the value of the Newton collection. In the 1915 report of the library is given a quotation from a letter which bears out this fact. It reads "You may well be proud of your art collection, so rich and so well balanced; the list betrays keen intelligence and unwearied patience in buying."

It is proposed to give a selection of the books on art which may be of especial interest. This it will be continued from week to week, with an interruption possibly, now and then, when some topic of timely interest must crowd it out.

First should appear the books of general interest, and first among these appear the dictionaries, which are as follows:

The art dictionary, terms used in art, architecture, heraldry, etc., by Adeline W.5A22

Cyclopaedia of anecdotes of literature and the fine arts, by Arvine YBA.A79 Ref.

Dictionary of painters and engravers, by Bryan. (Reference) W.5A77

Young folks' cyclopaedia of literature and art, by Champlin. ZY.5C358

A general and bibliographical dictionary of the fine arts, by Elmes. W.5E48

Dictionary of terms in art, by Fairholt. W.5F16

An illustrated dictionary of words used in art and archaeology, by Mollett. (Reference) W.5P31

Handbook of legendary and mythological art, by Waters. W120.W31

Among the periodicals which have been received by the library, and which now stand upon the shelves in bound form, are the following:

The American art review, 1880-81. (Reference) W.7A76

Art in America, 1914. W.7A77

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

On Monday and Tuesday of next week "My Lady's Slipper," the latest Cyrus Townsend Brady story to be put into production by the Vitagraph Company, will be seen at the Newton Opera House with a clever cast. On Wednesday and Thursday of next week will be seen at this house, little Miles Minter, the youngest star in the world, in "Barbara Frietchie," a big five-act photo-drama produced by the Popular Plays and Players for release on the Metro program. This stirring and picturesque feature is adapted from the famous poem of the same name by John Greenleaf Whittier and the play by Clyde Fitch. In her remarkable career as a stage and screen star, Miss Minter never had a role better suited for her beauty and charm. An exceptionally strong cast appears in support of Miss Minter, including Mrs. Thomas W. Whiffen, the veteran actress, who will make her screen debut in this picture.

CITY HALL

The members of the board of aldermen were guests of the Technical and Vocational High Schools on Wednesday afternoon. A dainty lunch was served at one o'clock after which the aldermen were given an opportunity to see the students engaged in actual work. Plans for the future enlargement of the school building costing several hundred thousands of dollars were also examined.

The Finance committee is hard at work considering the annual budget for 1916.

A special meeting of the aldermen will hold Monday and $2500 additional granted for the care of snow and ice.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Interest in the coming Biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in New York City, May 23-June 3, is growing throughout the clubs and the occasion promises to be the largest in the history of the organization. Not since 1908, when the Federation met in Boston, has a Biennial been held within so easy reach of New England and the fact that it will not meet again as near for many years will mean a very large attendance on the part of these clubs. While not all will be able to secure delegates' tickets or even alternates, the seating capacity of the Armory being 10,000 will enable many visiting club women to attend, so no one need stay away for fear of not being able to get into the hall.

Those planning to attend are urged by the local Hotels committee to secure reservations through its chairman, Mrs. North McLean, Biennial Board Rooms, Hotel Astor, Hotels and boarding houses are all listed with her and better accommodations and rates are assured than can be obtained independently.

Any clubs who have not yet joined the Federation and are considering doing so for this Biennial must send in their applications to Mrs. Donald M. Blair, the General Federation State Secretary for Massachusetts, 5 Wabon Street, Roxbury, before March 25th.

State Federation

March 21, 2 P. M. The departments of Education and of Literature and Library Extension will hold a joint conference at the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library. Subject of discussion will be "Moving Pictures." Speakers, Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, Rev. Father Devlin, Mr. F. P. Spear, and Mr. Gustave Frohman. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

March 25, 2 P. M. Presidents' Conference in the Hawes Unitarian Church, South Boston, by invitation of the Mattapanock Club. Subject, "Program of Work for the Federation for the Year 1916-1917." Discussion led by Mrs. S. F. Herron and Miss Esther G. Barrows. The president, one member of the executive board, and one member at large of each club is invited to attend. Take any City Point car to G street.

Newton Federation

The quarterly meeting of the Executive board of the Newton Federation will be held on Monday, March 20, at 10.15, in the New Church parlors, Highland avenue, Newtonville.

Local Announcements

The West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold a Children's Day entertainment at Players' Hall on Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

The meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will be held on Monday afternoon, March 20, with Mrs. A. F. Hayward of Centre street.

On March 20 the Monday Club of Newton Highlands will meet with Mrs. J. W. Moore, 39 Chester street.

Mrs. N. W. Dennett of Windermere road will be the hostess for the meeting of the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday morning, March 21.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild will present the play, "Purple and Fine Linen," at the Technical High School on Tuesday afternoon, March 21st. The same standard of excellence which has been achieved in former performances is anticipated on this occasion.

On Wednesday morning a paper on "The Treaty of Paris, 1898," will be presented by Miss Grace M. Burt before the Social Science Club.

Dr. Shailer Mathews, Dean of the Divinity School of Chicago University, will address the regular meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday, March 23, at 2.30, on "Vocations and Avocations."

The West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its regular meeting on Friday, March 24. The program is in charge of the Literature committee and will consist of readings and music by students from the Emerson College of Oratory.

The Shakespeare Class of the Club will meet with Mrs. H. K. Burrison on Monday, March 20 at 2.30.

On Friday, March 24, the Waban Woman's Club will hold the annual Guest Night, when Dr. Shailer Mathews will be the speaker.

A dance will be given at the Hunnewell Club, Newton, on Monday evening, March twenty-seventh, under the auspices of the Newton Woman's Club.

Local Happenings

On Friday afternoon, March 10, the West Newton Women's Educational Club presented in a creditable manner, the play, "Six Kleptomaniacs," to an appreciative audience. The cast of characters included the following members of the club: Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe, Mrs. Guy C. Holbrook, Mrs. Louis A. Bacon, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Percy Waters, Mrs. G. Melvin Holmes, Mrs. Fred B. Young, Mrs. Holmes was in charge of the day and Mrs. F. B. Young and Mrs. Robert Cotton of the cake and candy sale, which was held at the close of the performance.

Mrs. Guy C. Holbrook and Mrs. Louis A. Bacon were hostesses for the meeting of the Travel Class of the club held at the home of Mrs. Holbrook on Monday afternoon of this week.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club held the largest meeting of the season on Saturday afternoon with Miss Mary L. Sweeney, Miss Mary Newhall was in charge of the quiz on the fourth and fifth acts of Midsummer Night's Dream. Miss Newhall brought out many interesting points.

She showed the skillful manner in which Shakespeare introduced the world of fairies, so that the transition from the everyday world to fairyland seemed most natural. The play of Pyramus and Thisbe given by the rude mechanicals introducing the clown, Bottom, evidently a pure creation of Shakespeare, was most amusing. It is interesting to note how Shakespeare introduced his own personal ideas in the speeches of Theseus. The play presents a new side to the poet's wonderful genius and offers a striking contrast to the first play studied this season, Othello.

On Monday afternoon, March 13, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met with Miss Mary Hyde and Mrs. James F. C. Hyde was in charge of the work. The Essays and Short Stories of Henry James. After giving a short sketch of his life and an appreciation of his writings, Mrs. Hyde read selections from his essays, on John Burroughs, Dickens, and Browning in Westminster Abbey, and also from the volume entitled, "Small Boy and Others."

The Newton Highlands Monday Club met with Mrs. N. H. Raye on March 13. Mrs. H. B. Walker took for her subject "The Art of Conversation" and described the famous French Salon. Mrs. J. G. Patton gave personal reminiscences of her life in Paris. Piano solos by Miss Capen added much to the pleasure of the afternoon.

A large and enthusiastic audience listened to the lecture by Mrs. Mary Schenck Woolman before the meeting of the Home Economics class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Woolman under the topic, "The Ethics of Shopping," gave the results of an investigation into shopping habits of women and the courtesies of the business firms, which she has made under the auspices of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Her statistics regarding the cost to the stores of the free delivery, the charge accounts, the taking out on approval were startling.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning Miss Mary A. Wilcox gave an enlightening talk upon "Immigration." She mentioned as some of the reasons why the immigrants have not been popular, their uncleanly habits, and the unsanitary conditions under which they are willing to live. Our first help to a better understanding of them is to become better acquainted with them individually. She dwelt upon the necessity of making them learn more about our ways the first step being a good knowledge of our language. In the United States there are 800,000 non-English speaking people and in the town of Peabody alone, there are nineteen different nationalities. The bill now before legislature providing for a permanent Board of Immigration was explained. Her recital of the experiences of Dr. Steiner when he first came to this country due to a lack of understanding of our customs and a knowledge of the language, were most interesting and an object lesson as to the possibilities of such a board's usefulness.

The Pierian Club met with Mrs. Easterbrook on Wednesday afternoon of this week. Continuing the study of the Islands, papers were read on the Pribiloff Islands and the Seal Project by Mrs. Smith, the Kuril by Mrs. H. E. Locke and the Aleutian by Mrs. Titus.

AUBURDALE WOMAN'S CLUB

On Tuesday, March 14 at the Methodist Parish House the Auburndale Woman's Club, listened to an admirable report by Mrs. G. M. Winslow of one of the series of Talks to Homemakers given in Perkins Hall, Boston. Mrs. A. W. Lane made a plea that the club join the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the club voted unanimously to do so.

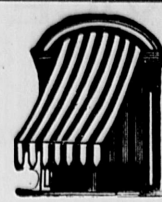

A white curtain, before which the President had been standing, was then raised, displaying a white-covered table on which reposed an enormous side of beef, weighing about 300 lbs. and a whole lamb. Mr. E. M. Marcoux of the Washington Market presided over the meat, ready to cut it in the proper way at the suggestion of Mrs. Aubrey Hilliard, the speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. E. Q. Winslow, chairman of the Home Economics Committee, who were in charge of the meeting introduced Mrs. Hilliard as recently Assistant Prof. of Household Economics at Simmons College.

The club members received a very concrete and practical lesson in the best cuts of beef and lamb to buy for different purposes, and how to buy them economically. Many questions were asked the speaker, and a great deal of interest was displayed. After the lecture the club members were at liberty to inspect the meat at close quarters and to purchase it from Mr. Marcoux.

The Civics Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club held a well-attended meeting on Thursday, March 9, at the Burr School Hall, at which the Mayor of the City and the Aldermen and member of the School Committee of the ward addressed them on "What can our Club do to help the City in improving Civic Conditions." In the absence of Mrs. C. A. Brown, the president, Mrs. A. W. Lane presided.

Mayor E. O. Childs spoke of the need of work among immigrants, especially the children, saying that it was not only a civic, but a Christian duty, to help inspire them with a desire for an education and for good sanitary conditions. Among the problems which women must help work out is the very serious one of moving picture shows, as well as a campaign of education among boys to promote temperance. He also recommended a plan for helping the Newton Hospital, and spoke with approbation of the "Clean-up-week."

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Roland Winslow late of Newton in said County, deceased.
WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Charles A. Williams who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-second day of March A. D. 1916, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Items of Interest to Friends of the Cause

The Ways & Means Committee of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association have completed the arrangements for the big Suffrage Dinner to be held Tuesday evening, March 21st at Hotel Somerset at 7.30 P. M. The guests of honor will be His Excellency Samuel W. McCall and Mrs. McCall, Mr. Samuel J. Elder, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, and Mrs. John M. Longyear. The tickets are $2 each and tables for parties of six at $12 may be procured from the Treasurer, Miss Fannie C. Osgood, 221 Beacon street, Boston.

In conversation with a group of Congressional Union women, President Wilson made it very clear that he is solid for Woman Suffrage. However, he believes that it should come through the action of the states and not through a Federal Amendment. He said "I may be a little old-fashioned, but my mind is unchanged on this subject. As for the promise which I made your representatives about conferring with my colleagues as to recommending the amendment to Congress, I have not forgotten it, nor shall I forget the fulfillment of it. As you know I believe in Woman Suffrage. I voted for it last year in my own state. And I think there is no cause for discouragement in this way of getting it. A great movement like this may move as slowly as a glacier, but it moves just as inevitably."

St. Louis has a full fledged police woman as one of its guardians of peace, morality and welfare. Her duties are especially to look after women and girls. Her salary begins at $65 per month for the first year. Later she will be advanced to the grade and remuneration of patrolman. The Mayor contemplates the appointment of three additional women to the police force. This is a long step forward in city policies, but what a peculiar form of municipal government which for its own welfare, invests women with police authority and denies them the power of the ballot.

Last year in Arizona the arrest for crime decreased 50 per cent and the savings accounts of the state banks increased nearly one half million dollars in the first eight months of the year. Mr. George Herbert Smalley writing in the Sunset Magazine on "What Prohibition Did to Arizona" says: "This is due to the fact that the men of Arizona would still be wet, it was not until the women were given an equal place with the men at the election polls that the change came on January 1st, 1915. Arizona does not seem to be experiencing any baneful results from allowing the women to vote."

Movies for Children

Wearied of the usual dime novel, blood and thunder style of entertainment presented to innocent childhood by moving picture concerns, a number of New York women have arranged for special pictures for children to be given at two theatres regularly on Saturday mornings. Simple stories, fairy tales, industrial pictures and current events will be shown. Mothers have been waiting a long time for fathers to do this right thing by their children in the public amusement line, but now they find that a little direct action is worth more than a lot of indirect influence.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Under Cover" the play which ran an entire season in New York, will be given by the Craig Players at the Castle Square Theatre next week. Its success is due to its atmosphere of suspense, and to the surprise that comes at the very end of its last act. It deals with smuggling, and with a plot in which a man and a woman who loves him are involved, and it shows how he unintentionally leads him to danger and how he escapes from it. It will be given at the Castle Square for the first time at popular prices, and it will have the advantage of being acted expertly by the Craig Players.

NEWTON 25 YEARS AGO

Hon. William P. Ellison elected clerk of the Newton Cottage Hospital corporation in place of Dr. Weston resigned.
Leave to withdraw granted by the Legislature on the petition to annex Morse Field to Newton.
Mr. George E. Bridges of Newtonville re-appointed Registrar of Voters for 3 years.
Aldermen asked Newton Street Railway Co. why it had not complied with the order to change its tracks on River street from the side to the center of the street.

A largely attended public meeting was held at City Hall to discuss a proposed change in the recently adopted ordinance as to methods of levying sewer assessments on lines suggested by Mr. John T. Langford, 250 citizens being present. Mr. Harry W. Mason defended the ordinance, and a letter was read from former Mayor Alden Spauld on similar lines. Dr. C. F. Crehore wanted the sewer assessments levied annually like water rates (Dr. Crehore was a member of the Water Board). Remarks were also made by Messrs. J. C. Ivy, Leverett Saltonstall, Marcus Morton, (now deceased), John T. Langford, John W. Carter, David W. Farquhar and Harry English.
Death of Dr. John D. Lovering and Mr. Thomas Ranney both of Newton Highlands.
Death of Mr. James Easterbrook of Newton Upper Falls.

Hanging Hard Wood Shelves.
Instead of the usual wooden pegs for assembling the parts of hard wood shelves, a substitute which will serve the purpose equally as well consists of wire nails driven into one board, the heads filed off, and these protruding ends plugged into holes in the other board.—World's Advance.

NEWTON MEN AT AMHERST

The following article taken from a recent number of the High School Review will interest everyone concerned in the matter of education in this city. Many parents hold the plausible but ill-grounded belief, that in order to give their boy or girl a first class education, they must be sent to some large, famous, preparatory school, such as Andover, Exeter, Worcester, Doherty, Farmington, or Westover. But let us consider the merits and advantages of a modern and efficient public school, like our own Newton High School, by looking at a few of its graduates who have continued their education at Amherst College.

As most of you know, Amherst is a small prosperous New England college, where every man is taken for just what he is, or at least what he makes himself, and not what money and other luxuries do for him. Here we see the spirit of democracy in one of its highest forms, and put into practice by College Student Government. Every June nine members are elected from the student body, to the Student Council, which is the governing board of the undergraduates. Out of nine members, we see Newton represented by three, Stuart W. Rider, C. Burton Ames '16, and Robert P. Kelsey '18.

Stuart Rider is without doubt, one of the most popular men who ever graduated from our high school. Upon entering college he was elected to the presidency of his class and immediately won popularity. At the beginning of his sophomore year he started his varsity football career, and last fall captained the team through a very successful season. Besides being president of his class again junior year and a member of the winning team, another honor was his when he was elected to the presidency of the Student Council last September.

Everyone in college knows "Burt" Ames, and he has surely done his share in procuring honors for Newton. He is a valuable member of the swimming team and last spring was elected to the captaincy of track. He has served his college and class in many ways, and is a prominent member of the council, but above all he is liked by everyone at Amherst.

All of the Amherst teams are not led by Newton men, but again we see Wallace Leonard as captain of the gymnastic team. In addition he is managing editor of the college paper "The Amherst Student."

Frederick C. Allen has done well at college, and besides being a member of the Glee Club, has the honor of being a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

By hard and faithful work, Francis B. Marks has gained honors on the football and track teams. "Ted" is very well liked at college, and is sure going to justice to his school.

In the two lower classes, we find Arthur Holt '18, and Lawrence Ames Thomas Tilton, and Robert Fairbank '19. Holt has done good work on the track and is very popular at college. This year an unusually fine freshman class entered, and at the end of the first week of college, elected Lawrence Ames as their chairman. Immediately he won popularity and soon was elected to the presidency of his class. Tilton and Fairbank are also doing well in upholding the standard of Newton.

HOW TO DO BANKING

The West Newton National Bank has just issued a handy pamphlet with the above title and which sets forth clearly and concisely the rules governing transactions between the bank and its customers. A few pages are devoted to an explanation of Banking Terms and a Financial Glossary, a summary of the Federal Income Tax Business Law in Brief and Rules for Computing Interest. The book will be of great value to everyone who uses a bank.

WILBUR THEATRE—A novel comedy without sex suggestiveness, "Big business" or any sort of criminal intrigue has been introduced to Boston and New England playgoers at the Wilbur Theatre in "Hobson's Choice." The second week begins next Monday, March 20th. This is just a human interest story of a irascible father, a loutish apprentice and three pretty and clever daughters, but it packed the Comedy Theatre, New York, for five months, with a succession of highly amused audiences. The scenes are laid in England during the quaint mid-Victorian period of the late seventies, and the costumes are delightful in their variety—some to the odd fashions of that time. There is a thread of romance intermingled with the fun. The fortunes of Maggie and Will, of Alice and "her limb of the law," and of Vickey and her tall corn-factor sweetheart, are followed with unflagging interest. This novel conceit keeps away from mere buffoonery and draws laughter from the happenings of a middle-class household, where the father is an ardent tyrant and his three daughters are frankly rebels.

SHUBERT THEATRE—The Messrs. Shubert will present at the Shubert theatre, for a limited engagement beginning Monday next, March 20th, the greatest operatic hit of the century, "Alois at Last," direct from its wonderfully successful run of six months at the Shubert Theatre, New York. Franz Lehár, the composer, has in this opera excelled all former efforts. Possessing all the melodious beauty of his earlier work, "The Merry Widow," it surpasses it in the richness of harmony and is indeed the most brilliant musical offering that has ever come from Vienna. In keeping with the music is the charming and romantic story. The opera is in three acts, the scenes being laid at Interlaken, Switzerland. The second act is divided into three scenes, showing the base, the slopes and the summit of the Jungfrau.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF LENT

Recent Sermon Preached by Rev. A. J. Muste, Pastor of Central Church, Newtonville

The following sermon was delivered Sunday, March 12, at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, by Rev. A. J. Muste, the pastor.

The observance of Lent is of course not nearly so general in the churches of our Order as in some others. More and more, however, we are coming to use these days before Easter as a time to put special emphasis upon the spiritual element in our preaching and upon our inward spiritual life. If we are in any measure to set apart this period of the year, it is well that we should ask ourselves what opportunities it presents to us, just how we may use it in order to receive the highest degree of benefit. Let us make a number of very simple and practical suggestions.

First of all, Lent offers you an opportunity for a rest, a rest and refreshing of both body and mind. You may get this rest in at least two ways. A change of occupation is a real rest, probably the best kind of rest for the mind and to some extent for the body. It may be quite possible for some of you men in business or professional life to refrain from some of your ordinary activities during these weeks, to make your schedule lighter, and then to spend the time saved in increased work for the church, or in some place where you personally know there is need for philanthropic Christian work, and in the cultivation of your own life. I am quite serious in suggesting this possibility to you. I venture to say that if you were to put it into practice, you would be put astonished at the increased vigor with which you would go back to a full schedule of work after a few weeks. Observers from abroad have often remarked, what we too may easily see if we open our eyes, that the most pathetic as well as unpleasant thing about the average American man is the narrowness of his interest. He is the money-maker and that is all. His home and children really see little of him. He has no time for leisurely and genial social life, and indeed little aptitude for it since he can only talk business and little else intelligently. He is not well-read. Music and the drama he can absorb only in the forms presented at the resorts or vaudeville theatre.

As a class he does not go to church. He leaves the government of the community in which he is bringing up his family to professional politicians whom he is inclined to look down upon. Of course I need not say that there are multitudes to whom these observations do not apply. I am bound to say also that I think there are far less applicable to the average Bostonian than to the average New Yorker and probably Chicagoan. Each of you can say for himself to what extent this charge of narrowness of interest holds against him. In so far as it is true, you are really not fair to your own family, the people you love the most, for whom you are toiling so monotonously. What your wife needs, what your children need—and in far too many American homes do not have—is not a machine to make money for them, but a man, a husband, a father, a noble, virile spirit to be built into their lives. And likewise, in so far as the charge of narrowness of interest holds good, you are unfair to yourself. It is unfair that the mind and the soul should be so uncultivated as is the case with so many American men, that all the world's pleasures of goodness, of beauty, of truth—nature, human society, poetry, music, painting, should mean so little to you. This nervousness that breaks so many of you down permanently, or periodically, is unfair to you. I am pointing out this morning to you that Lent offers you the rest that many men need and ought to have. Change your occupation, let some of your ordinary work go for a few weeks, feast your soul, throw yourself into some unselfish task, get acquainted with your home, your church, your books, your soul, in a new way—and you may go back to work refreshed.

But it is not always necessary to change one's work to any considerable extent. Many of you may be so situated that you cannot do so at a moment's notice. We find ourselves rested and refreshed also when we go to our work in a new spirit, with a new impulse. A soldier may march many miles, get to his trench seemingly tired, almost exhausted, but if presently a charge is sounded, his weariness is quite forgotten, he finds all his strength at his command. A student suddenly gets a new light on some subject he is studying, perhaps he sees its inner relations, its bearing on some question that has troubled him, and necessity for his future welfare, and at once the study that seemed so dull and avowedly weary. Now even if you cannot change or to any considerable extent lighten your work, you can use every spare moment you have, not in mere dissipation or self-indulgence, but use it for the cultivation of your mind and soul. You can perhaps attend some of the special services at the church. You may perhaps take a few moments before or at breakfast to look into your Bible instead of your newspaper. There may be some stimulating book or magazine that you can look into in the evening instead of spending another half-hour over the paper or a trashy story-magazine. In such simple ways, and without any degree interrupting the flow of your business and professional life, you may feel a new spirit, a new interest, and because of that find, mind, nerves and body refreshed and rested.

It is hardly necessary to add that in the same way—by change of occupation or at least by the cultivation of new and deeper interests in spare moments—women too may make Lent a time of real rest.

I go on to suggest, in the second place, that Lent offers you an opportunity to meet yourself and thus to appraise yourself, and your life anew. In a volume very recently issued, entitled "The Poet in the Desert," one of our Pacific Coast poets says:

"I have come into the lean and stricken land,
Which fears not God, that I may meet my soul
Face to face, naked as the Desert is naked;

One of the great troubles with men, a great cause of shallowness and of badness, is that most of them never have met their own souls in this way, never have stood and appraised their own moral life. Now no one of you would think of doing business or managing a house without frequent inventory taking, frequent determination of resources and needs. Yet somehow most of us seem to think that in this tremendous business of building a character and saving a soul, it is well enough to drift along, that somehow we can get to a worthy result though we never stop to ask what road we have travelled, what gains we have made or losses suffered, where the best efforts need to be applied. Now here is an exercise for which Lent offers you some opportunity that will give you if you go through with it honestly, more sensations and thrills—pleasant and otherwise—than you ever get from the most exciting book or play, the value of which cannot be measured in human terms. Go off somewhere in the course of these next few weeks—out in the fields or woods if there is opportunity for that, into your own room, anywhere so that you are alone—go as often as necessary to get the thing done. When you are alone, introduce yourself to yourself. Find out what sort of creature you are. You have some admirable points and some very nasty ones; it will be thrilling and good for you to see them both clearly. Think back a year, ten, twenty years, and try to determine the difference between yourself then and now. Do you find ideals faded? Do you find many things that you once shunned and now indulge in thoughtlessly? Do you find yourself asking more or less of yourself? More content or less considerate of others? You dared to think and dream for yourself once—are you merely conforming now? Settled into a fixed, deep rut? Can you think of any really noble, unselfish thing you have recently done? Any ignoble, selfish, cruel thing? Do you find yourself a big man or a little tiny one inside? If from now on you were to set to work intelligently at your own soul and character, what would be the next step? Would you become more faithful to the church or perhaps quit the church and seek more inspiration elsewhere? Would you keep to your present business or quit it? If you were to become in earnest about making the most of yourself, would you remain in the political party you are in or get out of it? Would you keep your friends, drop them, or perhaps try to elevate them with you? You see what I have in mind. There are wonderful places in this world which I hope you may all visit one day if you care to. But I assure you that you will never find a country a million parts as interesting as your own life, the inside of you. It takes a very daring and resourceful man to traverse it. If any of you undertake this Lent to go into "the lean and stricken land" to meet your own soul face to face, I bid you God speed. You will see many entrancing, absorbing sights. When you come to the dangerous regions, I hope your courage and your strength will hold out.

In the third place, Lent gives an opportunity not only for self-examination, not only to learn to know yourself, but also for self-culture, an opportunity to cultivate, enrich, uplift the soul. Let me be very simple and specific. The Church offers you certain opportunities along this line. At these Sunday morning services I shall try to bring before you some of the most important matters of practical concern to the Christian man, woman, youth, in our day and country. On Sunday evenings we shall meet in the next room for two great purposes—to study the Book and pray that God may bless our brothers and sisters in the stricken lands across the sea and may give them wisdom and grace speedily to cease from un-Christian strife. On Friday nights men of spiritual insight and force from some of our neighboring churches are to bring messages of their experience as to the practical and Christian conduct of life. If you do not find here what your soul needs, doubtless there is some religious body within reach of you that can provide it.

Again, there is the great realm of the printed word. The serious magazines have not in years, I think, presented more searching, spiritually directed material than is to be found in them at present. Numerous books beckon to you. There is that volume of poetry that you have long neglected or have had no opportunity to read. Get Paul Shivel's "Stillwater Pastorals" and absorb the ancient message of religion expressed by a modern man. Or read Masfield if his presence among us has turned your attention to him. There are all the numerous questions raised by the war. One need not of course read the details of its horrors unless he desires; nor is it perhaps necessary that all of us should try to keep up with the political issues involved, but surely it is not a time for any one who can read to neglect all consideration of the deeper, economic, social, moral, spiritual issues involved. Prof. Uecher's "Challenge of the Future," Dr. Jefferson's "Christianity and International Peace," or Dr. Gulick's "The Fight For Peace"—some such book one ought to absorb and be set thinking by during this Lent. There are books in the field of religion that you have thought of reading perhaps. One of our missionary magazines makes pertinent suggestions: Helen B. Montgomery's "The King's Highway," John R. Mott's "The Present World Situation," Sherwood Eddy's "The Students of Asia," above all there is your Bible. It would refresh and uplift you to dwell during these next weeks with the Book of Isaiah and the book of Amos, the Gospels of Matthew and Luke and the Epistle of James.

Also, there is the opportunity to enrich your soul by prayer, by communion with the Unseen and Eternal Father, and with the spirit of the man of Nazareth. O, if the Christians of America were to fling themselves upon their knees.

In an article in the Atlantic Monthly for March Dr. L. P. Jacks of Oxford, England makes this interesting and startling suggestion, which he in turn derives from Lord Bryce, that one of the serious problems confronting humanity today lies in the fact that life is constantly growing more complex, there are more people in the earth, they are organized in larger groups, methods of communication have brought them close together so that all that goes on today is world-wide in its possible or actual effects, the accumulation of knowledge is immense, the command of nature—for good or ill—has been increased by applied science—but on the other hand the mind and the soul of the individual man have not grown in nearly the same proportion, perhaps have not grown at all in historic times. In other words, the world has become an immense, complex, or rushing machine—capable of infinite good or ill—but the men who have to run the machine, or be run and crushed by it, have not grown with it. This war, to him, is just an illustration of how the whole thing may get quite out of the hands of the men in charge, and rush on to accomplish horrors that no individual or group of them ever really intended. Ominous as the suggestion is, I think every one of us sees at once that there is something in it. And to me the call that this age sounds forth is precisely a summons to individual men and women to deepen, enrich, uplift, strengthen their minds and souls in order that a generation may arise capable of grappling with the problems and issues which this war has served to lay bare. If ever, my friends, the world called you to take advantage of the opportunity Lent offers for self-cultivation, it is today. And I think any man or woman who today fails to cultivate his soul, to make it more serious, more intelligent, more heroic, more devout, is far more of a traitor, far more dangerous than the man who refuses to take up arms in the hour of national peril is generally purporting to be. I do not care what you think about military preparedness. I tell you with all the seriousness of which I am capable in the name of God, in the name of the weeping, bleeding, dying hosts in Europe and Asia, in the name of America that I love; Prepare your minds and souls to grapple intelligently and nobly with the issues before the world today, or no weapon of steel that any nation or all nations may forge will avail to save humanity from the doom of the fool and the sinner.

And that brings me to my last suggestion. Lent gives us an opportunity to learn how to suffer. It gives us an opportunity to dwell with Jesus during the last days and hours of his life, to catch his passion for humanity, for self-sacrificing service. I venture to assert that one great trouble with many of us is that we do not suffer enough, that we ought to be looking for suffering and hardship. Our lives are easy going and self-indulgent. We eat too much and we play too much. We have too much money, too many material goods and comforts of the flesh. We are mad for superficial, cheap excitement and pleasure. We live in the midst of infinite woe and sin, and we are callous and indifferent. I say that deliberately, I mean it. I know well enough there are exceptions, men and women who bear the infirmities of the world on their lacerated hearts as Jesus did. They are the exceptions. How many of us have spent a sleepless night, so much as one whole uncomfortable hour even, in the contemplation of the ills of the time? Nor have we in any adequate sense sought to meet the evil and the sorrow about us. Half the world is suffering the pangs of hell. England, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Serbia, Bulgaria, Montenegro, Austria, Turkey, Armenia—men and women, the very boys and girls, are pouring out their life's blood, some in brave endurance of persecution while, some in heroic defence of an ideal, many also in a mistaken, wicked battle for earthly power and wealth, but pouring it out for what ever cause. On every hand the teaching of Jesus are being challenged and trodden under the feet of men. Never in certain respects has the Christian Church seemed more feeble and futile than today. Never, on the other hand, has there been so much need of the Gospel, seldom perhaps, at least in many places, a better opportunity for its proclamation. And what are we doing, we here in America, whose hands are free, whose eyes not blinded by the heart of strife, we who might have seen the meaning of the hour of trial that is upon all the world? What are we doing? "They ate, they drank, they married, they were given in marriage,—they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded!"—may more, we dance, we sing, we shout, we revel, we frequent every conceivable place of amusement in the land. Foremost consideration of all, we make money. O, perhaps we couldn't help it. Perhaps it's all been done according to international law, though my poor muddled brain finds it harder and harder to understand how we are helping men up to God by making things for them to shoot each other with. But suppose it's all right—what have we been doing with the money? Yes, we've tossed a few pennies to Belgium, Serbia, Poland, Armenia, and then we've made the familiar complaint that there are so many causes to give to, it's always money, money that's wanted, and having thus quieted our consciences and shut up our hearts in time-honored fashion, we've proceeded to spend our fortunes on ourselves—America spreading her table of luxury and reveling while the world is in a death-agony! A Belgian talked to an American audience one day, told of the sufferings of his people and then spoke a startlingly true word: "Don't pity us; pity yourselves; you've only grown rich out of this thing."

"Lord God of hosts, be with us yet!"

What have we done to call our brothers over there to their senses, to remind them of the teachings of Jesus, of patience, unselfishness, self-sacrifice, love? The so-called followers of the Prince of Peace have smiled at Henry Ford, the only man who had the courage to believe that "the foolishness of the preaching" might please God—save the world; and now they are turning busily to making—no, not churches, not schools, not missionaries, not Bibles, but swords, guns, battleships and bullets for themselves. What have we done meanwhile to preach the Gospel to the world? Has there been some vast, popular, irresistible movement sweeping this country, saying: Now that the forces of evil are showing what they can do, we will show how the American Christian Church can redouble its efforts to preach the Word and extend the Kingdom. I haven't seen such a movement, have you? O, my friends, I'm not scolding you. I'm indicting myself—and you, if you too are guilty.

And there is our great opportunity this Lenten season. It is to walk with Jesus during those last weeks of his life, weeks of brave duty-doing, of loyalty, of suffering that the world might be saved, to walk with Jesus that we may know him and the fellowship of his sufferings, that we may each find a work for which we may suffer hardships, may toil, fight, die. Lent must mean something very practical to us all, or it is wasted. We call to serve and suffer comes to men in various ways. I have been wondering whether this church ought not to express its sense of the world's need, of the call of God to-day, by making some noble offering of money—money given not out of our superfluity, but given in such fashion that we feel it—to one of the many mighty causes, Armenia, perhaps, perhaps some missionary need that challenges our latent capacities for heroism and self-sacrifice. I am wondering whether we ought not to make some such noble offering to crown our Lenten season. I warn you that I shall not personally press this matter upon you. I would not for all the world have you look upon it as a burden that I lay upon you. If the spirit of God and the condition of the world lay no burden upon you, it would perhaps be foolish for me to attempt to do so. But I find myself at the point where I must feel myself doing something that costs and hurts, something for humanity and God, or go stark mad. And I know that my heart is not nearly so true and faithful as the heart of many a one among you, and so it occurred to me that all of us together might desire to do something, in no sense as a duty, but to give relief by expression to the surging passions in our hearts. And if some spontaneous response, should come from among you, some intimation that you would join with me in this, I cannot think that our Master would be ill-pleased.

And of course there are many other ways in which we may heed the call to follow him, bearing the cross. There may be some sorrow or burden to which you have refused to become reconciled. There may be a duty, small, disagreeable, very near home, large perhaps, and far from home, that has been calling you. And best of all, each of us can just go from here this morning and try his best from this moment to be a real Christian and to make all he touches Christian. If we do that, the difficulties will come, the work will come, the suffering and tears and blood will come, the kingdom will come on earth as it is in heaven.

CAPT. BUTTERFIELD DEAD

Capt. George Franklin Butterfield, who died last Saturday at his home at 131 Eliot avenue, West Newton, was born on Jan. 28, 1844, in Cambridge, where the family home was near Harvard College. He was of New Hampshire stock, his father having been born in that State in 1805 and his grandfather was major of a New Hampshire regiment. His maternal great grandfather was Sir John Beecham, who married a sister of Governor John Hancock. John Beecham was a member of an old English family of high social standing and influence, but was cut off from his estates in England because of his aid and support given to Hancock and the Continental Army. Mr. Butterfield's mother was born in the old mansion house across the Mystic River from Bunker Hill. Her grandfather then owned property from Chelsea Creek to Malden square.

When the Civil War broke out, Mr. Butterfield enlisted, he was rejected on account of his youth. On a fourth attempt at enlistment, he succeeded in being mustered in by calling himself older than he really was. He served in the Seventh and Twenty-second army corps from Massachusetts and took part in the battles of Zuni, Va.; Joiner's Ford, Franklin, Carsville, Deserted House, at the siege of Suffolk and in numerous skirmishes on the Weldon Railroad and elsewhere. At the battle of Carsville he was wounded twice. Later he joined Colonel J. P. Gould's Veteran Regiment, fifty-ninth Massachusetts Volunteers, and was going out as first lieutenant, but had a slight falling out with the colonel and resigned. He then passed a military examination before General Casey and was entered as captain of infantry in the regular army. He was under orders from the Secretary of War when Lee surrendered.

Mr. Butterfield was a member of Willard C. Kingsley post 139, G. A. R. and Somerville Sixth Massachusetts Volunteers, Company K. Later in life, Mr. Butterfield built and owned the Hotel Langwood, bordering on Spot Pond in Melrose, and was its proprietor for many years. He served on the Board of Selectmen of Stoneham for four years. Mr. Butterfield is survived by a widow and two daughters. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at his late home on Eliot avenue, West Newton, and were in charge of Rev. Roderick Stebbins of the Congregational Church at Milton.

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it costs; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

—"A Rose of Plymouth Town," was the title of a play which was presented Saturday evening by members of the Senior Class at Mt. Ida School, for the benefit of "The Idler," the Mt. Ida Year Book. The play was coached under the direction of Miss Bertha Everett Morgan and the cast included the Misses Ethel Mallory, Lois Davidson, Johanna Bruning, Florence McLeod, Elizabeth Page, Ruth Irish, Genevieve Chaney and Frances Brewster. Music was furnished by the Misses Copeland, Sollee and Fredericks.

HELP! HELP!

(From the New York Sun)

The Sun is reluctantly compelled to appeal for mercy to the promoters of the innumerable enterprises which wearing the compelling uniform of charity, seek to enlist its aid in the filing of their treasures, and if every other newspaper would speak the word of what is in its mind a united press would join in the plea.

The demands for space, for indorsements for violent assaults on the public pocketbook become insupportable. The disposition to impose on sympathetic good nature is too plain to be disregarded. The appetite for free advertisement grows daily.

We give a paragraph, and a column is demanded; we comply with a modest request, and are informed that we have enlisted for a long campaign; we question the propriety of paying commissions of 30 per cent. to professional collectors, and are charged with heartlessness.

And ever it becomes more difficult to keep abreast of the growing exactions.

Brethren, be merciful. We have done our best; but we cannot give all of the Sun to you. Many other good causes invite us, whose expression is not wholly comprised within the word "give." Let us, we beseech you, have a brief respite.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The dominant note of the week has been the hearing before the Rules committee on charges affecting the integrity of Representative Foster of Gloucester for collecting funds from residents of his city for furthering legislation. The matter is the result of a personal quarrel between Mr. Foster and another member of the House, but it shows one side of legislative procedure, which fortunately is unknown in this city.

One of the interesting reports made recently was that of the Commission on Probation on Juvenile Delinquency. The commission believes that the faults found in the law are due to poor administration rather than to any inherent weakness in the law itself.

As to the notion that the juvenile law throws such protection around juvenile offending as to make the arrest of children useless, a view that is found to be held by some police officers, the Commission says, "the law gives no warrant for this view. It has deprived the courts of none of their power. It does not contemplate nor warrant any relaxed insistence upon respect for law and order. It has not invaded the field of police activity or court correction with a purpose to take away any of the protection against wrong-doing. In its operation it has only sought to require that the entire process of dealing with the child shall be not so much punitive as constructive.

In the matter of dealing with parents who are responsible for the delinquency or waywardness of their children the Commission recommends an entirely new section of the juvenile delinquency act. Under the present law, which is very nearly a dead letter, the parent can only be reached after proceedings against the child have resulted in finding him to be either delinquent or wayward. The main feature of the new section is that it does not propose first proceedings against the child but goes directly after the parent, guardian or other person having custody or control of the child, who "shall be found to have knowingly or wilfully encouraged, aided, caused or abetted or connived at or has knowingly or wilfully done any act or acts calculated to promote or contribute to the delinquency or waywardness" of the child.

The Election Laws committee has reported a bill to restore the system of party enrollment at primaries which was in effect a few years ago and which the people decided against by an overwhelming vote. Practical operation of the present system shows even worse conditions than under the old method and the committee is acting wisely in taking this stand. If a referendum is added to the bill, as seems likely, there is considerable speculation as to the vote which will be cast on its acceptance.

The bill for a constitutional convention which was favorably reported from the committee on Constitutional Amendments is before Ways and Means and there is a report that this committee has stricken out the provision that the delegates shall receive $750 compensation. This would mean that the delegates themselves could decide what salary, if any should be paid, and it is a safe bet that it won't be less than $750. The bill, if passed by the Legislature, must be accepted by the people at the coming state election, and if so accepted, will be followed by a special election next spring at the people's sessions of the convention will follow prorogation of the 1917 Legislature.

One of the interesting bits of temperance legislation is the favorable committee report on a bill to abolish the annual vote on the liquor question and only have the same acted upon on petition of at least 10 per cent of the gubernatorial vote. Each city and town voting No would stay dry, under this bill, until the question was placed on the ballot in the above manner. On the other hand each city or town voting Yes would stay wet in a similar fashion. Newton has little interest in the bill, as there is no question where our people stand on local option.

The latest word from the seething cauldron of redistricting councilors and senatorial lines, is to the effect that Newton will do well to retain practically its present senatorial district. While everyone admits that the Newton, Waltham and Woburn district is ideal from every business standpoint, the district is too strongly republican to suit the political managers.

The bill to authorize Grace Church Parish to hold property to the amount of $600,000 and which was occasioned by the recent bequest of the late Charles W. Emerson, has been favorably reported and is now on its passage thru the Legislature.

Newton residents will be interested in the proposed bill of the special committee on consolidation of state commissions which abolishes the Commission on Economy and Efficiency of which former Representative Thomas W. White of Upper Falls is a member. The bill establishes the office of State Controller at a salary of $5000 to exercise most of the present duties of the Economy Commission.

Newton's representatives have voted together on recent rollcalls sustaining Governor McCall's various vetoes, against the bill for the enforcement of act regulating the procuring of persons in place of employees during strikes, etc., in favor of the constitutional amendment striking out the word "Proportional" in matters of taxation, against the bill making New Year's day a legal holiday and against the bill to have the vote on the liquor question taken only on petition. Leave to withdraw has been reported by Mercantile Affairs on the bill relative to the transportation of liquors into No license communities, but it is probable that the bill itself will be substituted for the adverse report.

The Senate has killed the so called Allen bill making more severe the penalties for reckless and drunken automobilists.

John C. Brimblecom.

Members of Gethsemane Commandery, K. T., are looking forward with much interest to the annual Mardi Gras Carnival to be held at Temple hall next Friday night.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

On Wednesday morning, March 15, the Sophomore Class Entertainment was held in the Assembly Hall. The pupils of all four classes were present. Entertainments by the Senior Class and by the Junior Class had previously been given, and the school had been awaiting Wednesday's event with great interest. It was certainly a complete success in every way, and many were of the opinion that it was even the best of the three. The program, very effectively arranged by Miss Carey, of the English Department, was as follows: 1. "The Little God and Dickie," by Josephine D. Bacon, recited by Gladys Drebbel. 2. "A Visit from Poe," written and recited by Sidney Andrews. 3. Piano Solo—Chopin, by Claire Leonard. 4. "Japanese Baselitz," by Wallace Irwin, recited by John Barry. The entertainment was under the management of Miss Carey and Miss Hinkel.

At the close of this entertainment, Mr. Adams announced that a very important special meeting of the Senior Class will be held in the hall next Monday morning, and urged all the members of the class to be present.

On account of the dark weather, it was found necessary to omit the battery practice in the gymnasium last Wednesday and Friday. This week the candidates are again working regularly. The squad has increased considerably since the first day.

The usual meeting of the Boys' Debating Club will be held during the first period next Monday morning.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The usual Wednesday morning Assembly was held March 15. The speaker for this week was Mr. E. H. Bell, who is a buyer in the upholstery department of Jordan, Marsh & Company. He chose for his subject: "Requisites for Business Men."

Both teachers and classmates will be glad to hear that David I. Douglas, a graduate of the class of 1913 of the Newton Technical High School, has recently been awarded the military cross for bravery shown in the European War. Mr. Douglas has been a member of the French ambulance corps for over a year, and has distinguished himself upon several occasions. It is said that at one time he very narrowly escaped with his life, when a shell burst directly over his head and wounded several men near him. Douglas's name was mentioned in the Boston papers of Tuesday, March 14, in connection with the names of a number of graduates of Yale, Harvard, and other colleges.

Plans are now being made for the annual Senior Play, which will be held in the Technical School Hall on the evenings of April 28 and 29.

N. H. S. HOCKEY

The Newton High School hockey team has just ended a very successful season. The local seven finished second in both the Triangular and Inter-scholastic hockey leagues, and would have undoubtedly captured the championship of the former league had not Captain Burkhardt been ill at a very critical period. The champion Melrose seven was the only opponent which deserved to defeat the orange and black this season.

The Newton boys fared very well in the selections of an all-star interscholastic hockey seven. Lacroix and Fiske were picked by all the Boston papers for the first team, while Captain Burkhardt was chosen as a second team man. The wonderful work of LaCroix was especially praised by the critics.

Shortly after the final game with Melrose High last Friday night, Alphonse LaCroix was elected captain of next season's team. This boy has guarded the Newton goal in a sensational and consistent manner throughout the entire season, often saving games almost unaided by his teammates. In the final contest Friday night Newton would have been swamped under an overwhelming score had any ordinary player been guarding the net.

EXHIBIT OF PAINTINGS

The exhibit of paintings by Mr. Fred H. Daniels in the third floor gallery of the Technical High School Building during the past two weeks has afforded the art lovers of Newton an opportunity to view the work of a local artist whose name now stands deservedly high among the painters of New England scenery.

In this collection are paintings that were made at Cape Cod, Bethlehem, New Hampshire, Harvard, Mass., Mystic, Conn., Chautauque, New York, and there are many delightful bits of the scenery of Newtonville.

Mr. Daniels is equally happy whether depicting a tree on Lowell Avenue in its brilliant autumnal dress or the ocean and the sand flats of Sandwich.

In placing upon canvas the sand and sea of Cape Cod Mr. Daniels has shown an eye for values and an imagination and technique that place him in the very front rank of those artists who delight to paint the New England coast.

True to nature in exquisite coloring and revealing the imagination and insight of the genuine artist this collection of pictures is thoroughly enjoyable and notable. It is an exhibit which convinces the visitor that sincerity, refinement and beauty of thought and skillful technique are manifested in every painting.

Mr. Daniels is Supervisor of Drawing in the Newton Schools and a well-known lecturer and writer upon art. His work has been exhibited in Boston and other cities, and he is regarded by competent critics as one of the most delightful and promising artists of certain features of New England landscapes.

As the inclement weather has prevented many persons who would gladly visit the exhibit from doing so a request has been made to keep it open to the public until March 25 and visitors will be welcome to the gallery until that date.

DEATH OF MR. AND MRS. BILLINGS

Mr. Edward T. Billings, a member of one of our oldest families and who for many years was engaged in business in Newton as a druggist, died at the Newton Hospital last week Thursday from old age. Mr. Billings used to keep the drug store in the old Eliot block, which was formerly the Eliot Church, and occupied the same site as the present brick Eliot Block. His store was the local post office, fifty years ago and is well remembered by our oldest residents. He lived in a cottage at the corner of Centre street and Centre place. Later Mr. Billings removed to Ashland, Mass., where he continued in the drug business, and returned to Newton after he retired from active business life some years ago. He was 77 years of age. The burial was at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, on Saturday, Rev. H. Grant Person officiating.

Mrs. Abbie Billings, his widow, died the following Monday at the Newton Hospital, at the age of 65 years, and funeral services were held from the residence of her nephew, Mr. F. O. Bailey at Watertown yesterday afternoon in charge of Rev. Mr. Person, the burial taking place at Mt. Auburn. Mr. and Mrs. Billings are survived by one son, Mr. Edward Billings of New York city.

COMMITTS MURDER

Mr. Irving Ellis Olmstead, a resident of Omar terrace, Newtonville since last September, is under arrest in Boston for the murder of Mrs. Violet Mooers, a Winter street manicurist, whom he shot in her office on Monday evening and from the effects of which she later died at the Hospital.

Olmstead is 44 years of age and employed as a salesman for the William Whitman Company and has a wife and two daughters, aged 15 and 11 and one son, aged 9. Olmstead has been paying attentions to Mrs. Mooers for the past three years, under the name of Harry Clifford, representing himself as a single man.

The Graphic Automobile Contest Closes On April 3rd

The end of The Newton Graphic Automobile contest, which has been engaging the attention of many hundred residents in the territory in which the Newton Graphic circulates, will come to a close at nine o'clock, Monday night, April 3rd. There remains but a few short days for the really earnest candidate to secure the necessary votes that will bring the main prize, the Maxwell Five Passenger Touring Car.

After all these days of strenuous vote-getting the finish is close at hand and the work that is done during these few closing days will mean much to the prospective winners. Many are the promises of assistance that will be realized upon. Unthought of business will be created and the last days balloting will surprise the most optimistic campaigner. The shortness of the time limit, in which the workers have to procure the counters, means that no stone will be left unturned and no possible votes will be overlooked in the wild scramble of the hustlers as each one makes effort to get the numbers that will make their position more secure. It will be a great finish. This each candidate knows and the size of the final vote cannot be prognosticated with any accuracy. Those who intend to be up among the top-notchers, when the final curtain is rung down on this great campaign, are up and doing.

Those subscribers who desire to make payment, in favor of any of the candidates, should do so within the next few days as each contestant will need all the votes procurable, and if each subscriber would make the payment for the current year at this time it would mean much to the favored one. The closing rules of the contest are very simple. The system used is one which assures absolute fairness to each one of the finishers. Large envelopes will be furnished each contestant, in which to place the final report sheets, and these will be sealed by the candidate and will not be seen by any person until opened in the presence of the judges. In this way no one but the candidates can possibly know the number of votes or the amount of business turned in for the last count. The reserve certificates which have been received by the candidates during the contest may be enclosed in a separate envelope and placed inside the larger one. There will be no more coupons counted, as none were published this week. Nothing but the votes issued on subscription payments will be honored, so candidates can spend their entire time in garnering the subscriptions which mean so much more.

The judges, who will have the final count in charge, will take possession of the votes soon after nine o'clock and make the award according to the results as found, after their canvass of the final vote.

All receipt books, whether used or not, should be returned to the office, as it aids in the final checking up of the business. The last publication of the standings in the Newton Graphic, before the end of the contest, will be Friday, March 31st, but candidates can work for votes right up to the closing hour, on the last night of the campaign. Candidates are warned not to think that all the votes have been gotten, as many are the families, in the territory, who have not yet been approached.

Those who have had promises made during the earlier part of the race should, now of all times, realize upon these as well as many more. Get all the votes you can. No candidate ever won by any too many votes. It is much better to win by a big margin than just a few and maybe not quite enough.

Oftentimes a few votes will win or lose a prize, and it is small satisfaction for one to know what they have lost by putting off their final effort until the last hour. Go out at once and try hard—do your best.

The battle of the ballots will wax more furious as the end approaches and every candidate should prepare for the supreme struggle which must take place between now and the closing time, Monday night, April 3rd. Indications point to a strenuous finish and many new subscribers will be created during the few hours remaining. Claims and counter claims of contestants and their friends indicate that the outcome is everywhere in doubt and public interest will be at white heat.

Some have picked one candidate, while others are equally certain of the one in some other section. No one can know until the end. It would not be a contest any other way.

As a parting admonition the management cautions each one of the workers to keep their own counsel and keep plugging.

Central Club of Newtonville Holds Reception and Dinner

Foremost among the many pleasant social affairs of the week, was the annual Ladies' Night entertainment on Monday evening given by the Central Club, in the parlors of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

An informal reception was held at six o'clock and Mr. Edward C. Wyatt, the president of the Club, presided. There were 125 members and ladies present at the dinner which was served at six-thirty under the direction of Mr. Fred E. Mann, chairman of the refreshment committee. The young people of the parish assisted as servers.

Following the dinner, the guests adjourned to the chapel upstairs, where an interesting musical program was arranged for the entertainment, under the direction of Mr. Fred W. Rust, chairman of the Music Committee. It included piano solos finely rendered by Miss Sublette, and readings by Miss Corey, which were greatly enjoyed.

A very interesting and amusing address on "Blessed Be Humor," was given by Mr. J. L. Harbour, of Dorchester.

There was a large attendance and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

MOTHERS' PARTY

The Stearns School Mothers' Party was held on March 13th. Naturally the interest of Baby Week had given the subject of the evening, which was "The Care and Clothing of the Baby."

Miss Hamilton of the District Nursing Association, with an assistant, gave a most interesting and helpful demonstration of the bathing and correct dressing of an infant. One of the mothers loaned a baby for the occasion.

After the talk there was a social hour in charge of Mrs. J. H. Aubin. The program consisted of mandolin and piano selections and a paper bonnet contest. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting is to be held Thursday, April 13th and is to be a musical evening.

During the month of March—Double blankets cleaned for 60c pair, Single blankets 20c each. Orders received at HALLANDAY'S, 99 Union Street, Newton Centre, only. No orders accepted under $1.00. Hallanday Cleaning Co., Tel., Newton South 1179-W.

SPRING DANCE

Most Enjoyable Event Held at Mt. Ida School

One of the prettiest and most thoroughly enjoyable social events of the past week in Newton, was the annual Spring Dance at Mt. Ida School.

A large company of students and their guests assembled in the gymnasium, which was very handsomely decorated in a combination scheme of green and white, with flowers and crepe paper. Strips of pale green paper were arranged across the windows, giving the effect of bars, from which were suspended clusters of wisteria, and the lights, shaded with green, made the dancing scene extremely effective. Cozy corners were draped off at the ends of the hall, and decorated with the School banners and green cushions.

The music, by Knights' Orchestra, was first class in every respect, and the program of popular selections all that could be desired. The musicians were placed behind a screen of evergreen and palms at one end of the hall.

The dance orders were especially attractive, being white leather combination card cases and memorandum-books with "Mt. Ida School," lettered in gold on the outer cover.

Delicious refreshments were served by Marshall, the caterer, in the red room, which was also prettily decorated for the occasion.

Mr. George F. Jewett, principal of the school was the patron, and the patronesses were Mrs. Jewett and Miss Betsey A. Todd, one of the teachers.

The monthly meeting of the Directors of the Stearns School Centre was held on March 21st. This board works in cooperation with the Stearns School in Nonantum. Any one interested in work can find the head worker in her office at the Stearns School Building between 8.30 and 9.30 on school mornings.

OPPOSE GARAGE LOCATIONS

Interesting Hearings Held Monday Evening by the Board of Aldermen

The question of public and private garages occupied considerable time at the meeting of the aldermen on Monday evening at which President Blanchard presided and every member was present.

The matter came before the board on the petition of Herman Weisberg to keep and maintain a public garage to keep and sell gasoline in connection therewith on Sumner street, Newton Centre, and on the protest of residents against the erection of a multiple garage by H. H. Hawkins on Pearl street, Newton.

The Weisberg garage was favored by his attorney, Max M. Kalman, who stated that the garage was to cover 5000 square feet of land, one story in height and would cost $40,000. It was opposed by a delegation of leading citizens of Newton Centre headed by Mr. Charles E. Kelsey, who said that the principal objections were on account of the lessened valuation to surrounding property, of which he cited the apartment house known as "The Sunner" and which was valued at $30,000, and the danger to school children who used this street in order to reach the Mason school. Ex-alderman A. B. Rice referred to the policy of the board not to grant public garages where oppositions developed and said that the objections raised by residents here was but an indication of the general sentiment of the whole city on this question. He urged the board to adopt a fixed policy on this matter as no one cared to develop property unless he could be protected. Mr. H. G. Lane said he owned four houses valued at over $20,000 directly opposite the proposed site of the garage and strenuously objected. The petitioner doesn't have to build his garage on this place, he can build elsewhere, but my property is already there and I must take whatever comes. The garage will injure my property, lower rents and bring in a less desirable class of tenants. Sumner street is an important street and is the direct route for a large residential area to get to the stores, churches and schools and the traffic has largely increased in the past few years. The new block at the corner of Beacon street obstructs the view and it is most unwise to increase the traffic in a narrow street.

Mr. J. A. Cole said his piazza was within 250 feet of this proposed site and as there was already another garage across on Beacon street he did not believe another garage was necessary and that if built it would prove to be a decided menace.

Ex-councilman Fred H. Butts said he had lived on Sumner street for 29 years and it was rapidly becoming a dangerous street on account of the increased traffic. The garage would be dangerous to the children. Mrs. Mabel A. Lane opposed the garage on account of the narrow, crowded condition of the street, and the noise and undesirable element always present at such establishments.

The hearing on the protest of residents to a proposed multiple garage to be built by H. H. Hawkins on Pearl street, was held on recommendation of the License committee. Mr. James S. Cannon appeared for the remonstrants and said the question was largely over what constituted a public garage. He read letters from Fire Prevention Commissioner O'Keefe ruling that the type of garage stated by Mr. Cannon was a "public" garage and should be acted upon by the board of aldermen. Mr. Cannon claimed that the Buildings Commissioner misconstrues the extent of his powers and had no right to issue a building permit to Mr. Hawkins. The whole neighborhood is opposed to this building—it is one of the oldest residential parts of the city and the residents have lived here many years. Mr. Cannon claimed that the erection of this garage would mark the cessation of this territory for residential purposes and said that the garage would instantly cut valuations and.

EDITORIAL

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the residents of Pearl street and vicinity in their very natural protest against the erection of a multiple garage on that street, for, unless conditions are immediately changed, similar structures are liable to be erected in many other places in the city where unrestricted land is available. There can be no question but what the erection of this garage will seriously affect property values in that neighborhood and that the city government ought to have some control over the situation. As a matter of fact the board of aldermen has absolutely no jurisdiction in matters of this sort, and while there may be some way to prevent the issuance of the necessary permit to keep gasoline on the premises, the building permit is already issued and cannot be revoked.

The obvious remedy for this unfortunate situation lies in an immediate change in the Building Code of the city, so that the approval of the board of aldermen should be obtained before a building permit is issued. The old building ordinance had a similar provision on all applications to build for business purposes and it would be no unusual method to follow.

The action of the aldermen in forwarding the recommendation of Mayor Childs that the water rates be reduced about ten per cent after January 1, 1917, is in line with the many suggestions made in this paper during the past ten years. If the city water was furnished by a private corporation, similar to the service rendered by the gas and electric companies, residents of this city would have been up in arms over the rates several years ago. No public service corporation would be allowed in this state to use its income for making extensions to its plant. They would be compelled to capitalize improvements of that nature and give the consumer a lower rate if the surplus earnings increased. There is no good reason why a municipal corporation should be treated any different from a private concern in this respect and yet the city of Newton for the past ten years has deliberately used its income for plant extensions and maintained a water rate, materially higher than many other places in the state. The new rate should be given immediate and hearty approval by the city government.

The action of the court in dissolving the temporary injunction obtained last summer by ten citizens restraining the city from making any payment for wages to Officer David Neagle does not settle the right or wrong of the matter in any sense. The court has not passed upon the merits of the case and the situation is just as unsatisfactory as it was last year, except that it is now possible for Mr. Neagle to be paid for his services as a patrolman, if the board of aldermen appropriate the necessary funds. At the present time no money is available for that purpose.

Residents of Oak Hill district are again asking the city to improve that neighborhood by providing adequate drainage for the South Meadow brook area. While this project will cost a large sum of money, the city of Newton has a splendid opportunity to make Oak Hill one of the most attractive spots in the entire city and with proper development, it will rival any suburb of Boston.

The long drawn out winter has so affected the wild birds in this vicinity that pheasants have been noticed trying to get food on some of our busiest streets. Those people who live on the outskirts of the city might relieve this situation to some extent if they would be willing to scatter some waste from their tables on top of the snow.

Saturday, March 25, 1916.

While it may not be strictly good business to accept trust funds for perpetual care of burial lots in our cemeteries, it is only another step in the co-operative principle on which our municipal government is based, and surely there can be no better method by which our citizens can be served in this respect than by the city itself.

Our Newton representatives did some good work in forwarding the bill to prohibit the re-transportation of intoxicating liquors into No-license communities except by duly licensed carriers. Let us hope that the Senate will follow suit.

LUNCHEON BRIDGE

The most notable social event of the week was the Luncheon Bridge party given by Mrs. G. Fred Simpson of Newton, on Thursday afternoon at the Brae Burn Country Club, West Newton.

It was a most elaborate and dressy affair, and attended by about eighty members of Newton's best society. Luncheon was served at small tables in the sun parlor, and a pale pink color scheme was carried out most effectively in the decorations. The hostess presented each guest with a beautiful corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas tied with pink satin ribbon.

Sixteen card tables were arranged in the attractive new tea-room, which lends itself so admirably to social functions. The game was auction bridge and the souvenirs were boxes of silk stockings, awarded at each table, for the highest score.

The gowns were especially handsome and all of the ladies wore hats, the newest spring models and shades.

Mrs. G. Fred Simpson was charming in a beautiful gown of black chiffon velvet with embroidered silver lace and diamonds. Mrs. William F. Plant was in brown chiffon over brown taffeta, with gold lace trimmings, emerald jewels and hat of lace over gold.

Mrs. Clarence Cheney Smith was attired in navy blue silk chiffon velvet, with gold lace and trimmings of other fur. Mrs. John Q. A. Whittemore's gown was in the new shade of Burgundy silk chiffon, and net, and she wore diamond ornaments, Mrs. Charles Jameson Brown was in Belgium blue silk and chiffon, with silver trimmings and modish hat of black. Mrs. Charles Whittemore, wore Burgundy chiffon velvet, ermine furs, and white hat trimmed with orchids. Miss Allen was attractively attired in navy blue satin charmeuse with diamond ornaments and Miss M. S. Anthony wore brown chiffon velvet with gold lace embroidery.

Mrs. Francis Murdock was in pearl gray chiffon with silver lace. Mrs. J. B. Simpson's gown was of mauve Georgette crepe and satin and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Simpson, was very attractive in a gown of navy blue satin and chiffon. Mrs. Edward Wheeler wore blue chiffon velvet with blue picture hat and Mrs. Percy Russ was in pink satin charmeuse. Mrs. F. O. Stanley wore an attractive gown of dark blue chiffon velvet, and Miss Anna Whiting brown chiffon velvet and bodice of white lace. The Misses Fox were gowned in black chiffon and Mrs. Oliver Fisher was in black and gray chiffon. Mrs. Abraham Byfield was attired in navy blue satin charmeuse and lace and Mrs. Mardis E. Gleason wore an effective costume of turquoise blue chiffon in combination with black and large black hat. Mrs. John R. Simpson wore white Georgette crepe trimmed with white fur and picture hat of pink and Mrs. J. Henry Sellman was in navy blue chiffon and Mrs. Leonard, brocaded satin taffeta over blue chiffon. Mrs. Henry Bothfeld wore black silk chiffon, Mrs. Ryder, Burgundy colored silk with hat of gold lace, and Mrs. Ralph Emery, white taffeta silk and chiffon with hat of shell pink and blue. Mrs. Hodgkiss of Manchester, N. H., wore dark blue silk. Mrs. Freedom Hutchinson was gowned attractively in dark blue chiffon with gold embroidery and black hat. Mrs. C. D. Stanton of Binghampton, N. Y., wore a becoming gown of black taffeta and Georgette crepe.

Among those present were Miss Anthony, Miss Allen, Miss Whitting, Miss K. Fox, Miss M. Fox, Miss Emery, Mrs. J. Q. A. Whittemore, Mrs. A. Byfield, Mrs. C. J. Brown, Mrs. E. W. Hodgson, Mrs. F. W. Webster, Mrs. Frank Webster, Mrs. J. B. Simpson, Mrs. J. R. Simpson, Mrs. Clara Stanton, Mrs. W. H. Emerson, Mrs. Harry Lutz, Mrs. E. T. Ryder, Mrs. E. R. Utley, Mrs. R. C. Mandell, Mrs. Wm. DEATH OF MRS. BATES

Mrs. Harriet Augusta (Pearson) widow of the late Joseph Coney Bates of Cambridge, passed away Thursday, March 23, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Edward R. Cogswell on Chester street, Newton Highlands.

The deceased was 72 years of age, and had been an invalid for many years. She is survived by one son, Mr. Herbert Bates of Brooklyn, N. Y., and two daughters, Mrs. John S. Bicknell of Columbia, Missouri, and Mrs. Edward R. Cogswell of Newton Highlands.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of which she was a member. The rector, Rev. Louis A. Parsons, will officiate, and the burial will be in the family lot in the Forest Hills Cemetery.

ONLY EIGHT MORE DAYS

The Newton Graphic Automobile Contest Ends Monday Night, April 3rd

Considerable of a shake-up took place in the standings of the candidates in the Newton Graphic Automobile Contest as published this week owing to the fact that some of the hustlers voted heavier than others and at the same time a couple of the hitherto silent ones, as far as the published vote has been concerned, cast a few of their votes.

Harry S. Cowdrey of Auburndale, leads the bunch today and is closely pressed by C. Clark Macomber of Newtonville, and George W. Keating, of Newton. The next, in order of their published standing, is Miss Miriam Bates of Newton Highlands, and Master Dudley Rhodes of Waban. One of the surprises of the week's events was the voting of William A. Stickney, of Newtonville, and George Haven, of Auburndale. Assurances of some real surprises when the final vote is announced is freely given. Just eight more days to work for the honor of winning the Newton Graphic Automobile.

LAST EXTRA VOTE VALUE
The last Bonus Vote Offer to be honored during the contest will be 15000 votes for each report of $15.00 in Subscriptions. It will entitle the payee candidate to bring in all business obtainable for this Bonus Vote Offer is the last one to be given.

ANOTHER SHOWER OF GOLD
A chance to profit financially for effort expended in securing subscriptions is given again this week. For each report of $30.00 in Subscriptions a $2.50 Gold Piece will be given. It will not pay any of the Candidates to withhold any

NEWTON 25 YEARS AGO

Hon. Levi C. Wade, at one time Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and president of the Mexican Railway Co., and one of the leaders in the political and financial circles of the day, died on March 21, 1891, at the age of 48 years. Mr. Wade was at one time a student in the Newton Theological Seminary at Newton Centre and subsequently studied law. While thus engaged he served as principal of the Prospect Grammar school at Newton Upper Falls for five years, the Wade school of that village being named for him a few years later. On entering the practise of law he formed a partnership with Ex-Governor John Q. A. Brackett. He was Newton's representative in the House for four years, beginning with 1876, and was Speaker in 1879. Mr. Wade also served on the Newton Water Board. Mr. Wade was elected president of the Mexican Railway Co. in 1884 and was also a director in the Atchison & Santa Fe Railroad. He lived in a beautiful home on Dedham street, Oak Hill, which he called "Homewood" and which included an estate of 225 acres. The funeral services held on March 24 were largely attended by many prominent men. Mr. A. F. Barrett of Yonkers, N. Y., was invited to become secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Catherine Bailey, widow of Calvin Bailey, died on March 24, 1891. At the annual prize drill of the Clavin Guards, under direction of Capt. Geo. C. Applin, Sergt. Scott won the Pulitzer medal.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stearns observed the 41st anniversary of their marriage.

SURPRISE PARTY

25 ladies dressed in Colonial style surprised Mrs. C. E. Josselyn at her home on Carleton street Saturday evening, the occasion being her birthday. Whist was played and the rewards of good playing were given to Mrs. Forsythe, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Boyd. During the evening Mrs. Fred Mason presented Mrs. Josselyn with a cut glass vase from the ladies. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Walter Mars, Mrs. Earnest Paine and Mrs. Reitsma poured. Music was furnished by Mrs. Russell and vocal selections rendered by Mrs. Bachmann and Mrs. Ferry. A very pleasant evening was spent and Mrs. Josselyn feels sure she will not forget the birthday of 1916.

—Mrs. J. Earle Parker's Sunday School class enjoyed a pleasant evening at the home of Doane Arnold of Waban avenue last Saturday. Edwin Codman has been elected president, Dudley Rhodes, secretary, and Mrs. Parker, treasurer, with Kendall Kellaway for assistant treasurer. The twelve boys are now collecting the old magazines of the village and with the proceeds of the sale will spring a surprise on some of the citizens.

HUMANE SUNDAY

This is a gentle reminder to clergymen that "Humane Sunday" comes this year on May 21. Ministers have their texts planned so far ahead of dates that they sometimes fail to get time for a "Humane Sunday."

The Massachusetts S. P. C. A. will gladly furnish all desired information if one calls up Brookline 6100, or addresses the Secretary, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston, Mass.

Painting Costs Less Now

To postpone needed painting means big repair bills as exposed wood soon rots. Once decay does set in, there is the carpenter as well as the painter to pay. Why not paint now and save the carpenter's bill? We can supply the necessary materials.

REAL ESTATE AND SUMMER HOME ISSUES

On Saturdays, April 1 and 8, the Boston Evening Transcript will print a generous amount of reading matter which will be of much interest to real estate owners in New England, investors and those who lease or have summer homes at the seashore, mountains or country.

Anyone having a house, farm, cottage or desirably located land for sale or exchange, or a summer place to rent for the season, will do well to secure advertising space in these issues, for they will have a wide circulation among interested people all over the United States.

Now is the time to place orders for awnings so as to get them installed before the sunny days, hot weather and the business rush begin and delay the work. There is no better place at which to get just what one wants in awnings than at the American Awning and Tent Co., 234 State street, Boston, the successors of C. H. Batchelder Co., an old and reliable Boston firm. Attention is called to their advertisement in another column, and in addition to awnings, readers will find this an excellent place to buy tents, flags and hammocks, in fact about all of the accessories of the Summer season.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The regular Senior Assembly was held in the hall last Friday morning. By way of preparation for the coming recitals by Mr. Darrach in the Classical School, certain members of the class, under the direction of Mr. Thurber, head of the English Department, presented a short Shakespearean program, consisting of oral themes and lantern pictures relating to the life of Shakespeare. Similar exercises, which are really a continuation of last week's program, will be presented at the Assembly today.

This evening a very instructive demonstration and lecture will be given in the Technical School Hall, on the subject of "High Frequency and High Potential Currents." A number of very unusual experiments will be performed, which will probably not be seen in this city again for many years. This lecture should be of the greatest instruction and value to all those interested in electricity. The demonstration will begin at 7.45. There will be a popular lecture accompanied by numerous experimental demonstrations on high potential high frequency currents given by Dr. S. S. Strong in the Assembly Hall of the Newton Technical High School on Friday evening, March 24, at 7.45 o'clock. Admission free. A welcome is extended to all who are interested in this subject.

YOUNG LADY CHASED

Considerable excitement was created about midnight Sunday, when Miss Carrie Halleran, while approaching her home on Lincoln road, Newton, was seized by and Italian. She broke away and ran to her home crying for help. Four young men heard her and started for the man who had run into the Italian settlement nearby. The police brought four men to Miss Halleran but she did not identify any of them.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The work of the Legislature is increasing in importance as the larger matters come before it for action. This week the House voted 95 to 81 to substitute the bill of the city of Newton prohibiting the transportation of liquors into No license communities, for an adverse report of the committee on Mercantile Affairs. There was an interesting debate on the matter on Wednesday afternoon. Representatives Jarvis and Allen being among the speakers in favor of substitution. The victory is by no means complete as it is felt that the real fight will come in the Senate.

The state will soon be burdened with another holiday if the New Year's bill which has passed both branches is signed by Governor McCall. Senator Ellis voted against the bill when it passed the Senate on Tuesday.

The amendment to the constitution striking out the word "proportional" was rejected Tuesday in the Senate, but was reconsidered Wednesday and postponed until next week for further consideration. Senator Ellis voted in favor of the amendment.

Mr. Allen and Mr. Jarvis were on opposite sides of the bill to establish a juvenile court for the city of Halloway on Tuesday, Mr. Jarvis favoring the bill and Mr. Allen opposed. Mr. Weston was not recorded. Mr. Jarvis was the only Newton member recorded the same day on the bill relative to the city solicitor of Cambridge, voting against an amendment offered by Mr. Lynch of that city.

On Monday Messrs. Weston and Jarvis voted with a majority of the House in favor of the bill relative to removal of city solicitors, and Mr. Allen voted in opposition.

All three of our representatives were recorded with a majority of the House last Friday when the bill relative to use of handcuffs on female prisoners was defeated by a narrow margin.

One of the interesting bills which will soon come up for debate is that relative to the milk situation in this state. Dr. McLaughlin, the Health Commissioner, after consultation with representatives of the producers and with the boards of health, has presented a bill which is a long step in advance of present legislation on this subject. The proposed bill gives the State Health department the right to make regulations for the production and handling of milk, subject to approval by the Governor's Council. Power is given to provide for a grading system, for pasteurization and to enforce the rules so made. Dr. Curtis chairman of our board of health, has been frequently consulted in this matter as the Newton Board of Health has made an enviable record on the milk question during the past few years.

The commissioners appointed by the Supreme Court last year to make the usual five year apportionment of the expenses of the Metropolitan Park district have presented their report, under which Newton will probably get by with a small saving over the present figures. The commissioners have changed the policy of basing the apportionment principally on valuation, and now believe that on account of the greatly increased use of automobiles, that population should enter more largely into the matter. Three divisions of the park expenses are covered by the report, that for maintenance, for boulevards and for Nantasket. Using the expenses of 1915 as a basis, the new apportionment ought to reduce this assessment for Newton from the $39,055.33 paid last year to $36,868.66.

The sub committee of the Redistricting committee has reported a tentative draft of proposed new senatorial districts and has placed Newton in the First Middlesex district with the same cities and towns as at present, except that Watertown has been transferred to the new Brighton-Allston-Brookline district.

Representative Jarvis voted in favor of the anti-vaccination bill which was passed yesterday by the House by a vote of 127 to 105 Representatives Allen and Weston voting in opposition. J. C. Brimbleton.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The second Sunday afternoon musicale held last Sunday in the assembly hall attracted a large and brilliant audience who were well repaid by the excellent program rendered by Mr. Guy Maier, the well known pianist and Miss Rosamond Young, soprano. Mr. Maier was particularly pleasing, his selections ranging from the weird chords of his own composition on an "Impression of the Island of the Dead," thru the rollicking measures of Debussy's "Minstrels" to the dainty music of Gluck's "Gavotte." The concert was followed by a tea, at which the guests were Mrs. Meylert Bruner, Mrs. E. O. Gruener, Mrs. E. E. Kent and Mrs. S. K. Kerns.

The Observer in the Boston Post had the following to say recently in regard to Dr. Van Dyne, a well known resident of this city.

Dr. Oliver Van Dyne of the Back Bay, a leading specialist in Nervous diseases, tells me of interesting incidents connected with his recent trip to English hospitals, where he has been studying peculiar maladies that are being noted among the British soldiers.

He says that scores of officers and privates had been coming from the front complaining of deafness, blindness, all kinds of pains, and even carrying apparently paralyzed limbs. Yet on medical tests the men were pronounced sound and well, and many of the poor fellows were sent back into the trenches. The men were called "Malingers," and were looked on with suspicion. Just as fast as they have gone back the hospitals have been filled with others complaining of the same troubles.

Specialists have been summoned, and it has been found that these men are all suffering from "nervous breakdowns."

Thus even the noise of shrieking shells and the confusion and din of battle is reaping its share of the harvest in the invalid casualties, as well as bullets and shrapnel wounds, according to the Boston physician.

Neutrality for Him.

Prisoner (on being asked, "What say you, 'Gully' or 'Not guilty?'")—"Me Lud, I leave it to the learned counsels to fight it out between 'em. I'll be neutral."—London Punch.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The library has placed on exhibit in its entrance hall a loan collection of etchings from the Chicago Society of Etchers. This society was organized in 1910 and it is international in scope, the name merely indicating its place of origin and the location of its headquarters. Its active members are now found in many of the states; also in Canada, Italy, France, England, Germany and Japan. The etchings in this exhibit consist largely of prints that have appeared in the annual exhibition.

Among the etchers whose prints are shown at the present time, are Lester G. Hornby who contributes two French pictures, La Petite Epicerie and Quai du Bassin; Boulogne; Jacques Reich exhibits his Benjamin Franklin, which is the largest of the etchings; George Senseney "The Bend in the River"; Edward Ertz "By the Bridge"; Paul Welsch "Port St. Nicolas"; M. Paul Roche "A Study" and "The Sentinel"; David T. Workman "Durham Bridge"; T. R. Congdon "Fountain at St. Sulpice"; Charles B. King "Near Amsterdam"; etc. There are also a number of etchings in color. Two by Maud Hunt Squire entitled "On the Quai" and "Peasant," and one each by Jessie A. Walker and Nell Coover, entitled respectively "A street in Brittany" and "Jealousy."

Those interested in etchings may desire knowledge of the books which this society recommends, and which the library here possesses. They include Philip Gilbert Hamerton's Etching and etchers (WQO.H17). Etchings, by Frederick Wedmore (WQO.W41e). Fine prints, by the same author. (WQO.W41). Etching in England, also by Wedmore (WQO.W41). How to appreciate prints, by Frank Weitenkampf (WQO.W43). Engraving and etching; a handbook for the use of students and print collectors, by Friedrich Lippmann (WQO.L66). A treatise on etching, by Maxime Lelanne (WQO.L15). The golden age of engraving, by Frederick Keppel (WQI.R44).

The library owns a number of books of which Lester C. Hornby is the illustrator, these are: Edinburgh, in the Artist's sketch book series (G43E.H75). Old Concord, by Allen French (F844C.F78). Paris reborn, by H. A. Gibbons (F079.G35p). Walks about Washington, by F. E. Leupp (G859.L57). Boston, new and old, by T. R. Sullivan (G844B.S95). Pages from the book of Paris, by Claude C. Washburn (G39P.W27).

The library owns also about 450 examples of Whistler's work, which were reproduced in colotype in 1910 by the Grollier Club. There is also a quarto volume, published by the Club, describing these reproductions in detail, and giving a short biography. To those interested in this great master of etching this a veritable treasure. The library has the following volumes on the life and work of Whistler: With Whistler in Venice, illustrated with many reproductions of Whistler's work, and of etchings and photographs by the author, Otto H. Baecher (WA.W579Ba). L'Oeuvre de J. M. Whistler, by L. Benedite (WA.W579Be Ref.). James McNeill Whistler by William G. Bowdoin (WA.W579B). The works of Whistler, a study by Elizabeth Luther Cary, with a tentative list of the artist's works (WA.W579C). Recollections and impressions by Arthur Jerome Eddy (WA.W579E). The Whistler book, a monograph of his life and position in art, together with a careful study of his more important works by Sadakichi Hartmann (WA.W579H). Whistler; butterfly, wasp, wit, master of the arts, enigma, by H. McFall (WA.W579Ma). Whistler as I knew him, by Mortimer Menpes (WA.W579M). The life of Whistler by E. R. and J. Pennell (WA.W579P). The art of James McNeill Whistler; an appreciation by T. R. Way and G. R. Dennis (WA.W579W). Memories of Whistler by Thomas R. Way (WA.W579Wa). Whistler by T. M. Wood in the Masterpieces in colour series (WA.W579Wo).

Any who may be interested in the purchase of copies of the prints shown in the exhibit may learn of the price, etc., by inquiry at the library.

Ice Box for Sick Room.

A convenience in the sick room is an improvised ice box. A large, common, red, earthen flower pot with a saucer a couple of sizes bigger than the pot should be bought, also a small wire trivet. Set this in the saucer and the lump of ice upon it and turn the flower pot over it. Stop up the hole with a bit of cotton and cover the whole with a damp rag.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Patrick H. Haggerty to Daniel L. Hunt, dated January 22, 1915, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Book 3943 Page 28, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, with the terms of said mortgage, at public auction in Boston (said sale will be held at 18 Tremont Street, Room No. 914) on Monday the third day of April, 1916, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all said mortgage deed and therein described as follows:—

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in that part of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, called Newtonville, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the Northwest corner of the same (now at land now of W. H. Carleton, or late heirs of J. W. Carleton, thence Southeastly (described in said mortgage "Southwesterly") on said "Lanes" land 132.80 feet to land now of L. Cooley, or late of one Haven, thence Northeastly (described in said mortgage "Northwesterly") on said Cooley land 56.75 feet; thence Northwesterly on other land formerly of the grantor, and now of E. H. Lowell, in a line parallel with the first named land 15.19 feet, more or less, to said Lowell Street, and thence Southeastly on said Lowell Street, 56 feet, to the point of beginning, containing 6910 square feet, more or less, according to said map made by Smith and Sanborn, dated Sept. 4, 1878.

Said premises will be sold subject to a mortgage of twenty-seven hundred dollars and accrued interest to the Whitman Savings Bank, to any and all unpaid taxes and other municipal assessments, if any; and to the restrictions referred to in said mortgage deed. $200.00 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; other terms at sale.

WILLIAM V. THOMPSON, Assignee of said mortgage.

The Proof

DON'T accept claims or opinions. Every man selling an automobile will tell you his car can be run at low cost.

He'll tell you this because he knows and you know that gasoline, oil and tires are costing more and more all the time. He knows and you should know that the operating cost of any automobile during five years' time is worth your careful consideration.

We don't give you any guesswork. We tell you what we know. We state the facts and figures—proved and verified figures. Here they are:

Maxwell World's Non-Stop Record Facts

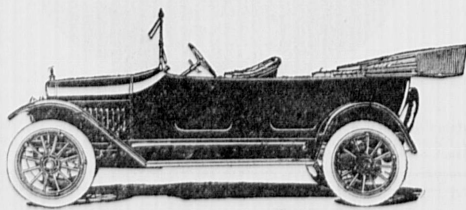

Miles without a motor stop.....	22,023
Average miles per day (44 days).....	500.6
Miles per gallon of gasoline.....	21.88
Miles per gallon of oil.....	400
Average miles per tire.....	9,871

Most Maxwell owners get even better results than these but we are just giving the actual figures set when the Maxwell stock touring car broke the World's Motor Non-Stop Record.

When you get your Maxwell you can be sure it will give you economical service—probably far more economical than these figures indicate. But to be sure that you can get your Maxwell, ORDER NOW.

We have a few here but don't know when we can get more. Freight cars are scarce and the Maxwell factories, in spite of doubled production, are away behind in shipments.

But the new Hardware firm is here first, and ready for business. Since organizing and taking over the Hardware stock of H. W. Orr Co. we have sorted, renovated and replenished same until it is now more complete, authorities tell us, than any suburban stock of its kind in New England.

Prices are lower than on same grade of goods in Boston, as our expenses are less; also because most of the goods were bought before the recent extraordinary advances.

Therefore, while the present stock lasts, you can save money by buying here.

We will take pleasure in showing the new arrangement, give prompt and careful service and ever try to please in price and quality.

PINK TEA

Miss McGill entertained the Board of Editors of "Ye Idler," at a pink tea on Tuesday afternoon at the Mt. Ida School.

One of the student rooms was most artistically decorated for the occasion in a scheme of pink. The electric lights were shaded with pink, and the window draperies were tied with pink ribbon bows.

The general scheme was carried out in the table decorations, and delicious refreshments were served consisting of ices, fruit punch, and fruit salad; the place-cards were dainty little Japanese girls painted in pink, and pink carnations.

Miss McGill received her guests from 4 until 6, and wore a beautiful gown of white, embroidered in gold, with a corsage bouquet of violets. Following the tea, Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, the teacher of elocution at the school, entertained the guests most delightfully with interesting readings and after dinner stories.

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Two weeks ago the Editor of the GRAPHIC accused the ground hog of being a liar. The Club Editor had come to the conclusion that either the animal had come forth so early in the morning that he had mistaken the new lights in Nonantum Square for the rising sun and slipped back again for six weeks, or else that Leap Year must have something to do with it. This week's papers have borne out the latter theory and the following little rhyme, said to have been written in 1782, shows that the ground hog knew exactly what he was about, as well as what we are to expect for the next week:
If cloudy Candlemas day in leap year be,
And the woodchuck his shadow cannot see,

State Federation Announcements

Saturday, March 25, 2 P. M. President's Conference at South Boston, in the Hawes Unitarian Church, Broadway, by invitation of the Mattapanock Club. Subject for discussion, "Program of Work for the Federation for the Year 1916-1917." The president, one member of the Executive Board and one member of the club not a member of the Board are entitled to attend.

Tuesday, March 28, 2 P. M. Civics Conference at Medford in the new club house of the Woman's Club. Subjects to be presented, "Village and Town Improvement," "Juvenile Court and Probation Work," "School Houses as Recreation Centers," "The New Conception of Civics." Take either West Medford or Woburn car to Governor's Avenue. Running time 18 minutes. All club women invited to attend.

Mr. Charles Swain Thomas of the Newton High School will lecture before the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club at the home of Mrs. B. R. Gilbert, 41 Woodward street, tomorrow afternoon.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet on March 27 at the home of Mrs. E. M. Dimond, 2358 Washington street, Lower Falls.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. Fred R. Hayward, 1547 Centre street.

The Newton Highlands Monday Club will meet at Odd Fellows Hall on March 27. Mrs. L. F. Elliott is the hostess and Mrs. Henry E. Williams is in charge of the program.

The Current Events Class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will hold its closing meeting next Tuesday morning.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club will hold its monthly business meeting which will be followed by the presentation of the subject of the Russo-Japanese War and the Treaty of Portsmouth, 1906, by Mrs. Harry N. Milliken.

Mrs. J. K. Hemphill will be the hostess for the meeting of the Pierian Club on Wednesday afternoon.

The Auburndale Woman's Club will present "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde in the Methodist Parish House on Monday and Tuesday of next week at two-thirty.

Local Happenings

The West Newton Women's Educational Club held a most successful and attractive Children's Day last Saturday afternoon. The first part of the afternoon was taken up with living pictures of Mother Goose characters, in which these children took part: Julia, Leora and Priscilla Bacon, Curtis Church, Fred Provost, Ruth and Herbert Holbrook, Hubert, Ruth and Gordon Jenkins, John Waters, Joshua Seaver, Regina Woolston, Mary Norcross, Alice Foley and G. W. St. Amant, Jr. For the closing number all the children were grouped upon the stage about the flag and sang "The Star Spangled Banner." As the pictures were being shown Mrs. Provost sang many of the familiar melodies. Afterwards the children marched about the hall decked in gay caps and then joined in informal dancing until refreshments were served. Mrs. Henry Jenkins and Mrs. Joshua Seaver played for the dancing.

Mrs. Fred B. Young and Mrs. Harry S. Wells posed the children, while Mrs. G. W. St. Amant and Mrs. Guy S. Holbrook were in charge of the arrangements. Much credit is due all these ladies, as well as the individual mothers who joined in so heartily to make the party a success. There were about sixty children present.

At the meeting of the Newton Federation Executive Board on Monday morning the routine business was transacted and reports given of the work of Baby Week. Mrs. Franklin B. Smith of the Social Science Club gave account of the State Federation meeting at Melrose and Mrs. Milliken told something of the questions discussed at a recent conference of Presidents. The Board voted to send a letter of protest to Mayor Childs in regard to the proposed Moving Picture House at Newtonville. The outgoing and the incoming presidents of the Federation were made the delegates to the Biennial. The Auburndale Woman's Club was admitted to membership.

At this week's meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club held with Mrs. J. W. Moore, Mrs. G. M. Stone took her hearers on a visit to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. By means of a large number of pictures borrowed from the museum she was able to conduct the members through the Egyptian department and this was supplemented by readings from Amelia E. Edwards' "A Thousand Miles up the Nile." Miss Clara White treated the mural paintings of La Farge, Abbey and Sargent in the Museum.

"The Novels of Henry James" was the subject considered by the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. last Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. F. Hayward. Mrs. E. G. Swift was in charge of the program. Miss Cora S. Cobb reviewed "The European," Miss Mary Hyde, "Daisy Miller," Mrs. Emory W. Clark, "Portrait of a Lady," Mrs. Lincoln, "The Awakening," and Mrs. Swift, "The American."

On Wednesday morning after a short business meeting the members of the Social Science Club listened to a paper on "The Spanish American War and the Treaty of Paris, 1899," by Miss Burt. The paper described the fatal policy of Spain in the treatment of her colonies, which was responsible for their proclaiming their independence one after another, and the actions of the Holy Alliance, which finally secured the recognition of these de facto South American States and the recognition of the Monroe Doctrine, by President Monroe in 1823.

This Doctrine was discussed in its various phases as well as its bearing upon the Spanish war and the opinions of Hiram Bingham of Yale, Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard and ex-President Taft were cited. The dire conditions in Cuba which led to the Cuban revolt were touched upon, together with a brief account of the various events of the Spanish American war. The conditions of the Treaty of Paris which gave to the United States colonial possessions, opened an entirely new role for this country, that of a world power and ever since it has had its part in world politics.

The Auburndale Review Club met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. N. W. Bennett, 15 Windermere road. Mrs. Gilman read a paper on Aristophanes and his comedy, "The Birds," which was then splendidly given by Mrs. Gilman, Mrs. Almy, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Frost. The presentation was interspersed with selections in the viroli, singing by Mrs. Spaulding and whistling by Mrs. Frost.

On Thursday, March 23rd the Newton Centre Women's Club held its last regular meeting of the year. After the business meeting, Mrs. O. G. Callaghan, a member of the club, played a most delightful piano selection, the "Suite Mignone" by Rudolph Friml. Dr. Shailer Mathews, Dean of Divinity School, University of Chicago, gave a lecture equally well filled with humor and sound good sense on "Vocations and Avocations." After the lecture, afternoon tea was served.

The regular meeting of the Newton Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. George A. Clapp on March 23. The club was very fortunate in being able to secure Miss Nena Satella, who gave some of her wonderful original Musical Caricature Sketches. It proved a great treat to all who were fortunate enough to be present.

On Tuesday afternoon in the Technical High School Hall the Newtonville Woman's Guild scored another success in the presentation of the play, "Purple and Fine Linen." The parts were uniformly well taken so that it is difficult to single out anyone, but Mrs. A. L. Wakefield as the young minister, and Mrs. W. E. Strong as the mother all carried out their parts most creditably. Miss Louise Sherman, the deacon with the stiff leg, was particularly good. Miss Louise Wetherbee coached the play. Mrs. Henry V. Jones had charge of the properties. A particularly lovely garden scene was loaned the club for the occasion by John Craig of the Castle Square Theatre. Music was furnished during the performance by Miss Marjorie Holmes. The following named ladies comprised the cast: Mrs. Wyatt, Mrs. Strong, Mrs. Lackey, Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, Miss Bassett, Mrs. I. O. Palmer, Miss Westgate, Mrs. Drew, Miss Sherman, Miss Hartshorn, Mrs. Thurber, Miss Allen, Mrs. Hebbard, Mrs. W. H. Heston, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Mrs. Wingate. At the business meeting which preceded the play the club voted to protest against the building of a moving picture house in Newtonville.

Literature and Education Conference
A joint conference of the Literature and Education departments of the State Federation of more than passing interest was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library. Mrs. True Worthy White, chairman of the Literature department, was in the chair and voiced her own change in attitude toward moving pictures, which was the subject chosen for consideration. She had feared that the photo play was taking the people away from the written word, but in her investigations she had found that they are in many cases sending the audience back to the books, either to refresh their memory or for the first reading of them. She stated that the conference had been arranged because we need to inform ourselves about the situation from many points of view.

Dr. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard was the first speaker and his topic, "The Aesthetic Value of Moving Pictures." The speaker owned to having had a previous prejudice against the whole thing, but after having attended a show in Chicago about a year and half ago, he had decided to study the situation and see for himself what it is about the movies that leads 3,000,000,000 people to pay entrance to these shows in a single year. He visited various houses practically every afternoon during the past summer, not for his own enjoyment, for he found them mostly very tiresome and oftentimes disgusting, but to discover the psychological effect upon those who attend. His conclusions have led him to assert that the movies are more than a cheap representation of the drama, that they are a new form of art, which has been produced by our civilization. Every work of art is perfectly complete in itself and helps us to detach ourselves from life. Space, time and causality are eliminated. In the photo-play time and spaces have lost all their meaning and the relation of cause and effect have disappeared. Each form of art needs a genius of a special kind and Prof. Munsterberg predicted that the photo-play will in the course of time have its Shakespeare. Its future depends upon its independence from other forms of art. Then the way will be clear, prejudices removed and it can be lifted from the vulgarity in which most of it is at the present day.

Mrs. Alice M. Carroll, whose business is to select moving pictures, pointed out the great possibility of their educational value in ways somewhat unsuspected, such as through the illustration of the moving industries, and asserted that the moving pictures can be as educational as the schools or the newspapers. New England, she stated, is far behind other parts of the country in the use of educational pictures. She urged the club women to ask the local picture house to put on at least one educational reel a week.

may become vulgar and most objectionable when seen upon the screen without the spoken word. The whole thing must be re-adjusted, but it can't be done in a minute. Every form of amusement clears itself and it is the women who can do it. When questioned in regard to censorship, he stated that things had passed the censorship board, which never would have been allowed on the stage. The decent producers are never afraid of censors.
Mr. F. P. Speare of the Y. M. C. A., who was unable to be present, sent an exposition of his standpoint in the matter. He said the people have acquired the movie habit, as the Orientals have the opium habit. Legislation can accomplish little. It has got to be demonstrated to the managers that it pays to be decent and that people appreciate good things when attractively produced.

SUPPER DANCE

An interesting social event of Friday evening was the supper dance given by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schrafft of Newtonville.

The entire lower floor of their residence on Kirkstall road was decorated attractively for the occasion with festoons of evergreen and a profusion of yellow roses.

More than one hundred guests enjoyed dancing from eight-thirty until one o'clock, to the accompaniment of excellent music by an orchestra of six pieces.

Supper was served in one of the rooms on the upper floor, which was decorated with sweet peas and carnations, carrying out a color scheme of pink.

Guests of social prominence were present from Malden, Medford, Sharon, Boston and the Newtons.

IN CANNING SEASON

SECRET OF SUCCESS IN "PUTTING UP" SUPPLIES.

Absolute Sterilization Must Be Obtained—Best and Easiest Methods of Getting the Best Results From Fruit That Is Used.

If anybody appreciates the kindness of Mother Nature it is the practical housekeeper. This is especially true in summertime when by her bountiful store of fruits and vegetables she increases the housekeeper's store at little cost and contributes much to reduce her labor.

There are several methods of canning, and the secret of success in each is absolute sterilization. The best and easiest methods of canning are cooking the fruits in jars in an oven; cooking the fruits in jars in a steamer or in boiling water, and stewing the fruit before it is put into the jars.

Glass is the most satisfactory jar to use in canning. Glass jars are becoming so universally in favor that they are taking the place of tin cans for everything; even for tomatoes. They are more economical than tin, for although the glass costs more in the beginning, it lasts and can be used over and over again. While there are many kinds of jars, the preference should usually be given to those with wide mouths. In canning fruits or jelly it is important that the fruits or berries should not be over-ripe. Fruit for canning should be fresh, solid and not over-ripe. If over-ripe some of the spores may survive the boiling and fermentation takes place in a short time. In preparing the fruit remove all stems, then peel with a silver knife, core or remove the seeds or pits as the case may be. Peaches, pears or apples may be kept from discoloring if they are dropped as they are pared into cold water to which a little vinegar or lemon juice may be added.

Canned Pears.—Twenty-four Bartlett pears, eight cupsful water, two cupsful sugar.

Bartlett pears are the best for canning. Put the water and sugar into a preserving kettle. Let the sirup come to boiling point and skim off the froth if any rises. While the sirup is heating carefully halve, peel and core the pears, being careful not to use those that are over-ripe or imperfectly shaped.

Drop pieces into a basin of cold water until all are pared. Put the halved pears into the boiling sirup, but do not stir. Take a large roasting pan with handles and place in it as many sterilized canning jars as it will hold. Pour some tepid water in the pan to a depth of about two inches, and place the pan on the side of the stove. The water will get hot and keep the jars warm. Sterilize the rubber rings and covers. By this time the fruit will be boiling. When the pears commence to lose their hard whiteness they are ready to take off. Lift out pieces separately with a spoon and put them into the hot jars. Fill jars and cover with the sirup; fill even with the top, put the rings and covers on and screw tight.

For Cream Dressings.

All white or cream dressings are made by blending the butter with the flour, then stirring it rapidly into the boiling milk. Use white pepper when making the dressing and boil it in a double boiler. Keep it warm, and thin with cream if too stiff when done, or fold in the white of egg, whipped to a stiff froth.

A teaspoonful of vinegar to a quart of flour if added with the ice water, gives the much-desired flaky appearance to fruit pies.

Tomato Pickle.

Six pounds of green tomatoes, if very large, cut in pieces. Put them into strong brine for 24 hours, drain them very dry. Put them in a stewing pan, cover with vinegar to which has been added one pound of sugar, one-quarter pound long pepper, one-quarter pound allspice, one-quarter pound cloves and one-quarter pound cinnamon. Simmer till tender, but do not let them boil.

German Potato Kloesse.

One pint mashed potatoes, mixed in two beaten eggs, one pint of flour, one even tablespoonful of salt. Form into small flat cakes (same as fishballs), cook in boiling water about ten minutes. When first put in kettle, stir around until they rise to the top of water. Very nice with roast of veal or any nice brown gravy. Good warmed over in butter, cut up.

Stale Bread Fritters.

Cut the bread in slices, about a third of an inch thick, fry in fat, from which a faint bluish smoke is rising, and when each piece is fried on one side turn it over and spread the browned side with marmalade or jam. When cooked, lift out and sprinkle with caster sugar mixed with a little cinnamon.

Fruit Fluff.

To every pint of chopped peach, banana or pineapple allow one pint of water, six eggs and one pound of sugar; beat eggs until light, then add other ingredients and cook until thick as custard. Strain, set dish in pan of cold water and beat until cold. Freeze and serve with a sirup like a sundae.

Chocolate Rice.

One cupful of rice boiled until tender. Make a sirup of one cupful sugar, one square chocolate; pour over rice and stir. Put in a mold to cool and serve with whipped cream.

ADVANCING COSTS TO NEWS-PAPERS

Most newspaper readers may wonder what blankets, muslin, felt, rubber shoes, glycerine, paper and other items that are handy things to have about the house have to do with the mechanical end of a newspaper, but as to the cost of the articles and other items too many to mention continues to climb day by day proprietors are wondering when the boosting of newspaper expenses is going to stop.

Since the momentous August of 1914—especially during the past six months—products essential to the publication of newspapers have jumped in price all the way from 10 or 15 to 3000 and more per cent.

War, directly or indirectly, is given as the reason for the enormous increase in the publisher's bills. And as war seems likely to continue for some time, so too the market, skyrocketing promises to go to heights beyond the present astounding prices. Nowadays it is next to impossible to obtain market quotations for even so short a time ahead as "next week."

It should be remembered also that concrete instances of the high cost of publishing given here are the lowest prices obtainable, because the publisher buys in large bulk. He cannot cut in quantity—in fact, war and rumors of more war mean the printing of papers far in excess of the output of normal times, which is one, merely one, item of war time increase in expenses that the thoughtless and uninformed overlook when uttering the fallacy so often heard, "the newspapers want war." And the publisher does not cut in quality of material.

Before the war, to begin with, the important item of tons upon tons of metal used by the stereotyping and linotyping departments in a great metropolitan daily newspaper plant, the metal, which is a composition of lead, tin and antimony, cost 8 1/2 cents a pound. A week ago it cost 12 1/2 cents during the forenoon. In the afternoon the cost was 13 cents. A few days later last week it was boosted to 13 1/2 cents a pound. And so the kiting goes on, the increase in cost alone amounting to thousands of dollars a year.

The various editions of newspapers cannot, to use a shop expression, be "put to bed" without blankets any more than human beings can. And the newspaper press must have the blankets in Summer as well as in Winter—rubber blankets. They are wrapped around the press rollers first, felt blankets would round on top of the rubber blankets and clean muslin bandaging covering rubber and felt, this padding being necessary directly under the fast-moving paper if clean printing is to obtain. Also quantities of the ordinary army blankets must be bought and cut into given sizes for the stereotypers' use.

The rubber and heavy felt blanket, however, has been jumped at least 15 per cent. The cost of the army blankets has gone up 20 per cent, the quality of the army blankets at the same time going down.

Press rollers, which are made largely of glue, glycerine and molasses, have gone up, so manufacturers notified the consumers last week, 18 per cent. Glycerine—and the quality used in newspaper plants is not the pure white glycerine one buys in drug stores, but a quality less refined—has taken one flying leap from an antebellum price of 19 cents a pound to 54 cents.

Paper mills that not so long ago were selling by the tons are now filling orders for pounds. Rags, which are being bought up by the powder manufacturers eagerly and are needed also by paper manufacturers in a cleaned and more or less sterilized form, are a necessity in the mechanical departments of newspapers. The price of rags has jumped just 100 per cent, or from three cents a pound to six cents. Writing paper, and in particular in a publisher's paper mill, and it is worth noting that this item has gone up 25 per cent.

But it is when the consumer of anything having to do with dyes or any other department of the chemical section of printing and photographic reproduction goes out with his shopping list that his hair turns gray. Metal, which the art department of a paper cannot get along without, cost $4 a pound before the war. Now it costs $50 a pound. Increases of 1000 or 3000 per cent, and more, loom up all over the chemical section of the printing plant.

As an ink manufacturer explained a day or two ago, the acids and dyes and everything else used in the colored inks especially have exploded from 300 to 3000 per cent in a jiffy, once the imports from Germany had been blocked. Blues that cost 58 cents before the war now cost $14 and $15 a pound, with increases in yellows also all the way up to 3000 per cent. And what is more of moment, the manufacturers of ink fear the prospects of filling demands in the future look doubtful.

Inks for Sunday lithograph sections have more than doubled in price, with an increase on every quotation for intaglio section inks going on steadily. Even the common black inks are affected because the rubber manufacturers are corraling as much of the carbon as they can and using it in place of zinc and lead, a detail which will account for the preponderance of rubber goods having a black cast, which shoppers soon will find on the market in place of the white cast rubber they've been accustomed to see in the shops.

Type foundries have increased prices 20 per cent, and no let up in the boosting in sight. Gum arabic, necessary in the making of matrices in printing plants, has jumped 100 per cent. And wrapping paper, used in the circulation departments by the tons, costs twice as much as it did before the war, with wrapping rope of sisal from Yucatan and jute wrapping ropes and twines from Calcutta now selling at an increase almost as great.—New York Sun.

NEW ENGLAND SEASON OF OPERA

The season of grand opera which the Metropolitan Opera Company is to give in the Boston Opera House the three weeks beginning April 3 will be in the full sense of the term "a season of opera for New England." With the discontinuance of Boston's opera company, this part of the country has been compelled to rely for its grand opera on travelling companies of small size and mediocre quality. Happily, however, conditions were such that the great Metropolitan Opera Company is able this year to spend three weeks in Boston, whither it is brought by Charles A. Ellis, the Manager of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The Metropolitan Opera Company, when it comes to Boston, brings everything except the Metropolitan Opera House. It is giving 22 operas in 25 performances, bringing its orchestra of 90, its 55 principal singers including Caruso, Farrar, Hempel, Gaski, Barrientos, the great Spanish coloratura singer, Alda, Rappold, Kurt, Ober, Homer, Martinelli, Botta, Sembach, Ullrich, Amato, DeLuca, Goritz, Well, Whitehill, Rother, Braun, Didur and Segura, as well as its three great conductors, Polacco, Bavagnoli and Bodansky. It brings its chorus of 100, its ballet of 60 and with its stage forces and administration forces the total number of persons employed in the Boston season will be over 400.

In every respect this will be the most brilliant season of opera Boston has ever had. There will be performances on every evening of the three weeks and matinees on the three Wednesdays and three Saturdays. In addition to these, there will be a special performance of Wagner's stage consecration festival play "Parsifal" on Friday afternoon, April 21.

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it cost; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

How much better to give the whole attention to what one is doing, but how many do it? The intentions may be of the best, but soon one may be thinking what will be done at the next club meeting, wondering what opportunities there are for securing a new suit at a reduced price, or what somebody said last night; and the time is passing and little work or study accomplished.—Christian Science Monitor.

OFFICE GARAGE

cause a loss in taxable property to the city. It will bring a less desirable class of tenants. Mr. Cannon said that there was no necessity to establish public garages on public streets. They should be isolated in back streets and away from residents and he urged the board to prevent such cancerous growths in the city.

Mr. B. S. Rich said he had lived in this vicinity for 19 years and had no personal feeling whatever towards Mr. Hawkins, who now has a small garage for two cars, the approach to which was littered with lumber, brick, shingles and general disorder. He suggested that a larger garage might increase this nuisance. He called attention to the fact that one house would be but 7 feet away from the garage and a fire might have serious consequences. The plans called for a number of doors opening into Pearl street and this would endanger those passing on the sidewalk. Mr. J. R. Learned said he circulated the petition and found everyone ready to sign it. The board should consider the future and said that plans had been made to connect Pearl and Jefferson streets with the new Charles River boulevard and this would mean a greatly increased traffic. He urged the board to take a personal view of the place. Miss Maher said they had just built a new house directly opposite and also own other houses nearby. They wanted protection as a garage would depreciate value. She called attention to the use of this street by many children on their way to the Opera House and who would be in danger from the use of this garage. Dr. J. R. McLaughlin said he had property valued at $8000 within 50 feet of the proposed garage and he had seen Pearl street grow from a mudhole to a very respectable street. There was a large amount of traffic in the street and as there was no race suicide in the neighborhood, the children should be considered. He thought it hazardous to have a garage for 12 cars and that it would be a fire risk and a nuisance.

Mrs. Margaret Mahoney said her tenants had given her notice they would leave if this garage was built and she thought the Buildings Commissioner ought to be removed from office for allowing any such building to be erected.

Mr. Charles B. Lentell was interested in the house adjoining Mr. Hawkins valued between $5000 and $6000 and he would sell it at $1000 less than the valuation if this garage was built. Dr. T. M. Callahan also objected and said if the garage was built he would ask for a permit to build horse sheds for the Allies. Mr. C. M. Veinot said this location was one of the best in the city, near the town and yet very quiet and settled with a good class of people and that the garage would depreciate property.

Mr. R. G. Kilduff for Mr. Hawkins said that persons aggrieved had an appeal to the Fire Prevention Commissioner, who had delegated certain powers to the aldermen for convenience only. He read certain regulations of the Fire Prevention Commission and said that Mr. Hawkins plans fully complied with the terms and spirit of the law. Each section of this structure would be a private building, to be rented by the month or longer and Mr. Hawkins will not control the use. There is no petition to keep gasoline and as Mr. Hawkins already has his building permit the remonstrants must bear the burden of proof. The premises are now occupied by an old dilapidated house and the garage cannot help but be an improvement over present conditions. Mr. Kilduff failed to see that this was such a valuable part of the city as represented and said that there were always some people who opposed everything. Mr. Hawkins would put up a good looking building, keep within the law, there would be no hangers on or sale of gasoline as at a public garage, and the doors would not be kept open Mr. Kilduff complained of the condition of Dr. McLaughlin's premises and to threats made by Mr. Lentell about selling his own property to Italians. Mr. Hawkins said he was not a very stubborn man and did not know of the neighborhood opposition until recently. He had an old house which it would not pay to repair and wanted to get some return from his property.

At the close of the hearing President Blanchard stated that as the board had no jurisdiction in this matter it would lie on the table. An echo of the matter came up later in the meeting when Alderman Murphy presented an amendment to the Building Code providing that building permits for garages containing three cars or more should be approved by the board of aldermen. Mr. Murphy said he understood that several similar garages were contemplated and wanted the board to be in the position to restrict them if necessary. Alderman Winslow, and Cobb said it was too important a matter to act upon hastily and objected to suspending the rule for immediate action. Alderman Price and McCarthy favored the amendment as defining the question of public or private garage and as simplifying matters. Suspension of the rules was refused by a vote of 11 in favor to 9 opposed, a three fourths favorable vote being necessary and the matter went to the committee for consideration.

Hearings were also held on petition of the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. for 2 poles on Washington street and for permission to take over the abandoned poles of the Telephone Company on the same street, on petitions of the Edison and Telephone Cos. for joint poles on Chester street and Lake terrace and on taking land for sewer in William street, at which no one appeared.

On a venire for jurors for the Superior Court at Cambridge, the following names were drawn.—Raymond Tucker, Walnut street, Newtonville; Warner Marshall, Clyde street, Chas. P. Frail, Warwick road, Charles Mills; High street, Henry A. Tomlinson, Marshall street and Charles O. Billings, Franklin street.

Mayor Childs sent in recommendations for $1200 salary for Police Officer David Neagle, the injunction of the Court having been dissolved, a salary of $1500 for Playground Director Hermann, an increase to $13,000 for garbage collection, $2800 for salaries at the city garage until June 30, and the abatement of certain water bills.

Kingwell for lunch car at Newtonville square, H. S. Greene for Common Victualer license, 16 Lincoln street, W. H. Mague protesting against bowling alley licenses on Washington street. West Newton, the Edison Co. for attachments on Cedar street, attachments on Crafts street, and to remove a pole on Linwood avenue, for sewers in Brackett road, and Albemarle road, for improvement of meadows at Oak Hill, for better police protection at Oak Hill and of Mary E. Meehan, Mary Lovely and Jane M. Van Slyke for Soldiers Relief. A petition of the Boston & Worcester St. Rwy. for temporary location of tracks during changes in Boylston street railroad bridge was granted.

The appointment of James A. Waters as Registrar of Voters for 3 years was confirmed with 20 votes in favor and 1 against. The appointment of Dr. C. A. Boutelle as Inspector was also confirmed 20 favorable votes being cast.

On recommendation of committees, Workmen's Compensation bills for Timothy A. Reagan, John Hannigan, Thomas Darcy and Gerardo Gerardo for small sums were approved, joint locations for poles granted the Edison & Telephone Cos. on Linwood avenue and Albemarle road, the Edison Co. was given attachments on Cedar street and right to remove poles on Beacon street, Waban, leave to withdraw was granted Joseph Lavina for pool tables in Nonantum, and on telephone poles on Groveland street, a sewer was ordered built in Albemarle road and William street, street sprinkling ordered for the year, betterment assessments levied on Beech street, various sewer assessments and charges levied the Presidential primary called for April 25 and rate of pay of election officers fixed at the usual figures, and various sums granted for city expenses to June 30.

No action necessary was accepted on the matter of transferring the care of school flags to the City Messenger's department.

An order directing the preparation of an ordinance reducing water rates after January 1, 1917, from 22 1/2 cents to 20 cents per 100 cubic feet and reducing the minimum charge from $10 to $9 per year was adopted after Alderman Harriman had heartily endorsed the project, which had been reported by the committee on Mayor's address. Mr. Harriman said that the income of the water department from 1915 was about $176,000 and its expenses about $127,000. Of the surplus, $41,000 had been used for new construction. The department was in a very satisfactory condition, having a plant valued at $2,250,000 and a net debt of only $450,000, with large payments on bonds due within the next few years, and which would further reduce the annual charge for interest. The proposed change would affect the 1917 revenue about $7,000 or $8,000 and would ultimately reduce the revenue on present consumption basis between $13,000 and $16,000. Newton rates are much higher than the average of the state, the city standing fourth from the highest and there was no good reason why the surplus ought not to be retained by the consumers. In addition, Mr. Harriman called attention to the fact that all the city departments now have water furnished them without cost, although correct bookkeeping ought to charge them with the amount used.

An order accepting $500 in trust for perpetual care of the burial lot of Orlando H. Davenport in the Winchester Street Cemetery was adopted after considerable debate. Alderman Winslow said that the lot was 18 x 20 and that this was the first fund of its kind and would create a precedent. As the city had to keep the cemetery in order anyway, Dr. Winslow favored the acceptance of the fund, the conditions having been modified by the committee so that the city would not be obligated to expend more than the annual income.

Alderman Price doubted if it would be good business to agree to all the conditions imposed and thought considerable expense might be involved in repairing the iron fence and keeping up the headstones. Alderman Allen thought it a question as to the advisability of loading up the city with trust funds of this kind. Perpetual care, he said, was a long time and the city might be entangled by the conditions in the future, especially if this land should ever be abandoned as a cemetery. Alderman Cobb favored the order as he had relatives buried in the cemetery and said he would like to have perpetual care of their lots. Alderman Winslow thought it the duty of owners of cemeteries to accept funds of this nature. Alderman Clement thought that the lawyers 200 years hence might fight over a fund as small as this, especially if Winchester street became as thickly settled as some parts of Boston. Alderman Cobb thought these matters could be safely left to the courts and the order was passed, with four Aldermen Allen, Angier, Clement and Pitts voting in opposition. City Clerk Grant created a new style of side-tracking negative votes by stating that the order had been passed with 17 votes in the affirmative and 4 "absent."

The board adjourned at 10.25 P. M.

LUNCHEON BRIDGE

At the luncheon bridge given by Mrs. William Duncan Reid on Friday at her residence on Waverley avenue, Newton, the floral decorations were especially elaborate and handsome.

In the dining-room green and gold were used in effective combination, and on the table, Killarney roses were arranged in a Shamrock center-piece. Five tables were arranged, and the game was Auction Bridge with a souvenir at each table.

Miss Florence Manning and Miss Elizabeth Fuller, who had the lowest score, were selected by the hostess to pour.

MARDI GRAS

Brilliant Carnival held by Gethsemane Commandery, K. T.

The annual Mardi Gras carnival of Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templars was held last Friday night in the Masonic Building, Newtonville, and, as usual, attracted one of the largest and most brilliant audiences of the season. Temple hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the electric lights suspended across the ceiling being encased in fancy lanterns, which gave a subdued and mellow lighting effect. The guests were seated at small tables, each under the charge of some member of the Commandery and at which light refreshments were served, while an orchestra played popular music. A monologue artist in costume entertained the crowd with some clever stories and jokes which were well received. The real fun began, when a delegation of Sir Knights, wearing ludicrous headgear, began to distribute paper bags containing fancy caps and hats, first to the ladies and then to the gentlemen, the blowing up and bursting of the bags adding to the noise if not to the fun. Colored balloons were also blown up and kept sailing in the air like a game of battle dore and shuttlecock, while rattles, and horns added to the din. Thousands of yards of colored confetti were thrown around and when word came to leave the hall, it was a veritable jungle of colored paper.

The program in the upper hall included organ selections by Mr. Leslie Cahill, monologues by Miss Bertha E. Morgan, and drill by the escort under the direction of Adj. Albert E. Billings.

The evening ended with dancing in Temple hall under the direction of Adj. Billings and whist in the adjoining rooms in charge of Dr. H. A. Roark, the souvenirs being awarded to Mrs. Mann, Miss Higgins, Mr. E. E. Forsyth and Dr. H. A. Roark.

The affair was in charge of a committee consisting of Grand Sword Bearer Asa C. Jewett, Past Commander W. E. Peterson, Sir Knights C. S. Parker, H. M. Chase, R. C. Thompson, and C. I. Flye, with Generalissimo George H. Dale and Captain General George L. Sleeper in charge of the hall.

MINSTREL SHOW

Members of Central Church and their friends must have been contemplating that a treat was in store for them Saturday night, for they turned out in large numbers, when the Neotes Club made its debut in minstrelsy. The chapel was filled to its utmost capacity with a most enthusiastic audience numbering fully three hundred.

The show was exceptionally well staged and coached under the direction of Mr. Robert Boyden, who also took a prominent part, and was accompanied for the musical numbers.

It was brimful of quaint humor and tuneful melody, and there was not a dull moment throughout the entire performance. Rev. A. J. Muste excelled in the roll of interlocutor and the audience was kept in a continual state of merriment by the bright local hits, and amusing repartee.

The end men were "Little Mister Hill," "Mister Stretch Carey," "Mr. String Puffer," and "Big Mister Hill" and each one sang a solo. Their dialect and singing was so good that they were heartily applauded.

Selections by a quintet composed of mandolins and guitars played by Messrs. Houson, Hunt, S. Hill, Carey and Byers, were among the pleasing musical numbers.

A nasal quartet composed of Mr. Robert Boyden, first tenor, Mr. S. Hill, second tenor, Mr. James Beal, first bass, and Mr. Lewis Puffer, second bass, scored a tremendous "hit" in their vocal numbers, and were so raptuously applauded, that they were obliged to respond to repeated encore.

A cornet solo, "The Lily," by Mr. Ralph Billings showed him to be an artist in his line, and for encore he played "Perfect Day."

Among the many attractive and amusing features was a very clever "take off" on the "movies," by a group of chorus singers, vaudeville and motion picture actors, and "Midnight Howlers," which included Messrs. G. Beal, Billings, Carter, Howson, McDonald, Leighton, A. Pierce, Alden Smith, J. Beal, Joe Byers, Fred Corson, Donald Hunt and C. Pierce.

The members of the club are to be congratulated on the success of their entertainment, which was given for the benefit of the Italian work in Nantum for the support of a bed at the Newton Hospital and for the club expenses.

DANCING PARTY

Pretty Social Affair at the Newton Club

Of all the many attractive parties that have been given during the season, nothing has been lovelier than the children's party given by Miss Edith Thomas, for her classes in dancing, on Thursday afternoon of last week, at the Newton Club, Newtonville.

The various classes were entertained from 2 o'clock until six-thirty, and until the well arranged order had been danced thru, there was no intermission to the happiness of the children. Of course there were intermissions to the dances, during which the children marched down stairs where refreshments were served in the dining room at the Club. The dancing by the little children, from two until three-thirty, was among the many attractive features. There were fifty in the class, and the children made a very pretty picture as they marched around the hall, the little girls attired daintily in white, and danced very gracefully the "Baby Polka," "Heel and Toe Polka," and "Ostendase." There were two Germans, and the favors were little paper caps for the boys and capes for the girls.

The program had been arranged so as to have the dancing continuous, and as the children's class marched down the side-stairs to the dining-room for refreshments the intermediate class marched into the hall, thru the front stair case.

The pupils of the intermediate class danced exceedingly well, and the program included the "One Step," "Three Step," Foxtrot and the glide waltz. The teacher believes that the pupils should be instructed in the old style waltz, as the new dances are but a rhythmical adaptation of the old steps, and the waltz, the basis of all rhythms and when done gracefully the waltz movement is perceptible in a great many dances of the day.

The Roger de Coverley School class of 40 pupils entered the hall at 4.30 and the advanced class met from 5.30 until 6.30; the dance order included the "Foxtrot," "Canter," "One-Step," and "Three Step," which dances were very cleverly and gracefully executed, reflecting great credit on both pupils and teacher.

Miss Thomas met the classes as they entered; she was very attractive in a handsome gown of yellow chiffon and gold lace in combination with yellow.

DEATH OF MRS. BAILEY

Prominent in Social and Club Life in this City

Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey, for many years prominent in church and social circles in Newton and widely known from her activities in women's clubs and patriotic organizations, died suddenly last Saturday morning, March 25, at her home, 13 Richardson street. She had never fully recovered from a serious illness last summer, although able to be among her friends and to attend to many of her usual activities until the last week of her life.

Not only was Mrs. Bailey held in affectionate regard by a wide circle of her fellow townspeople, but she was as well one of Boston's most loved and popular club women, and her passing on has been a great shock to many friends throughout the United States. Mrs. Bailey before marriage was Anna Leland, daughter of John Murray and Sophronia Page (Savage) Leland. She was born in Somerville and was a thorough New Englander through eight generations of paternal ancestry, the Lelands being among the pioneer families of Middlesex county.

Educated in the public schools of Somerville, she was one of the two girls who were the first to take full classical course at the Somerville high school. It was her purpose to attend college, but fate beckoned in another direction and she accepted a position as teacher in the public schools of her native town, soon becoming principal of the school. Later she was called to Cambridge, where she taught until her marriage in 1884 to Mr. Alvin Richards Bailey, then of Somerville. In addition to her regular work as teacher she had classes in French, German, art, literature, elocution and physical culture. Her natural gifts were enhanced and broadened by travel during the vacations and later in life she took many

AUTO CONTEST CLOSES MONDAY

Winner of Maxwell Touring Car Will Soon Be Decided by Judges

Next Monday evening, April 3rd, at nine o'clock, The Newton Graphic Automobile Contest, which has been commanding the attention of many Newton people, for several weeks, will come to a close. For the past few weeks several hustling aspirants have waged a heated, though noticeably friendly, canvass for subscriptions for The Newton Graphic by which vehicle the winning of the Maxwell Car was possible. Each one has worked and has been substantially assisted by many friends as well as their time and convenience would allow with the one big thought, the winning of the automobile which will be awarded to the one candidate securing the greatest number of votes. To be sure, there are other prizes which would satisfy the average worker but the class of candidates who are entered in this race for supremacy are not the ordinary kind. Each one has entered the fray with the one aim and that is to win the grand prize, the Five Passenger Maxwell Touring Car.

The offer of the three auxiliary prizes of $50.00 in Gold with the assurance of ten per cent of the amount of cash turned in by candidates as a result of the contest has made an array of offerings that was not to be viewed lightly. And now, after all these days of hustle and excitement the end is very near. What the final result will be is too much for the most astute campaigner to forecast. It is a well known fact that the last and final vote exhibit which will make winners of some and losers of others will be a surprise of the genuine kind. No contest is won until the final vote has been cast and counted and this race is no exception. There is certain to be thousands of votes polled at the last moment that were not even thought of before. The reserve vote controlled by most of the candidates will make a big total a certainty. As stated last week the final closing of the contest is very simple and yet insures absolute protection to each one of the candidates. Large envelopes will be furnished each contestant in which to place the last report as well as any reserve vote which may have been accumulated during the voting. These envelopes will be opened only in the presence of the three judges who have been chosen to make the final count and award.

While there are no more bonus vote offers, candidates will be allowed to work for subscriptions and votes right up to the closing hour, nine o'clock. The same scale of votes which has been in force during the whole contest, minus the bonus offer, will be honored until the contest is over. Many thousand votes are sure to be uncovered from the time of this issue of The Newton Graphic until the grand finish. All promises of votes should now be made a reality. Many a one year subscription can be extended to a two, or three year subscription. By this plan thousands of votes can be easily procured. Extended subscriptions will be honored right up to the last moment of the voting.

All business to be contained in the awarding of the prizes must be in the office by the closing hour. A short time will be required to get the votes issued and then the judges will count the votes and the result will be made known as soon as secured.

If by any chance there are any points that are not entirely clear each candidate is urged to communicate with the Automobile department of The Newton Graphic without delay.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The present week has been a most interesting one on Beacon Hill, especially for many residents of this city. The liquor transportation bill, which is near to the hearts of many of our good citizens, was warmly debated on Wednesday, adverse amendments voted down and passed by the House by a substantial majority.

The preferential voting bill for this city which it is hoped will correct the obnoxious condition created at our last municipal primary and incidentally save this city about $1000 in election expenses, was passed by the House to a second reading on Tuesday after a debate in which Representatives Allen and Weston took part. The bill was opposed solely on the ground that it might prove a dangerous experiment to attempt, even if residents of Newton wanted to try the new method.

A hearing was given on Tuesday by Mercantile Affairs on a bill proposed by a commission appointed soon after the Peabody school house fire, and which proposed radical changes in both private and public school houses. The bill was so extreme that it would even require a sprinkler system to be installed over a swimming tank. The committee later referred the matter to the next General Court.

The committee on Metropolitan Affairs has reported a bill by a majority of one, to allow the Billy Sunday Committee to erect a tabernacle for the coming meetings next fall, without full compliance with the Boston Building laws. The progress of this bill will be watched with interest, as Mr. Allan C. Emory of this city is chairman of the Sunday committee.

In the House on Monday, Representative Jarvis again voted in favor of the anti-vaccination bill, with Representatives Allen and Weston voting in opposition. Engraving of the bill was refused.

The attempt on Tuesday in the Senate to reconsider the rejection of the constitutional amendment to strike out the word "proportional" in the constitution failed by a narrow margin, and this important step in the efforts to improve our archaic taxation system is postponed for at least two years. The passage of this bill this year by the Senate would have allowed the question to be put before the people at the next state election. Its defeat means that the whole matter must begin again at the beginning and be favored by two legislatures before the people can act.

The committee on election laws has reported a bill to restore the form of party enrollment which was in force a few years ago. The bill requires acceptance by the people at the state election.

The milk situation in this Commonwealth was discussed this week at a hearing on a bill presented by State Health Commissioner McLaughlin and which has been mentioned in this column before. The measure was endorsed by the state senate, representing the producers and has been approved by representatives of the local board of health and it is probable that it can be made a little more practical will be a solution of a much vexed problem.

There is a fair prospect that the people of this state will be called upon to act at the state election in November on several matters of referendum. The proposed constitutional convention, the abolition of party enrollment and the acceptance of New Years day as a holiday have already been ordered placed on the ballot and there are others being contemplated. The proposition that the state purchase all the street railways in the Commonwealth, and which was also to be referred to the people was defeated yesterday in the House.

BARTLETT-FOSTER

The wedding of Miss Julia R. Foster, daughter of Mr. John C. Foster of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mr. E. Edward B. Bartlett of Milwaukee, Wis., took place Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Chandler Robbins of Concord road, Weston.

The Episcopal ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederick A. Reeve of Newton. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Sargent, of Boston, as bridesmaid and the bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Wallis Bartlett as groomsmen.

The bride is a graduate of the Farrington School at Farrington, Conn., and Mr. Bartlett graduated from the University of Wisconsin and took a post-graduate course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is one of the best known amateur golfers of the Middle West and has won a number of tournaments.

On their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett will reside in Milwaukee.

MR. HOPEWELL DEAD

Death Occurs at Washington While on the Way Home

Friends in this city were greatly shocked to learn on Tuesday morning of the death in Washington the previous evening of Mr. John Hopewell, of Waverley avenue, one of the most prominent citizens of this city. Mr. Hopewell, who has been travelling in the South for the past few weeks with his wife and daughter reached Washington about ten days ago and was taken ill at his hotel with a slight shock. He improved so rapidly, however, that it was thought there was no serious danger, although members of his family went on to be with him.

Mr. Hopewell was born in Greenfield, Mass., February 2, 1845, the son of John and Catherine Hopewell. He was educated in the district school and at a business college and in 1868 became a salesman for L. C. Chase & Co. of Sanford, Me., manufacturers of plushes and robes. In 1885 he was the senior member of the firm and later when it became incorporated, was its president. Mr. Hopewell was also a director of the Sanford Mills and of the First National Bank of Boston. He resided for many years in Cambridge where he was an influential factor in the business, political and social life. He was a representative in the General Court in 1892, a delegate to the National Republican Convention in 1896, served as president of the Cambridge Board of Trade, and as a delegate to the National Board of Trade for four years. He was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Algonquin, Boston Art and B. A. A. of Boston, one of the organizers and vice-president of the Home Market Club, an ex-president of the Colonial Club of Cambridge and of the Hunnewell Club of Newton, one of the managers of the Protective Tariff League of New York, a member of the Brae Burn Country Club and of Hampden Lodge of Masons of Springfield.

He is survived by a widow, who was Miss Sarah W. Blake, and five children, Messrs. Charles F., Frank B., and Henry C. Hopewell and Mrs. C. M. Casselberry of Brookline and Mrs. C. C. Colby of Newton.

The funeral services will be held on Monday at 1 o'clock at his late residence 273 Waverley avenue, Newton.

UNION RESCUE MISSION

At the union service held last Sunday evening at the Baptist Church, Newton Centre, Mr. P. E. Call, the superintendent of the Union Rescue Mission gave an interesting address.

Mr. Call has had a wonderful record for thirteen years. Mr. Call himself was reformed in 1895, after which he attended the Northfield School, where he became convinced that he ought to go into the rescue mission work. He afterwards studied at the Gordon Bible Institute, from which he graduated in 1903. The work of the last year was set forth by Mr. Call and those associated with him. Mrs. A. L. Sturtevant of Newton Centre who has been giving her time to work with the women and children for which she has found a great need, gave an interesting account of her work.

Several converted men spoke of their experience and what the Mission has done for them. Mr. F. F. McLeod, Treasurer of the Tremont Temple, G. A. Williams, Jr., and Charles Wood Bond, Directors of the Mission, spoke of work and its needs.

During the last year over 52,000 have attended the Mission services; over 12,000 meals have been furnished; and free lodgings to 1642. The Mission has held 364 evening services and 310 morning services. In addition to these, Mr. Call and his workers have conducted over 500 meetings in churches, Sunday Schools, institutions, shops, prisons and on warships. Many persons through their influence have been brought to give up their lives of sin and accept Christ.

The Mission is located in one of the worst parts of Boston at 64 Dover street, where it is surrounded by saloons. The Mission desires to run a free ice-water station, which will be open day and night for the benefit of all who wish to enjoy or take away the water. Newton Centre was asked to furnish $100.00, which would cover this expense. As always our citizens responded generously, the contribution and pledges amounting to more than the required amount.

RADCLIFFE BAZAAR

Miss Eleanor R. Frost of West Newton is the chairman of the Executive Committee for the Radcliffe Bazaar which will be given in Agassiz House, and Fay House, Cambridge, from 2-10 P. M. on Saturday, April 1. Among other Newton people who are working for the bazaar are Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, also of West Newton and Miss Helen Cotton and Mrs. Marian Churchill of Newtonville.

Tea will be served in the Blue Room by a committee under the direction of Miss Eleanor R. Frost and an attractive supper will be served in the Cafe, amid flowers shaded lights, and pretty waitresses.

During the afternoon little folks will be amused and cared for by a competent committee who have provided a very enlivening Children's Party.

EASTER CHARITY DANCE

An Easter Monday Dance for Charity, is to be given in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, on the evening of April twenty-fourth, at eight o'clock. The following ladies are patronesses: Mrs. Robert E. Henderson, Mrs. Dwight Brigham, Mrs. Arthur C. Badger, Mrs. Frederic L. Cutter, Mrs. Geo. W. Crampton, Mrs. Clifford W. Dow, Mrs. Ripley L. Dana, Mrs. Chas. N. Fitz, Mrs. Fred R. FAVORS GRADING OF MILK

Dr. Charles H. Hood, president of the H. P. Hood & Sons Co. gave an address this week before the Rotary Club of Boston in which he favors some form of grading milk. He said in part:

"Milk, like eggs and apples, should be graded, and with the grading will come education of the people for buying milk on a basis of quality. I believe there should be three grades of milk namely, certified milk, produced at great expense and sold in small amount, and two grades, A. B., both pasteurized but differing in sanitary quality and nutritive value, for the general supply. The grading would begin at the farm and end with the dealers who distribute to the consumer."

"The New England farmer has but few cows, and that is one reason why he receives a higher price for his product than the farmer supplying other large cities in the country. We have tried to encourage him by offering cash premiums for cleanliness of milk production which are costing us more than $40,000 a year."

"Much emphasis, of late, has been laid on the possibilities of shortening the route from producer to consumer in order to diminish the cost. It looks as if the process of milk distribution were receiving an abnormal share of the profits of the business. We fail to consider how much labor, forethought, energy, equipment and money is actually engaged in the process of marketing and distribution."

"While something may be done to eliminate some of the factors in the distribution of non-perishable food products, the problem of supplying pure, safe milk does not admit of the product passing through too many hands. It is wholly beyond the limits of practicability to establish a city milk business on a direct from producer to consumer route, such as obtains in the village or small city."

"The most feasible, adaptable, successful and safest way to protect a city's milk supply is through perfect pasteurization. There can be no question but that a pure, fresh supply, drawn from healthy animals and delivered promptly to the consumer, is an excellent food product. But these conditions entail an obligation which it is impossible to fulfill with any supply. Therefore, all milk should be perfectly pasteurized."

RESIGNATION OF PROMINENT PASTOR

Rev. James Watson Campbell, D. D., has notified his congregation that he expects to sever his relation with the Newtonville M. E. Church at the approaching Annual Conference, to be held April 12th. This information is received most regretfully, notwithstanding that the parting has been painfully anticipated for some time.

Dr. Campbell has been associated with the Methodist Church for eight years, and the people of Newtonville are deeply devoted to him; his influence among them, always exercised for their spiritual welfare, extended beyond the confines of his church, and the bond of love and loyalty between them is strong.

Those interested in the welfare of the Methodist Church, cannot fail to realize that their loss will be another's gain, as Dr. Campbell is a man of great spiritual power, and his place will not be easily filled.

Dr. Campbell will preach his farewell sermon on Sunday, April 9th.

POP CONCERT

A very successful Pop Concert and entertainment was given last evening in the Universalist Parish house under the auspices of the Y. P. C. U.

An excellent musical program was arranged, which included xylophone solos beautifully rendered by Mr. Arthur Russell, vocal selections by the popular contralto, Marie F. Sladen, accordion selections by Mr. Andrew Viscocchi and readings.

Following the entertainment refreshments were served, and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, with music by Miss Grace Brown.

There was a large attendance and the concert was a great social and financial success.

A SOCIAL DANCE

A social dance was held at the Hunnewell Club House on Monday evening, March 27th, under the auspices of the Newton Woman's Club. The proceeds were for the benefit of a scholarship fund at Wellesley College. The matrons in charge were Mrs. Alvin H. Clifford, president of the Club, Mrs. George Clapp, Mrs. Frank L. Nagle, and Mrs. Wm. Miller. The affair was largely attended, being composed mostly of Newton's younger set. The ladies were beautifully gowned which added beauty and charm to the occasion. The ushers were young ladies who did their share to make the evening a pleasant one. Much credit is due Mrs. Henry A. Young who worked faithfully and hard for the interests of the Club.

ASSEMBLY

Society from Auburndale, West Newton, and Wellesley, was well represented at the Assembly on Friday evening at the Woodland Park Hotel. It was the sixth in the series of popular dancing parties, which are proving such an attraction at the hotel. The spacious dining-hall was cleared for dancing, and made an ideal ball room, and the music by Wainwright's Orchestra was all that could be desired. A merry company of dancing enthusiasts assembled from 9 until 12, and the order included all of the latest dances.

The gowns worn by the ladies were very noticeable and handsome.

Another of these delightful affairs will be held this evening. The dancing is under the direction of Mr. Scott Wainwright of West Newton.

LODGES

The third degree team of Newton Lodge I. O. O. F., went to Everett on Wednesday evening and worked that degree in Everett Lodge of that city. The trip was made in a special car of the Boston Elevated.

This evening Newton Lodge I. O. O. F. will hold a pound party and next Friday evening the third and deciding game in the pitch contest between Newton and Home Lodges will be held.

The Newton High School track men who won their "letters" unanimously elected M. Henry Garry, track captain. Garry was a clever 600-yard runner and on the relay team. About a month ago he was elected captain of the football team, to succeed Christopher Vachon, who has decided not to return.

It is the first time in 12 years that a Newton High student has been chosen captain of two major sport teams. Garry was the only logical "N" man back as Woodworth, who made his letter in '15, was unable to get into B. A. A. schoolboy games on the Dorchester meet, because of entering a meet at the Newton Y. M. C. A. when forbidden by the faculty.

Spring Is Coming

But the new Hardware firm is here first, and ready for business. Since organizing and taking over the Hardware stock of H. W. Orr Co. we have sorted, renovated and replenished same until it is now more complete, authorities tell us, than any suburban stock of its kind in New England.

Prices are lower than on same grade of goods in Boston, as our expenses are less; also because most of the goods were bought before the recent extraordinary advances.

Therefore, while the present stock lasts, you can save money by buying here.

We will take pleasure in showing the new arrangement, give prompt and careful service and ever try to please in price and quality.

Please remember we repair Locks, Household Utensils, Carpet Sweepers, Wringers, Trunks, Umbrellas. Sharpen and repair Lawn Mowers, Knives, Scissors, Razor Blades, Axes, Re-Key your house, make Yale Keys, furnish Keys for Trunks and Padlocks at short notice.

THE MOVIE QUESTION

In view of the interest being taken in this matter specially in Newtonville, the following resolution passed last November at the meeting of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association may be of value.

We realize and deplore the great increasing injury to the eyes and nerves of school children through the commercial moving picture shows. We realize and deplore the serious injury done through this form of amusement to the minds of our children, through the exciting vicissitudes of these dramas that send them back to school robbed of their hard-earned concentration, and often robbed of interest to pursue any work requiring steady persistence.

We call upon the teachers of this state to use their influence to teach their respective communities the grave evils brought to the children through the commercial moving picture shows.

CITY HALL

Mayor Childs has reappointed Mr. William C. Brewer of Newton Center to the playground commission for a term of three years. Mr. Brewer has been a member of the commission since it was formed three years ago, and since that time has served as its chairman. This appointment is one of the few that does not have to go before the Aldermen for confirmation.

A conference was held Wednesday morning in the office of Mayor Childs between the Board of Selectmen of Wellesley, Chief Doyle of the Wellesley Fire Department and Chief W. B. Randlett of the local department, relative to allowing Wellesley to enter into the mutual aid system, for which Wellesley has already made an appropriation covering this improvement. Wellesley will shortly install an automobile chemical and hose wagon in Lower Falls section, which will answer certain boxes in Newton of the first alarm, while the Newton Lower Falls apparatus will do likewise in Wellesley.

President L. K. Rourke of the Massachusetts Highway Association has appointed Street Commissioner George E. Stuart a member of a committee of five to confer with the officers of the Massachusetts Protective Society for Horses, relative to obtaining suitable legislation regarding the construction of pavement, suitable for the horses during the winter months.

The Norfolk Country Day School, Hillside road, Wellesley Farms, opens the spring term, Monday, April third. The school is readily accessible by train and electric car. There are three departments,—primary, intermediate and college preparatory, with playgrounds and supervised athletics. Special attention is given to the individual pupil. For further particulars address Perley L. Horne, Principal. Advt.

MAYOR CHILDS INVITED

Ex-President William H. Taft has asked Mayor E. O. Childs, it was announced yesterday, to represent this city at the first national annual assemblage of the League to Enforce Peace to be held at Washington on Friday and Saturday, May 26 and 27. Mr. Taft is President of the League.

The League to enforce Peace has a platform of four proposals, the main feature of which is contained in the third which provides that the joint armed forces of the great powers be used against any nation or nations who refuse to keep an agreement to try arbitration or conciliation before going to war. The other three proposals are for an international court, an international council of conciliation, and a code of international law.

Mr. Taft's letter inviting the Mayor to be present at the Washington conference, also asks him to appoint delegates thereto, and points out that the League is "no-stop-the-war movement, no anti-preparedness movement, no peace-at-any-price endeavor," but "an earnest effort by practical men to bring about, after the close of the European war, a co-operation among the nations which will tend to make peace more permanent and war less probable." Mr. Taft's letter is as follows: "My dear Sir:—

The First Annual Assemblage of the League to Enforce Peace will be held in the City of Washington on Friday and Saturday, May 26th and 27th, with the purpose of devising and determining upon measures for giving effect to the proposals for a league of nations to enforce peace that were adopted at a conference held last June in Philadelphia. This is no stop-the-war movement, no anti-preparedness movement, no peace-at-any-price endeavor, but represents an earnest effort by practical men to bring about, after the close of the European War, a co-operation among the nations which will tend to make peace more permanent and war less probable.

"The Governors of States, the Mayors of Cities and the more important business organizations of the nation are appointing delegates to this meeting.

"You are invited to be present and to appoint one or more commissioners to represent your city in the assemblage.

"The task of providing such sanctions for international law and treaties as can be obtained is the most important and urgent matter before the world and one for which America has peculiar responsibility. I earnestly hope that we may have your co-operation in it."

During the month of March:—Double blankets cleaned for 60c pair. Single blankets 30c each. Orders received at HALLANDAY'S, 99 Union Street, Newton Centre, only. No orders accepted under $1.00. Hallanday Cleaning Co., Tel., Newton South 1179-W.

HIGH SCHOOL CONCERT

On Thursday evening, March 23rd, at the Technical High School Hall, an enthusiastic and appreciative audience enjoyed a concert of exceptional quality given by the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs of the Vocational High School. As this was the first affair of its kind given by the Vocational School, much interest was aroused, and the expectations of those concerned were fully met by the clever responsiveness of the scholars, together with the pleasing selections of Miss Miriam F. Bates, soprano; Miss Adeline Packard, violinist; Mr. Richard T. Loring, Jr., cellist; and the Beacon Male Quartet.

The most critical comment pays the highest compliment to the scholars for their excellent appearance and abilities, which contributed to the success of the entertainment.

The program included ten numbers by the composers, Buck, Lynes, Sullivan, Wagner, Nolek, Bullard, Adger, Woodman, Tate, Veazie, Townsend, Viextemp, Nevin, Neil, and Carrie Jacobs-Bond. It opened with "Hark! The Trumpet Call," by the Beacon Male Quartet; two pleasing selections, "Come Ye Fairies," and "Warriors Lullaby," by the Girls' Glee Club; "cello numbers, "Evening Star" and "Nocturne" by Richard T. Loring, Jr.; "Winter Song" and "Softly Drifts The Twilight," by the Boys' Glee Club; soprano solos, "A Birthday," and "Somewhere, Voice is Calling," by Miss Miriam F. Bates; "Morning Invocation" by the Boys' and Girls' Chorus; "Berceuse" and "Rondino," violin solos by Miss Adeline Packard; song, the "Rosary" by the Quartet; duet, "Spring Song," by Miss Bates and Miss Packard; and "Perfect Day," by the Beacon Male Quartet.

The concert was given under the direction of Mr. Frederick W. Goodrich.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The upper classes passed to the Assembly Hall Wednesday morning, March 29. The speaker of this week was Mayor Childs, who delivered a very inspiring address, choosing for his subject, "Life, and Our Attitude Toward It."

A very large number of students and parents were present at the first of Mr. Marshall Darrah's Shakespearean Recitals, which was given Tuesday afternoon, March 28. Every seat in the Assembly Hall was taken, while the corridor, balcony, and side aisles were crowded with those who were obliged to remain standing throughout the recital. Mr. Darrah's presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mr. Darrah's second recital will be given in the Assembly Hall next Tuesday afternoon, April 4, at two o'clock. The play which will be presented is "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The Senior Class has invited the other classes to attend the Senior Dance, which will be held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, on the evening of Friday, April 7.

An open meeting of the German Club will be held in the Gymnasium at the close of school today. All the members of the German Department in this school are invited to attend. A short program, consisting largely of music, will be presented by members of the club.

The unfavorable weather conditions have prevented any attempt at outdoor baseball practice up to this time, but the battery candidates are still at work in the Gymnasium.

Facts

GET the facts on the operating cost before you buy any automobile. Find out the truth before—not after. And don't be satisfied with hearsay or a salesman's claims. The price of gasoline is high; so is oil and there is sure to be an increase in the cost of all tires.

So, what you want is the car that will give you most miles per gallon of gasoline, per gallon of oil and per set of tires.

Here are the facts proved by the Maxwell stock touring car that recently set the World's Motor Non-Stop Record:

Maxwell World's Non-Stop Record Facts

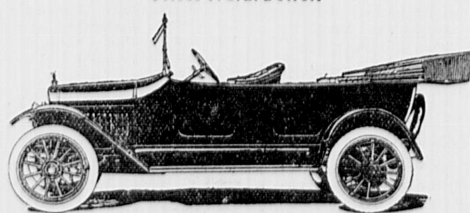

Miles without a motor stop.....	22,023
Average miles per day (44 days).....	500.6
Miles per gallon of gasoline.....	21.88
Miles per gallon of oil.....	400
Average miles per tire.....	9,871

Remember that this was a Non-Stop Endurance Record—in order to prove that the Maxwell car was exceedingly sturdy, reliable and trouble proof.

No attempt was made or could be made to save gasoline, oil or tires. So these figures merely indicate what would be possible under ordinary driving conditions.

Right now we have a Maxwell we can deliver to you. Let's not put it off. We know the Maxwell factory can't get half enough freight cars to carry their doubled output. Later on we may not be able to supply you. But we can NOW. Better phone us for a demonstration today.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

At the Assembly Tuesday morning, March 28, an instructive and enjoyable program was presented, with lantern slides, by members of this school. The chairman of the exercises was Miss Hazel Chivers. Miss Jessie Jameson gave an interesting oral theme on the subject of "The Scenery of Scotland," using lantern pictures of well-known lakes, mountains, passes, and falls. Charles Burgess, who was born in Scotland, gave a talk taken from personal experience, entitled "Village Life." Miss May and Jack Lewis were also born in Scotland. Miss May gave an oral theme on the subject of "Fishing Villages," describing, in a Scottish dialect, her own village. Lewis gave an illustrated talk on the subject of "The Burns Country." He also recited two of Burns' poems, "Bonnie Doon," and "Auld Lang Syne." Miss Alice Foley discussed "Scottish Customs." She made her talk especially interesting by exhibiting specimens of the Scottish plaid. During the program Miss Foley added great enjoyment to the exercises by singing several famous Scotch songs, "Loch Lomond," "Sweet Afton," and "Auld Lang Syne" were the ones rendered.
A popular lecture and demonstration on the subject of "High Frequency and High Potential Currents" was given by Dr. S. S. Strong in the Assembly Hall of the Technical School last Friday evening. A number of very unusual experiments were shown.
The exercises held at the regular Senior Assembly last Friday were a continuation of the Shakespearean oral theme work in preparation for the Darrach recitals in the Classical School. Descriptive themes, accompanied by lantern slides, were arranged by Mr. Thurber.

Kiley, 45 Auburndale avenue, West Newton, and was followed by a requiem high mass at St. Bernard's Church at 9 o'clock. Mr. McMahon was 85 years of age, and up to 15 years ago, when he went to the Soldiers' Home, was employed by the Boston & Albany Railroad as a crossing tender in Auburndale. He made frequent trips back to Newton, and was active in the affairs of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

A treat is in store for the patrons of the Newton Opera House next week, when on Monday and Tuesday the great eight-reel feature "The Eternal City" will be produced. This production is exactly the same as that to be presented at the Park Theatre, Boston, all next week and Newton people will have the opportunity of seeing the photo play in their own city. On Wednesday and Thursday a great double bill, Francis X. Bushman in "Man and His Soul," and Mary Pickford, in "The Bishop's Carriage," will be the offering while on Friday and Saturday, "Blind Justice" and "Arizona," the great western drama, will be shown. Patrons of this popular playhouse are assured of a double bill of feature photo plays at every show. In deference to the wishes of Newton people vaudeville has been discontinued at this house and in place of same two singers will be heard at each performance. The special children's matinees will be held as usual on Thursday afternoons.

SCHOFIELD—FALL

The wedding of Mr. Albert Schofield of Newtonville and Miss Emma Latimer Fall, the daughter of ex-mayor and Mrs. George H. Fall of Malden, took place last Saturday night at the Centre street M. E. church of that city, which was decorated with evergreen cut from the New Hampshire farm of the bride's father, together with Easter lilies and bay trees. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Dr. Lucius H. Bugbee, the pastor of the church, Miss Alice Armstrong singing "Perfect Love" and "O Promise Me," during the ceremony.

The bride wore a wedding gown of Duchesse satin with Chantilly lace and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and lavender orchids. Her sister, Miss Dorothy Fall of Malden, was maid of honor and was in pale yellow pussy-willow taffeta with silver trimmings, while the bridesmaids, Miss Ethel Rich (Boston University) of Malden, Miss Winifred Hawkridge, Wellesley '06 of Boston, Miss Eliza Twombly (Boston University) of Winchester, and Miss Blanche Fenton, Mt. Holyoke '10 of New York were in apple green crepe meteor with silver trimmings.

Mr. Parker F. Schofield of Newtonville, brother of the groom, was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Raymond Gorton, Dartmouth '10 of Brookline, Charles M. Cram (Leland Stanford) of Boston, Penfield Mower, Dartmouth '04 of Boston, Howard Fall, Dartmouth '10 of Malden and Jackson Salter of Newton.

A reception followed in the church parlors, Mr. and Mrs. Schofield being assisted in receiving their many friends by Hon. and Mrs. George H. Fall and Mrs. Lane B. Schofield.

Mr. Schofield and his bride are on a two weeks' trip through New Hampshire, and on their return will live at 8 Murray Hill road, Malden, where they will be at home after June 1. The bride's gifts to the maid of honor and other attendants were Cape rubies from Africa set in the form of a brooch. The gowns were recently brought here by the bridegroom, who has just returned from South Africa. The best man and ushers received stickpins with the same kind of rubies and pearl settings.

The bride was born in Malden and was valedictorian of her class at Malden High, in 1902, and was graduated from Boston University in 1906 and the Boston University School of Law in 1908. She then went to Europe to complete her education and studied in Paris and at the Sorbonne. She was admitted to the bar in June, 1908. Miss Fall's father and mother are both lawyers and her brother, Alderman Howard Fall, also is a lawyer. She is an instructor of constitutional law at the Portia Law School, Boston, and is also at the head of the law and thrift department of the Boston Woman's Educational and Industrial Union. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma of Boston University.

Mr. Schofield is a native of Sheffield, Pa., and was educated in Newton High and at Dartmouth, where he was a roommate of the bride's brother, Howard Fall. After college he was in the lumber business in West Virginia and later became a wool buyer with Mauger & Avery, Boston. His recent extended trip to Africa was for his firm.

LAWRENCE CLUB WINS

STUDY INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The hall in the Newton Public Library was well filled Wednesday evening with men and women interested in the study of our international relations. Dr. George Nasmyth, secretary of the Mass. branch of the League to Enforce Peace, of which Ex-president Taft is President, and Pres. Lawrence Lowell, chairman of Mass. branch, spoke very interestingly on "Pan-Americanism and what it means." He said that doubtless all of us would be ready to fight for the Monroe Doctrine, though few of us know what it means, and that intelligent citizens should acquaint themselves with the details of these important questions. The group will meet next Monday evening at 8 P. M. in the Public Library Hall when Dr. Nasmyth will speak on the subject, "War in the Light of Evolution," giving his hearers an insight into his recently-published book, "Social Progress and the Darwinian Theory," or "Force as a Social Factor." The public is invited to attend these very interesting lectures.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The Club Editor has commented from time to time in this column upon the characteristics which go to make up the efficient club officer. Were she to cite an example of an efficient president, she could not find a better one than that of Mrs. Anna L. Bailey, as she herself preferred to be styled when mentioned in connection with any of her numerous activities—whose passing this last week has been mourned by her many friends over the country. While she held the reins of every part of the work of the organization of which she was at the head, she did not drive in any unpleasant sense, but rather led, yet at the same time feeling that each one of her part in what had been given her to do. She was always dignified in the chair and, under no matter how trying circumstances she might be placed, she never lost control of herself. Business was conducted with dispatch, but never hurriedly, and there was always the satisfaction at the close of the meeting that nothing had been left at loose ends. It is a tribute indeed when it can be said, that she did well everything which she undertook.

Local Happenings

Guest Night of the Waban Women's Club was observed on Friday, March 24, when Shailer Mathews of Chicago gave a lecture upon "The United States and the Asiatic Situation." Dr. Mathews claimed that history is actually made by machinery and means of transportation. His lecture dealt largely with the history of China and Japan from the time of Commodore Perry's mission to the latter country in 1853. Although China had been a great nation while Rome was still in its youth, up to this time it had been practically unaffected by European nations except for the establishment of a few trading posts while there had been no foreigners in Japan except a few Roman Catholic missionaries in earlier days, and at that time there was only a small colony of Dutch traders on an island in the Bay of Nagasaki. In fact, Japan was so closed that there was a death penalty for leaving the country. With the coming of Perry began a new epoch in the history of the far East. The United States became representative of the big brothers among the nations while Harris Townsend who represented this country and served with practically no instructions for four years, furnished the brains to withstand the aggression of European nations. During our Civil War the United States hired a Dutch warship and after one day's bombardment four nations secured from Japan several million dollars of indemnity the United States receiving as its share $800,000; which was later paid back. Such events as this served to prepare Japan for future intercourse with foreign nations and among other changes she remodeled her army on German methods, but it was not until 1894 that the world awoke to the fact that she had become a more powerful nation than China. In the meantime geologists had been gradually discovering the vast natural resources of the latter country and various European nations were securing valuable concessions, not only in Mongolian Manchuria, but on the coast as well, until they controlled nearly the whole coast of China, with ports and river-mouths and all means of communication. Such conditions led to loss of faith and a movement like the Boxer uprising came as a logical result. Various well known international complications terminated in the war between Japan and Russia at the conclusion of which Japan was conceded one of the great military powers. Dr. Mathews feels that China is one of the critical points in the Asiatic situation at the present time and that Japan's desire to be treated without discrimination is a perfectly legitimate one. Trade of the United States is now one-third the total trade of Japan, which also aspires to control the trade of China. The United States naturally wishes better commercial relations with China and must compete with the flotilla of merchant vessels which Japan is assembling. In conclusion Dr. Mathews expressed the hope that the delicate situations which necessarily arise in our intercourse with these, our eastern neighbors, may be so adjusted that the amicable relations which all profess to desire may continue to exist and that constructive statesmanship may bring into effect a new epoch of even better faith and understanding.

Following the lecture an informal reception was held in the vestry of the church.

Mrs. W. E. Moore, the president, opened the meeting of the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands with a graceful speech of welcome to the many friends assembled at the home of Mrs. B. R. Gilbert on the occasion of the club's social day. Miss Mary A. Newhall then gave two charming songs entitled "Phyllis has such charming graces" and "Ah! La Belle Menotte," and Miss Clara Frost rendered in a very pleasing manner a selection from "Rabenstein." Mr. Charles Swain Thomas of the Newton High School was then introduced, his subject being "Shakespeare, the Man and Poet." He said it would be very difficult this year, when the magazines and newspapers were flooded with Shakespearean articles, to present anything new on the subject, however, he felt that he had something new as his own personal impressions had never before been given to the public. He spoke of the wonderful impression made upon him when as a mere boy he took a part in the play of "Julius Caesar." Although not a leading part he being one of the "mob" he remembered distinctly the impression of Shakespeare's great power produced upon him at that time by the speeches of Antony.

At the time of the Elizabethan period of literature the drama was the natural exponent of the people and it was a most wonderful medium for Shakespeare's genius. Mr. Thomas compared Shakespeare with other leading teachers of the world and reminded us of what Charles Lamb said, "Should Shakespeare return to earth and enter a room where a company was assembled all would rise, while if Christ should return all would kneel."

He compared Shakespeare with Browning and Dante, Browning being almost as universal as Shakespeare, while Dante was not nearly as universal or impartial. Almost all writers present rather a narrow view of life as nearly all have some thesis they are trying to support and are necessarily limited in their outlook, while Shakespeare is not confined by any limitations or conventions. In only one play that of "The Tempest" did Shakespeare conform to the three unities of the drama, that of time, place and action. He spoke of Shakespeare's wonderful sympathy and although we could not admire all of the characters we could feel indignant with only a few. We had sympathy for Shylock and Lady Macbeth although it was hard to feel any for Goneril and Regan. The reason for Shakespeare's literary appeal was that his ear, eye, heart and spirit responded to nature. He caught the melody of the brooks and breezes and wove them into the rhythm of his verse, but more even than this was his wonderful portrayal of human nature. The office of the poet is to teach and as he kept his vision clear and his heart pure he is one of the greatest of our moral teachers. At the close of the lecture Miss Newhall gave another pleasing song entitled "Hayfield and Butterfield," and then the president invited all to remain for a social hour of refreshments which terminated the club's annual social day.

On Friday afternoon at the meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club Miss Jetty and Mr. Lovejoy, students at the Emerson College of Oratory, entertained the members with an enjoyable program of sketches and readings of high character. A pleasant social hour concluded the afternoon's entertainment.

The Travel Class of the club held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Emma M. Dimond on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Bernard Early presented a paper on "The Development of Education, tracing the growth of educational methods from the dame schools to those of the present day. Mrs. Dimond and Mrs. G. T. Southwick were the hostesses.

To celebrate the birthday of its President, the Newton Parliamentary Law Club, by invitation, held its meeting March 28 at the residence of Mrs. Robert Gorton who is in the front rank of hostesses as well as presiding officers.

After a delicious luncheon in a flower and gift decorated room the next number on the program was class work, which, after an hour, was regrettably abandoned for a Shakespeare Symposium in which all the members took an active part, reading or quoting from the Plays of the immortal bard. Women were not of much account in Shakespeare's day. He would certainly have been much surprised and greatly pleased if he could have dropped in upon the group and been confronted with the wide knowledge of his writings, exhibited by the members of his teachings.

Music enlivened the occasion. Specimen songs written for the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs aroused the love and glowing loyalty of the company. As the shadows were lengthening, with souvenirs of the occasion in our hands the members expressed to our hostess deep appreciation of her large-hearted hospitality. With hearty wishes for "many happy returns of the day," the members carried away a memory of pleasant hours that will not soon be effaced.

Mrs. Henry E. Williams was in charge of the program for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club held on March 27 in Odd Fellows Hall. The first part of the time was given to a talk upon the leading Irish Dramatists, Singe, Yeats, Lady Gregory, Lord Dunsany, after which Mrs. Williams also read two plays, "The Land of Heart's Desire," by Yeats and "Spreading the News," by Lady Gregory. Mrs. S. A. Thompson gave a synopsis of "The Play Boy," by Synge. Mrs. F. S. Fairchild sang several Irish songs.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Fred R. Hayward was hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. The subject, "Notable Novels and Essays of the Current Year" was most ably presented by Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson, who dwelt primarily on the novels, giving a resume and read-

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it cost; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

Gymnasium Classes Give Fine Exhibition of Work Before Parents and Friends.

There was a good attendance of parents and friends at the eleventh annual gymnastic demonstration of the classes at the Newton Y. M. C. A. last evening and the boys showed the splendid training they have had under the direction of Mr. William Macpherson, the physical director and his assistant, Mr. L. A. Hamel. The program included selections by the Boys' Division orchestra under the direction of Mr. Carl L. Ellison a class drill by all the classes, some professional hand balancing, a striking dumb bell drill by Junior B Class, games of Club Snatch, Japanese tag and Biff by the same class, the sailors' hornpipe by Junior A class, a potato relay and wheelbarrow race by Junior A class, an exhibition of weight reducing by the business and professional men, a volley ball match between fathers and sons in which the fathers walloped their progeny by a score of 15 to 7, and drill by the senior class, followed by an exhibition of class apparatus work, on the side horse, horizontal bar, parallel bars and mats, a basket ball relay race by the seniors and an exhibition of wrestling. A clown and a Charlie Chaplin created lots of fun by their antics throughout the evening. The demonstration will be continued with another program tomorrow evening.

Mayor Childs in his usual felicitations manner presented the loving cup for the best all round work for the year to Earl Clark of Belmont, who has been a constant attendant at the gymnasium for the past three years. The following lads were also given certificates showing the number of points obtained by each out of a possible 700.

Class A—Edward Grevatt 435 1-2, Eugene Leacy 465 1-2, Arlo Eason 463 1-2, Wm. Gallagher 482 3-4, Walter Macdonald 503 1-4, Thomas Noonan 504, Walter Fairbanks 558 1-4, Donald Cunningham 575 3-4, Robert Blossom 601 1-2, Leander Harding 638 3-4.

Class B—Richard Blaisdell 400, Henry Bartlett 403 1-2, Howard Fairweather 434 3-4, Merrill Kilgore 440 1-4, Otto Bachman 473 3-4, Leslie Atwood 486 1-2, Clarence Rummell 487 1-4, James Walton 506 1-2, Malcolm Thompson 520, Robert Woodworth 575 3-4.

DINNER DANCE

Mrs. Hubert L. Carter gave a delightful dinner-dance on Wednesday evening at her residence on Otis street, Newtonville, for her sister, Miss Katherine Adams, of the Freshman class at Smith College, and her friend, Miss Carrie Giles of New York.

The entire lower floor, drawing-room, library, dining-room, and hall, were cleared for the dancing, and a scheme of pink was carried out effectively in the decorations, with pink roses, snap-dragon and carnations. Dinner was served at seven o'clock, at two long tables, attractively adorned with pink carnations, and covers were laid for thirty-six.

Adams' Orchestra was in attendance, and rendered excellent music during the dinner, and for the dancing which followed.

Among the young ladies who were present were Miss Constance Barrett, Miss Marian Ross, Miss Maxim, Miss Hunter, Miss Ada Whitmore, Miss Peckett of West Newton, Miss Joyce and Miss Garceau of Dedham, Miss Whittemore and Miss Doris Holmes of Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Richard Carter, and Mr. and Mrs. Enoch C. Adams were the guests of honor.

SPEAKS ON HOSPITAL WORK

Miss Kathleen Burke, a great-granddaughter of Edmund Burke, the liberator, will speak on the Scottish Women's Hospital work in France on Tuesday evening, April 11th at 8 o'clock in Eliot Church Parish House. Miss Burke tells a thrilling story of relief work at the front and as she is staying only a few days in Boston before going on to speak in other cities, the French Relief Committee are fortunate in securing her for an evening. This is an unusual opportunity to hear a woman who comes directly from the trenches and the public is cordially invited.

Mr. W. F. Garcelon will preside and introduce the speaker.

The most exciting game of the season was witnessed by hundreds of enthusiastic people at Cambridge last Friday. The Newton High girls played the Cambridge Latin School girls at basket ball. At the beginning of the last third the score was 28 to 17 in favor of Cambridge. With one minute more to play Newton made two goals which ended the game with a score 35 to 31. We owe a great deal of this game to the splendid playing of our forward, Leslie Perkins. Newton has won every game so far. Keep it up, Newton.

Mrs. Frederick H. Baird and Mrs. David P. Cummings of Newton Centre have sent out cards for a tea on Tuesday afternoon.

Of Egyptian Origin

The Basques are a curious race, and for a century scientists believed it impossible to discover their affiliations, and with good reason, for they tried in vain to connect them with other European people. In recent times a careful and intimate study of the language has revealed them to come from Egypt at a time so remote that even tradition and legend show no traces of that far off migration.

WOMAN'S CLUBS

tion by means of a map to the tremendous stretch of territory occupied by Russia in contrast to the other nations of Europe. She then pointed out the geographical conditions that prevented her from getting her wonderful natural resources out to the world, the Baltic being the only outlet to the sea on the west, and that icebound at certain seasons, while its rivers all flow to the south. In Siberia its ports are all frozen a large portion of the year and even there the rivers flow to the north away from open ports. These facts have led Russia to make many attempts to gain such an outlet. By means of the Siberian railroad across Manchuria to Port Arthur, she had obtained her desire, but this fact aroused the Japanese and was at length the occasion, which resulted in the war between the two countries.

Conditions in Japan were outlined by the speaker showing how crowded is her population, the great need of food, of raw materials and, in fact, a place for her people to live. The early policy of Japan of remaining closed to foreigners was mentioned and the wonderful development of the country since 1870, when it opened its doors to the outside world, was pointed out. The war resulting from the conflict of interests in Manchuria was dragged on until both nations were well nigh exhausted and at length both were willing to accept the offices of peace extended by the United States and the commissioners from both countries assembled at Portsmouth to conclude the terms of peace.

At the business session Mrs. Baldwin presented a memorial tribute to Mrs. W. D. Swan, one of the club members.

The Perian Club met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. K. Hemphill. Mrs. Mills was in charge of the program and presented a paper descriptive of the Samoan and Friendly Islands. Robert Louis Stevenson and his life among these islands was also treated. The social hour closed a pleasant afternoon.

On Thursday Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald opened her attractive home in Auburndale for a meeting of the "Home Economics" Class of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club. There was a full attendance of members, and report work, along this line of study which is being done in the various clubs, was given by the chairman, Mrs. Harry D. Wells.

Papers on "Food Values" were given by Mrs. Geo. D. Byfield, and Mrs. John R. McLean.

Mrs. Howard B. Gibbs gave a detailed account of the excellent work being accomplished in the Technical and Vocational schools in Newtonville and exhibited samples of work from the latter which were most creditable.

Each member of the class had been requested to bring some article new, in household economy, and this exchange of ideas proved helpful. A social period followed during which interesting notes were compared.

DRAMATICS

Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" presented by members of the Auburndale Woman's Club, in the Methodist Parish House on the afternoons of March 27 and 28, was a well worth seeing. Mrs. Herminie, chairman of the Dramatics Committee, and her assistant, Mrs. Wentworth, deserve great credit for the intelligent interpretation of the characters and for the admirable way in which the play was staged. The three scenes were appropriately set, the bachelor apartment, the garden made charming by a wealth of flowers and a bird which sang joyously in the most touching love scenes, and the attractive drawing room of the last act. The appeal of the play lay largely in the fact that the parts were taken by club members who, for the time being, forgot to be their own familiar selves, and were gentlemen and ladies of London town, quite at ease in the togery and setting, and not at all discomfited by complications arising from "being Earnest." Each member of the cast played her part with good understanding, manly, boyish, severe, or frivolous—as the case might be. The dialogue was excellent, and a sense of humor ran through it all to which the audience was quickly responsive. Not often in amateur work is the whole play as effective, the enactment as sincere as was this. It has meant tremendous work by the cast, the committee, and many others who have helped in various ways. That several of those taking part have come to Auburndale in the last year or two adds to the interest, and shows the good fellowship for which the club stands.

The music, violin and piano, provided by Edna Simmons Lamb and Caroline Colby Noyes, was superior in quality and most enjoyable. The following comprised the cast: Mrs. A. D. Becker, Mrs. W. A. Stiles, Miss Louise Peloubet, Mrs. L. B. Warren, Mrs. Chas. A. J. Smith, Mrs. J. G. Patterson, Mrs. Chas. R. J. Smith, Mrs. J. G. Patterson, Mrs. Chas. R. Butler, Mrs. G. W. Bucknam.

journeys, visiting nearly every state in the Union as well as Mexico, Alaska and Western Canada. In 1910 she traveled in Europe, attending the International Congress of Unitarians and Other Religious Liberals at Berlin.

Having a cultivated musical taste she studied in early life for several years at the New England Conservatory of Music. She was also a pupil of Prof. O'Neill and Dr. Guilmotte and a member of various musical organizations, two of which she was instrumental in forming.

After her marriage Mrs. Bailey made her home in Newton, where she made herself felt in the social and educational activities. Her generous, open hearted hospitality was given freely and unostentatiously and her unflinching cheerfulness and sympathetic interest in all with whom she came in contact won for her friends in all walks of life. She was a member of Channing Church, taking an active part in its work and for many years teaching in the Sunday-school. From 1914 until her death she was president of the Channing Branch of The Alliance of Unitarian Women.

Mrs. Bailey was prominently connected with various clubs and social and charitable organizations in Newton as well as in Boston. For nearly twenty years she was an officer of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, serving three years as its president, and at different times she held various offices in the Newton Social Science Club and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and membership in the Newton Equal Suffrage League, the Newton Hospital Aid Association and the Nonantum Day Nursery Association.

Being especially interested in child welfare she was a member of the National Child Labor Committee and was on the board of the "Bathers" and Mothers' Club of Boston. She also belonged to the Educational and Industrial Union, Municipal League, Drama League, New England Women's Club and Appalachian Mountain Club. She was vice-president of the Shattuck Club and the Boston Parliamentary Law Club, besides being patroness of the Frances Willard Settlement, Elizabeth Peabody House Association, Florence Crittenden Home and Trades Union League. She served for several years in Library Extension and Settlement Work and on the Meetings Committee of the State Federation. She was chairman of the Hotels Committee of the local biennial board for the Boston biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in 1908 and a director of Executive Board of the General Federation in 1910-12, attending board and council meetings and biennials in different sections of the country and becoming one of the founders of the endowment fund of the General Federation.

Beside these many and varied interests Mrs. Bailey was an important factor in patriotic circles. She served for three years, the time limit, as regent of Paul Revere Chapter, D. A. R., one of the oldest chapters in the state. For six years she was State Historian for the Massachusetts D. A. R., spending much of that time in compiling "The History of the Massachusetts D. A. R., 1891-1906," with no expense to the State Society. For the past ten years she had been state director for the Massachusetts societies of Children of the American Revolution, founding the Signal Lantern Society of that order during her regency of Paul Revere Chapter, of which it is an auxiliary. She had recently been elected historian of the American Society of Colonial Families and was president of the Ex-Regents' Club.

These honors, coming to her unsought, testified to the high esteem in which she was held and her faithful and satisfying work fully justified the expectations of her friends. Always enthusiastic in her work, she inspired others. Always cordial, kindly, friendly, considerate and helpful, broad minded and generous, ever ready to do her part, possessing a gracious and pleasing personality, she was a power for good and an inspiration to all with whom she came in contact. The world has lost a faithful friend, a lover of children, a loyal club woman and an ardent patriot. Truly she has merited a well earned rest, and although her work here is finished her influence and example will be an inspiration in the lives and hearts of others for many a year. Would there were more women like her!

The funeral was held at Channing Church Monday afternoon, with a large attendance, including representatives of many of the organizations with which Mrs. Bailey had been a member. Seldom is a larger or more beautiful display of flowers seen than the offerings which covered the entire front of the platform. Rev. Harry Lutz, minister of the church, was assisted in the service by Rev. Alfred Manchester of Salem, a lifelong friend of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey. In opening the service Mr. Manchester offered prayer and read selections from scripture and John W. Chadwick's poem, "It Singeth Low in Every Heart." Mr. Lutz gave an impressive and fitting tribute, which is printed in part in another column. The Lotus quartet sang during the service "The Eternal Goodness," "O Holy Father, Friend Unseen," and "Abide with Me," and gave a peculiarly beautiful conclusion to the exercises by singing in subdued tones as the congregation were withdrawing from the church Harriet Beecher Stowe's hymn, "Still, Still with Thee."

The ushers were Messrs. Frank H. Burt, Bruce R. Ware, Robert D. Holt, A. W. B. Huff and Howard S. Hayward. The interment was at the Newton cemetery.

Mr. Lutz said: We have come to this hour with our tributes of memory, love, and honor to the departing one; whose silent form now lies before us. Our heartful sympathies surround the one who sustains the greater loss, and our full friendships share the appreciation of personal qualities that make this going such a loss. It is the greater life that makes the greater loss on its passing way. And so the sorrow of parting is illumined by the higher lights of memory and the brighter gleams of hope.

The silent presence here of so many, representing such a multiplicity of kindred, friendly, community, patriotic, philanthropic, moral and spiritual relationships and organized agencies of cultural uplift service, is more eloquent tribute to this life than any words of mine can hope to be. More finely than any spoken word, the much loved towers that now surround her, with their perfect beauty mutely express the sentiments of our minds and hearts.

It is not a thought of long years slowly declining the sunset way of life, that comes to us here; but of high and full years of noble interests and worthy deeds, that break with their radiant glory full upon them. It is of one who "At noonday of life's work-time Greeted the unseen with a cheer."

"Never doubted clouds would break."

"Bids all forward now." "Strive and thrive" cry "Speed—fight on, fare ever There as here!"

All along the way, in hearts of the many she has met all over the land, she has left in train a spirit of good cheer. It came not from any mere empty exuberant optimism, but from a full heart of faith in the things beautiful and true and good, as the things of living worthfulness and of promising hopefulness. In earlier life it expressed itself in music. When voice failed, it continued to express itself in worthy interests and good deeds. Her earlier years were given to the education of youth. That devotion was continued to the very last, with interest and love of the new generation. Having none upon whom to bestow it the more intimately, she mothered all children with generous kindness and helpful service.

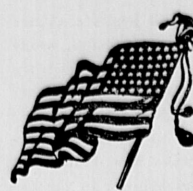

So many good causes have had the inspiration of her eager interest and helping hand; that, if we were to attempt innumeration of them, we should certainly fail of some.

Out of the many, we might well mention one, as especially revealing the inward spirit that was inspiring and actuating all the others: as President of the Channing Alliance the last two years. We of the Channing Church know, of course, as others may not so well realize, what many and important services fall to that office—and how full well she filled it. Whether present in full vigor of health, or absent detained by failing strength, there was the constant cheer of her genial spirit and interest to all manner of helpfulness. That service to the cause of Higher Life, in the very doing of which she became silent, now rests as a crowning glory upon her head.

DIES SUDDENLY

Mr. Joseph H. Edwards, of Worcester, a locomotive engineer in the employ of the B. & A., dropped dead Monday morning while at work in the Cook street railroad yard at Newton Highlands. He was 62 years of age. Medical Examiner George L. West was notified and after viewing the body had it removed to the Newton Hospital Morgue. Death was due to natural causes.
